ARCHITECTURAL SPLENDOR GLEAMS

The Boyd House on B Street gleams in all of its Victorian splendor as exterior work on the famous landmark nears completion. The structure built in 1880 has been called one of the best examples of Gothic Revival architecture in the western U.S. When fully restored, the City of San Rafael will have spent $50,000 on remodeling. # Russ Denounce U.S. Trade Pact Linked To Emigration

Kissinger Is Accused Of Silence

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union today renounced any trade agreement with the United States that would bind Moscow to ease emigration, particularly of Soviet Jews.

The move came in a letter from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko handed to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger on Oct. 26, nearly two months ago, the Tass news agency reported.

An official government statement carried by Tass accused Kissinger of keeping quiet the true Soviet position.

Itdenounced the trade bill under cosideration by the U.S. Congress for "attempts to include provisions concerning...the departure of Soviet citizens for other countries."

It said Moscow "flatly rejected as unacceptable... any attempts to interfere in internal affairs that are entirely the concern of the Soviet state and no one else."

After two years of delay, the Senate last Friday passed one version of a trade bill to offer the Soviet Union non-discriminatory trade terms in exchange for free emigration.

Gromyko protested that "elucidations" given by the Soviet Union were interpreted by the United States as "assurances and nearly obligations on our part regarding the procedure of the departure of Soviet citizens from the USSR."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chief proponent of moves to tie the U.S. trade with the emigration of Russian Jews, said after a Kissinger-Gromyko meeting earlier this year that the Russians had agreed to the emigration of 60,000 persons.

"Some figures are even being quoted as to the supposed number of such citizens and there is talk about an anticipated increase of that number as compared with previous years," Gromyko said. "We resolutely decline such an interpretation."

In passing the trade bill by the large margin of 77-4, the Senate endorsed by an 88-0 vote an amendment by Jackson to provide most-favored-nation treatment for the Soviet Union only if Russia opens its doors to unhappy citizens.

The amendment had held up passage of the bill for the last year until Jackson on Oct. 18 released letters between himself and Kissinger which he said constituted a compromise agreement involving the Russians.

Gromyko's letter referred to "publication in the United States of materials of which you are aware and which touch upon the departure of a certain category of Soviet citizens."

"I must say straightforwardly that the above-mentioned materials, including the correspondence between you and Senator Jackson, create a distorted picture of our position as well as of what we told the American side on the matter," Gromyko said.

A STARTLING AWAKENING

Mr. and Mrs. Gary B. Williamson of Novato gingerly pick their way to safety from the wreckage of their bedroom which appears as if it had been shattered by an explosion or earthquake. About 2:20 a.m. today they were awakened by screeching sounds of automobile tires and then a loud crash as a car careened into the south side of their residence — principally their bedroom — at 590 Ignacio Boulevard. The driver of the car, Chris Joseph Montoya, 24, 1000 Ignacio Boulevard, Apt. 24, who was slightly injured, was arrested on suspicion of drunken driving. (See story on page 4.)

County Tries Compromise On Fund

Marin County supervisors decided yesterday to seek a compromise on demands by the cities of San Rafael and Novato that some $8 million in federal community development act funds be divided annually according to population.

All other cities except Ross have agreed that the funds should be pooled and used for redevelopment projects selected by a special committee of city and county representatives.

Under the law, Marin must have the cooperation of all jurisdictions — representing a combined total population of 200,000 — in order to qualify for the $8 million over the next six years. (Ross has not approved the joint powers agreement but its population is not needed.)

San Rafael and Novato approved the document on condition that a portion of the money be given to them based on their percentage of population.

County Administrator John F. Barrows siad San Rafael's share of the first year's $558,000 allocation would be $105,000, while Novato's would be about $82,000.

"Removal of the two largest cities from the allocation process and related setting of priorities (for use of the funds) severely undermines the validity of any community development program in Marin County," Barrows wrote. "It also contradicts the basic intent of the law which affords separate programs only to those cities with 50,000 population in 1970." (Neither had a population of 50,000 in 1970)

However, he continued, there is no legal prohibition against granting the two cities' demands.

Chairman Robert A. Roumiguiere said San Rafael and Novato officials apparently do not want to join the smaller cities in pooling the money for fear of being outvoted and excluded from use of the money.

Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini then suggested a compromise: San Rafael and Novato agree to pool their money on condition that at the end of six years the dollar amount they would have received on an annual split be spent on projects within those communities.

The advantage is, he said, that it would allow the money to be pooled for a large project in one area one year and another large project in another area the next.

San Rafael and Novato would be assured that sometime during the six-year life of the federal grant they would receive the amount due them on a population basis.

Other supervisors agreed and referred the suggestion to the two cities councils for comment. Agreement must be reached by Jan. 15 which is the deadline for qualifying for the funds.

Novato Bows To County Urging On Sharing Development Cash

Money talks loud and the Novato City Council last night reluctantly listened to the threat of withholding federal funds and finally bowed to the will of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

By a 4-to-1 vote, with Councilman Dorothy Young against, it voted to go in with the county priorities committee on the distribution of the $8 million in housing and urban development funds.

Supervisor Arnold Baptiste made an unscheduled appearance at the meeting and gave the council some straight talk on what the supervisors could and would do.

"Both you cities (Novato and San Rafael) have divorced yourselves from the county priority setting committee and want to go your own way. If you do, you will get none of the county's share of its 35 per cent or $2 million," Baptiste said.

The council appeared stunned.

"We would still get our 15 per cent or $1.2 million, wouldn't we?" she asked.

Baptiste agreed that Novato would, but pursued the idea that Novato should be in a position to get its share of the county's $2 million.

Mayor David Price Jones finally comprehended that the council was being threatened by a cutoff of county money: "What you are trying to say to us is that if we don't do it your way, we will get left out of the county's share?"

"That is basically correct," Baptiste answered in a matter-of-fact voice. He said that Novato must be represented on the county priorities committee and judge projects on a county-wide basis.

Councilman Fred F. Ruegg said that was why Novato wanted to go its own way because it usually came out on the short end where the county was concerned.

Mrs. Young pursued her point saying that Novato might be better off selecting its own projects out of its $1.2 million than it would be letting the county set its priorities.

"I would still like to see

Ford Jawbones Steel Firm To Trim Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford wants U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest steel company, either to roll back or lower its announced 8 percent increase in prices, a White House spokesman said today.

"The Wage and Price Stability Council, reflecting the President's views, hopes U.S. Steel will lower its announced increases and that other steel companies will keep the public interest in mind and not raise their prices to the level of U.S. Steel," Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters.

Nessen said that Albert Rees, the council's executive director, had been told by a U.S. Steel executive that the company would respond in writing by Friday to the government's request yesterday for a justification of the price hikes.

Nessen was unable to say immediately whether Ford wants a complete rollback or just a reduction in the announced price rise, which becomes effective Jan. 13.

Neither Ford nor any of his representatives publicly asked U.S. Steel to cancel its increase. Presidents Kennedy and Johnson did in 1962 and 1968. Both times, the company rescinded announced increases.

In the early days of his administration, Ford criticized General Motors for a price boost on 1975 cars and trucks. GM partially rolled back prices a few days later.

But these have been the only two examples of overt "jawboning" — or presidential arm-twisting — by Ford. Instead, he has delegated to the wage-price council the chore of birddogging the upward trail of wages and prices and calling them to heel if they get out of hand.

Marin General Liability Insurance Increase Seen

The cost of Marin General Hospital's liability insurance may rise as much as 75 per cent next year, Adm. Ray K. Bolinger told members of the Marin Hospital District board last night.

The hospital currently is paying about $150,000 per year for malpractice insurance, he said, but may have to pay up to $280,000 in 1975.

The rise is typical of the jump facing all of California's hospitals because of several factors, including large recent malpractice awards by California courts and inflation.

While some hospitals will see their bills go up only 40 per cent, others will face gigantic hikes. Officials at the University of California Medical Center have said their premiums will rise 180 per cent and at Stanford Medical Center, the figure will be up about 100 per cent.

No discussion took place last night by the local hospital district board as to how the new cost will be met, but presumably, like other hospitals, Marin General will pass it along to patients.

Since 1969, according to Dr. David Rubsamen of Berkeley, a physician-attorney who specializes in liability insurance, there have been 16 judgments of more than $1 million in California against doctors or hospitals or both.

In one, a San Francisco jury awarded more than $4 million to a San Rafael boy who was paralyzed after an accident. A pediatrician and a San Francisco hospital were held responsible.

Milton Webb, administrator at Ross General, said his hospital, as part of a large chain, does not pay insurance premiums individually and that he did not know yet what the situation was.

Milton Scott, administrator at Novato General, said he expected his hospital's liability insurance costs also to jump about 75 per cent. "It's the courts that have made this decision," he said.

Watergate's Final Defendant On Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Kenneth W. Parkinson, who handled Watergate legal work for President Richard M. Nixon's 1972 re-election committee, denied on the witness stand today that he ever attempted to cover up the scandal or obstruct justice.

In fact, Parkinson said, he stopped Nixon aides from changing deputy campaign director Jeb Stuart Magruder's diary to hide the truth and warned campaign director John N. Mitchell that payments to the original Watergate defendants could be construed as blackmail money.

Parkinson was the last of the five defendants — including Mitchell — to take the stand in the Watergate cover-up trial.

Jacob A. Stein, Parkinson's lawyer, asked whether Parkinson was involved in a conspiracy and he answered "no."

"Were you intending to obstruct justice?" Stein asked.

"I was not," Parkinson replied.

Parkinson testified about a series of meetings with Magruder, Mitchell and William O. Bittman — the original attorney for Watergate mastermind E. Howard Hunt Jr. — in the months following the June, 1972, break-in.

He said that around Labor Day, 1972, he destroyed handwritten notes he had made of a conversation with Magruder the previous July in which Magruder charged "we're all involved" in Watergate.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Flying Ace Enshrined

KITTY HAWK, N.C. (UPI) — World War I flying ace Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker has been admitted into the First Flight Society's aviation shrine.

Rickenbacker

Rickenbacker, who died in July 1973, was enshrined in ceremonies at the Wright Brothers Memorial yesterday — the 71st anniversary of Orville and Wilbur Wright's first flight in a mechanically powered plane.

Rickenbacker was honored for his achievements in air history. He had more air combat victories to his credit than any of his contemporaries.

Rickenbacker's son, David, was on hand for the ceremony and pointed out his father never held a driver's or pilot's license in spite of his activities.

Irish Alarm

LONDON (UPI) — Scotland Yard issued a nationwide alarm today for two young Irish women and a grey-haired man wanted for three telephone office bombings that left one man dead and four others wounded.

London police blamed the outlawed Irish Republican Army for the three bombings last night that rocked the city's West End theater district and the Chelsea area two miles away.

The blasts apparently were aimed at post office telephone exchanges but touched off chaos in the area as police evacuated theaters, movie houses and bars in fear of new explosions.

Junta Foe Elected

ATHENS (UPI) — Michael Stassinopoulos, 71, veteran jurist, author and staunch opponent of the former military junta, was elected provisional head of state today. He took the oath of office immediately after the balloting.

In the voting which followed brief statements by Premier Constantine Caramanlis and opposition leaders, Stassinopoulos received 206 votes to 74 against. Caramanlis' New Democracy party controls 219 of the 300 seats in parliament.

Court Date

BOSTON (UPI) — Members of the Boston School Committee were to appear in court today to face possible contempt charges for defying a judge's order to approve a plan for desegregating the city's 200 public schools.

U.S. District Judge W. Arthur Garrity had ordered the committee to present him with a city-wide busing plan by Monday. The panel, however, voted 3-2 against approving a proposed 300-page draft drawn up by the city School Department.

Hawaiians Warned

VOLCANO, Hawaii (UPI) — Scientists fearing an eruption of the long-dormant Mauna Loa volcano warned residents of nearby communities today that their homes might be overrun by molten lava.

The giant volcano was shaken by more than 1,000 earthquakes yesterday, strenghthening fears there might be a dramatic and deadly awakening after a quarter of a century of sleep.

Spanish Slayings

MADRID (UPI) — Three persons including a police commander died by gunfire in Spain's politically restless Basque provinces last night, police sources said today.

Town Retaken

SAIGON (UPI) — Government forces today recaptured an airstrip overrun by the Communists the day before, but the adjacent town of Dong Xoai was hit by Communist mortar fire throughout the morning and is in danger, military spokesmen said.

Government and Communist losses during the 11-day-old upsurge in fighting across the country rose above 20,000, Saigon command records showed.

The airstrip at Dong Xoai, a former U.S. Green Beret camp 52 miles north of Saigon, was overrun in fighting late yesterday, but the Communists retreated this morning. Spokesmen said there were no casualties from the 50-round mortar barrage which hit Dong Xoai, a town of 5,000.

Ford Signs Water Plan, Worries About Expense

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford says the Safe Drinking Water Act he signed into law yesterday will provide the protection needed for every American.

But he said he had reservations about the cost and the federal involvement in the water protection program and will administer the law to keep both objectionable aspects to a minimum.

The measure directs the Environmental Protection Agency to establish programs to protect underground sources of drinking water and creates a standard by authority to allocate chlorine and other purification chemicals.

The law also provides that EPA regulations will take effect two years after enactment of the law. The national standards will be based on health effects.

Russ Admit 5-Year Plan Failure; Cut Arms Budget

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union today admitted failure of a five-year-plan to shower shoppers with consumer goods. It blamed poor harvests, construction delays and lagging production.

It also announced a slash in military spending, bringing it to a five-year low.

State Planning Chairman Nikolai K. Baibakov told the Supreme Soviet, the Soviet parliament, that consumer goods production targets for the 1971-1975 five-year plan will not be met.

He said next year's economic effort will concentrate on oil, coal, fuels, and heavy industry, a swing away from Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev's original five-year plan target of "saturating the market with consumer goods."

On the state of the nation's agriculture, Baibakov said the grain harvest fell this year by 24.5 million tons compared with last year's record harvest of 220 million tons.

In spite of poor weather, he said, the 1974 crop was the second largest in Soviet history.

Western experts said this crop, though a large one, was not enough to meet the Soviet Union's grain deficit. In 1972, the Soviet Union was forced by a poor harvest to import large amounts of grain from the West, and just last October President Ford blocked another $500 million grain sale to the Soviets.

Baibakov said in spite of the setbacks for consumer goods, Soviet national income would grow next year by 6.5 per cent.

Finance Minister Vasily Garbuzov announced a 1975 defense budget of $22.9 billion, the lowest of the five-year plan. The other defense budgets ranged between $23.2 billion and $23.6 billion.

French Leftists Lose Try To Oust Cabinet

The motion, denouncing the government's domestic, economic and social policies, won only 183 of the 490 votes, 63 short of the necessary majority.

The leftist opposition controls only 180 votes in the 492-seat Chamber. A censure motion must be carried by an absolute majority to overthrow a cabinet.

Socialist leader Francois Mitterand, who lost the presidential election to Giscard d' Estaing in May, introduced the censure motion in parliament charging "the next government will come sooner than you think."

Communist floorleader Robert Ballinger said the Martinique agreements between Giscard d'Estaing and President Ford were a "total capitulation."

Ballanger said Giscard d' Estaing has "aligned himself with U.S. imperialism and with West Germany, its spokesman in Europe."

Premier Jacques Chirac, however, said the economic, energy and monetary accords reached by the two presidents fully respected France's national independence policies.

"We must coordinate our policies with the United States," Chirac told a boisterous lower house debating the censure motion.

STEAMY ASPHALT GREETS BYPASS TRAFFIC

Quinn Is Ordered To Stand Trial

By GEORGE NEVIN

Kevin Patrick Quinn must stand trial in Marin Superior Court on charges of burglarizing Daniel Ellsberg's Mill Valley home, a judge ruled yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

The decision by Judge Peter Allen Smith followed a daylong preliminary hearing at which Ellsberg, his wife Patricia, and a quick fisted cab driver testified against the 21-year-old Mill Valley man.

Judge Smith ruled there is enough evidence to warrant a trial on charges of burglarizing Ellsberg's house and that of Terrence C. Cuddy and of concealing stolen property.

Smith ordered the tall, wavy-haired Quinn to appear in Superior Court Dec. 30 for arraignment, and set a second preliminary hearing, dealing with a charge of bombing a Mill Valley police car, for Jan. 2.

Ellsberg wound up his testimony early yesterday afternoon by saying he thought that 75 pounds of papers stolen Oct. 1 were selected from his files "almost at random."

Many of the documents, since turned over to a congressional subcommittee by Mill Valley police, bore "secret" and "confidential" classifications and were claimed by the Defense Department.

The thief rejected only files of newspaper clippings, Ellsberg said.

When he discovered the theft of clothing, a guitar, a calculator, stereo gear and beer, Cuddy said, he went across the street to 20 Millwood because he had noticed many teen-age youths entering and leaving the house.

"I saw a man with two speakers coming from the garage," he related. When he found out they were the same brand as those taken from him, Cuddy said, "I hit him in the mouth."

But, Cuddy continued, the youth told him the speakers had been left in his room by Quinn, so he arranged to meet Quinn later at the house.

When he did, Cuddy testified, "I said, 'You're the guy who ripped me off,' and hit him twice."

Cuddy also testified he threatened Quinn with what he described as a replica of a .38-caliber revolver.

Although at first unwilling to turn Quinn over to police, Cuddy said he finally made a report when he learned Quinn had stolen a pocket calculator from a woman to replace the one taken from Cuddy's apartment.

Other testimony dealt with whether Quinn wrote a "Dear Daniel" note found in Ellsberg's home after the burglary. The note implied an extortion attempt.

Handwriting expert Lyle M. Fowler of the State Division of Law Enforcement testified the printing on the note was made by the same person who left a note for Cuddy and who made another note given to Mill Valley police last year in connection with another case.

Although nobody saw Quinn write any of the messages, Judge Smith ruled it was reasonable to believe Quinn was the author.

Transfer Point Lopped From Transit Plans

Marin commuters headed for downtown San Francisco on some future transit system will not have to transfer at the Presidio.

The end of the transfer system in future plans was assured last night when the proposal was eliminated by the board of control for the Golden Gate Corridor Project, which is drafting a long-range plan for improving the transit link between the two counties.

The same step already had been taken by the separate board of control planning San Francisco's extension of transit in the "Northwest Corridor."

The San Francisco board proposed the transfer system last year for Marin commuters, aruging the city should not have to suffer construction of two underground transit systems. That board, however, now has opted instead for improving bus transit on the streets instead of putting it underground.

Mill Valley Man Named Plan Chief

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Dean L. Macris of Mill Valley, a top aide to Mayor Joseph Alioto, has been named San Francisco Planning Department director.

Macris, 43, will take over his new job, which pays $36,000 a year, on Jan. 6.

He has been director of the mayor's Office of Community Development for two years.

Macris said that he and his family will move to San Francisco soon. His wife, Marjorie, is a planner in the Marin County Planning Department. The couple has two children.

Tate Freedom Blocked

The inmate, one of the San Quentin Six charged in connection with a 1971 prison shootout, had been slated to walk out of the institution at 10 p.m. today.

But Marin Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales announced he won a State Supreme Court order reinstating murder indictments against Tate and the other inmates and a Marin Superior Court order setting bail on Tate at $500,000.

Tate, who has served 10 years for a felony assault conviction, could not have been held past today on the old charge, and a visiting judge's decision last January tossing out the indictments left Tate without any pending charge, until the Supreme Court ruled.

Bales said Tate will be held at San Quentin, where he resides in the Adjustment Center, because he is a "custodial risk."

Jobless Jumps Across Country

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Labor Department said today every state in the union reported swelling unemployment insurance rolls for the week ended Nov. 30 signalling deeper trouble for the economy during the month of December.

The unemployment rate for November was 6.5 per cent with about 6 million workers unemployed.

For the week ended Nov. 30, about 2,982,600 persons were receiving unemployment insurance benefits, up 553,700 from the previous week. Not all workers are covered by unemployment insurance.

The unemployment rate for workers covered moved from 3.7 to 4.5 per cent over the week. A year earlier the rate was only 2.6 per cent and the number of persons totaled only about 1.6 million.

The largest increases were reported in California, 42,600; North Carolina, 41,300; Illinois, 38,600; New York, 30,700; Pennsylvania, 28,200; New Jersey, 27,000; Michigan, 23,300, and Wisconsin, 20,900.

The jobless picture was darkened by the statistics on new claims and on requests for extended benefits. New claims indicate new job losses and the extended benefits claims signal that jobless workers are out for longer periods of time.

During the week ended Dec. 7, the number of initial claims was 693,600, up 169,500 from the week earlier. The number of workers filing claims for extended benefits, totaled 209,400, up from 188,700 filing in the previous week.

Inmate Given Longer Sentence

A San Quentin inmate convicted of assaulting another prisoner and slashing his throat must spend at least three more years behind bars, a Marin Superior Court judge has decided.

Louis A. Sullivan, 22, already serving six to 50 years on a statutory rape conviction, was given the three-to-life sentence Monday by Judge Charles Read Best.

A jury in Best's court convicted Sullivan of slashing the throat of Bruce G. Burk, 27, on July 29 in the exercise yard of the maximum-security B section.

Condominium Plan Receives Approval

The Larkspur Planning Commission last night approved the plan by Richard and Carol Auslen of 705 South Eliseo Drive to convert seven apartments to condominiums.

The commission also approved parking variances allowing Canzona's Restaurant, 455 Magnolia Avenue, to share a parking lot with Cunningham Press printers next door, and removing the requirement for Mary Ann Casey, owner of a cut flower store of 499 Magnolia Avenue to provide one parking place for her building.

NOVATO

Novato get part of the county's $2 million," Baptiste said.

Ruegg said that Novato still held the power because if it was dissatisfied at any time, it could pull out and the whole program would "go down the drain."

The council then agreed to have the staff work out the details with the county and named Councilman Gail Wilhelm to the county priorities committee which will hold its first meeting at 8 p.m. Jan. 9.

Aid For Turkey

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has approved a compromise version of the $2.7 billion foreign aid authorization bill giving Turkey military aid until Feb. 5.

Car Tears Out Wall Of Home

A car slammed into a duplex in Raphael Village early today virtually destroying the south side of one residence, but the sleeping occupants escaped uninjured.

The driver, Chris Joseph Montoya, 24, of 1000 Ignacio Boulevard, Apt. 24, who suffered an unspecified head injury, was arrested on suspicion of drunken driving.

Montoya's car smashed into a corner of the bedroom at the home of Ronald Edward Clark, 592 Ignacio Boulevard, then broadside into the bedroom at the adjoining home of Gary B. Williamson, 590 Ignacio Boulevard, then ricocheted off the building and back into the Williamson living room wall broadside and then off the wall into the yard at 2:20 a.m., according to Novato police.

The car, traveling east on Ignacio Boulevard, apparently at a high rate of speed, hit the divider 82 feet west of Entrada Drive, was airborne 75 feet and then, after landing, careened into the duplex at the northeast corner of Ignacio Boulevard and Entrada Drive, police said.

Montoya, who was reported in good condition this morning at Novato General Hospital, is scheduled to be booked at Marin County Jail after he leaves the hospital.

Novato police had no estimate on the damage. The Novato Fire Department reported that gas and water mains were broken in the crash.

Revenue Bond Sale Approved

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma County supervisors have approved sale of $33 million in revenue bonds to finance the Cotati-Russian River intertie aqueduct project.

Sonoma Water agency chief engineer Gordon Miller told the county board Monday the consulting engineer firm of Rickett, Ward and Delmarter told him the bonds will cover all the project's expenses.

The firm estimates costs at $27.4 million while Miller believes the cost will be closer to $30 million. In either case the bonds are large enough, he said.

The aqueduct, scheduled for completion in 1976 or 1977, is to bring river water through west central Sonoma to Cotati and to the North Marin Municipal Water District. Also participating are other Sonoma County cities including Petaluma, Sonoma and Rohnert Park.

LA Doctors Win Defraud Case Against Investment Company

An investment firm that specializes in handling real estate deals for doctors defrauded nine Los Angeles physicians in connection with a Larkspur apartment, a Marin Superior Court jury has ruled.

The investment company, Leverage Funding Systems, with offices in Oakland and Los Angeles, and four corporate officers, must pay a total of $69,500 to two of the doctors, Richard Small and David Ulmer, the jury decided Monday.

Leverage has developed other apartment and condominium projects in Marin and elsewhere and was the builder of the Howard Johnson Motel in Southern Marin.

In an 18-day trial, the jury heard testimony that Leverage broke contracts with Small and Ulmer and seven other Southern California physicians who pooled their money to buy a $425,000 apartment building at 1103-1115 South Eliseo Drive in December 1972.

The doctors contracted with Leverage to develop the 11-unit apartment and, when completed, turn it over to them.

But without telling the doctors, Leverage built the dwellings as condominiums, not apartments, the jury held.

In August of 1973, the doctors were sent letters saying Leverage wanted to buy the apartments back for $450,000, which was done.

But contended Los Angeles attorney Richard I. Wideman, who represented Small and Ulmer, the companies neglected to tell the doctors the units already were being sold as condominiums, which ultimately grossed $591,000 for Leverage.

The jury found in favor of the doctors, ruling Leverage Funding Systems and Wilhelm Berger, a corporate officer, breached their contract with the doctors and committed fraud.

Small was awarded $22,500 and Ulmer $27,000, and the jury also assessed penalties of $5,000 each against Peter S. Traynor, William G. McDonald Jr., Clayton W. Brunsell and Berger.

The verdict, though reached Monday, will not become final for about two months after Judge David Menary Jr. has assessed attorneys' fees against the defendants and has heard arguments on other legal points not decided by the jury.

Although only Small and Ulmer sued, the other seven doctors are entitled to share in actual damages against Leverage and its officers but not in the penalties or attorney fees.

Safeway Chief Says Prices Aren't Fixed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A supermarket executive has told Congress that grocery items are priced identically from one store to the next because of competition. But one senator said the reason for identical pricing appears to be "benign" collusion.

Testifying yesterday before the Joint Economic Committee, Safeway Stores president William S. Mitchell said, "All those stories about price gouging, profiteering, rip-offs, price fixing and monopoly are just not so."

Mitchell said identical prices result from keen competition. When one chain store drops a price, others follow, he said, so identical prices mean they are competing, not colluding.

Under questioning, he conceded, it works both ways. When one chain raises prices because its costs have risen, others tend to follow.

Mitchell also denied the industry has secret profit ratios comparable to those of some of the big oil companies. He said the old nursery rhyme line about "a penny for the grocer" more accurately reflects the profits of his industry.

Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said the frequency of identical prices in competing supermarkets suggests the chains arrange to avoid head-to-head competition.

Proxmire said he suspects they have "a soft, gently benign policy of not competing on price."

Humphrey said he was "astonished" that a check last October in Safeway and A&P stores in Kansas City showed identical prices for 2,969 of 3,955 items.

Safeway, with about 2,000 stores and $5.5 billion in sales, is second in size domestically only to A&P.

But Mitchell said identical pricing showed competition was real.

"We check each other's prices, and nobody in this business is going to be undersold," he said. Anyway, he said, the chains buy at the same prices from food producers and have similar costs.

Humphrey said so far this year Safeway profits were 40 per cent higher than last year. He said stating profits in terms of sales, a penny or a penny and a fraction on the dollar, is misleading. When profits are compared to investment they range about 20 per cent, he said.

Mitchell said if supermarkets used the same accounting methods as oil companies, their profits would average about 7 per cent of investment.

Fire In Carport Burns Five Cars

Five automobiles were destroyed in a $20,000 fire early today in an apartment carport fire at 175 Nova Albion Way in San Rafael.

The San Rafael Fire department estimated damage to the five autos — a Volkswagen, an Oldsmobile, a Chevrolet Vega, a Ford Torino and a Plymouth — at $15,000. Damage to the carport was estimated at $5,000.

Fire department units responded to the call at 5:19 a.m. Cause of the fire is still under investigation.

Monsignor William M. Burke Dies

Msgr. William M. Burke, 67, former director of St. Vincent's School for Boys in Marin County, died yesterday in a Stockton hospital after a short illness.

Father Burke, a native of Galbally, Ireland, was appointed to the St. Vincent's staff in 1935. He became director in 1943, serving until 1951.

He later became a pastor in Stockton and had served as chaplain of St. Joseph's Hospital in Stockton for the past two years since his retirement as an active parish priest.

Survivors are two brothers, Rev. Timothy Burke of Leavenworth, Kan., and Patrick Burke of Ireland.

A Rosary will be said at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Cathedral of the Annunciation in Stockton where the body will lie in state until 8 p.m. when a Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated with Most Rev. Merlin J. Guilfoyle as principal celebrant. Entombment will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at the San Joaquin Mausoleum in Stockton.

Contributions in memory of Father Burke can be made to St. Joseph's Hospital or the Family Service Agency, both of Stockton.

L. J. MIGLIORE

Laurie J. Migliore, one of Marin County's foremost bowlers, died yesterday at his home at 159 Playa Del Rey, San Rafael, after a long illness. He was 52.

He was born in San Francisco but lived most of his life in San Rafael. He was part owner and manager of the Country Club Bowl until he retired last March.

He had been elected to the Marin Bowling Hall of Fame. He was a member of San Rafael Lodge No. 1108, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

Migliore is survived by his wife, Jacqueline Migliore; two sons, Laurie J. Migliore Jr., both of the home, Robert Migliore of San Rafael; a brother John Migliore; a sister, Marjorie Purosso, both of San Francisco, and three grandchildren.

A Mass of the Christian Burial will be celebrated at 10 a.m. tomorrow in St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael, followed by burial in Mount Olivet Cemetery. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today in Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

Memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society, Marin County Unit, 18 Mary Street, San Rafael, would be preferred by the family.

LAWRENCE BETTINELLI

Lawrence Bettinelli, a lifelong resident of Marin and Southern Sonoma counties, died at his Petaluma home yesterday after a lengthy illness. He was 75.

He was born in Marin's Chileno Valley, and during his lifetime operated dairy ranches there and in the Point Reyes area. He worked 10 years as a machinist for the Kresky Manufacturing Co. in Petaluma, retiring five years ago to his home at 312 Galland Street.

Bettinelli was a member of the Native Sons of the Golden West, Nicasio Parlor, and St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church in Petaluma.

He is survived by his wife, Loretta Bettinelli; two sons, James and Lauren Bettinelli, both of Petaluma; two daughters, Joan Silva and Claire Lucchesi, both of Petaluma; seven brothers, Paul, Alvin, Jack, Fred, Lester, Mike and Walter Bettinelli, all of Petaluma; eight sisters, Genevieve Bettinelli, Carrie Moreda, Josephine Mazza, Eleanor and Evelyn Pomi, and Julia Jensen, all of Petaluma, Irene Peters of Novato and Alma Moretti of Arizona, and seven grandchildren.

Mass of Christian Burial will be at 10 a.m. Friday at St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church in Petaluma, with interment following in Calvary Cemetery. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home in Petaluma. The family prefers memorial contributions to the church building fund or to favorite charities.

THELMA ADAMS

A Mass of Christian Burial for Thelma (Terry) Eloise Adams, a Novato homemaker, will be celebrated at 8 p.m. today at St. Anselm's Church, San Anselmo.

Mrs. Adams, 51, of 1145 Elm Street, Novato, died Sunday at a local hospital after a long illness. She was a member of St. Anselm's Parish in San Anselmo.

She was a native of New York and had been a resident of California for 15 years and of Marin 10 years. She had been a resident of Novato for one year after living in San Anselmo.

Surviving are a son, Kim Richard Adams of Sausalito; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Herrmann of Warsaw, N.Y., and a sister, Doris Kelly of Rockville, Md.

Graveside services will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael. The family prefers memorial contributions be to the American Cancer Society.

Supervisors Change Minds, Award Landscape Contract

Reversing a decision made last week, Marin County supervisors yesterday awarded a $5,477 contract to a local landscaper for installation of a water conserving garden at Civic Center.

The contract award came after contractor Michael Goldman of Fairfax protested last week's rejection of his bid.

Goldman said he had started preliminary work on the demonstration project after County Purchasing Agent Douglas Edelen assured him he had won the job.

The supervisors had rejected his bid after a spokesman for the California Landscape Architects' Association complained that the job was offered to only eight of Marin's 44 landscapers on an "invitational basis."

The spokesman urged, and supervisors agreed, to rebid the project through public advertisement.

Supervisors reversed themselves and awarded Goldman the job yesterday after Edelen acknowledged he had congratulated the landscaper on winning the project. Supervisors had never rejected an invitational bid before, he said.

"I don't think we would offend the association in awarding the bid in this case to the low bidder," Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. said, adding all landscaping contracts in the future should be bid publicly.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

CEREMONY — Seated new Supervisor Thomas S. Price after he was sworn into office by County Clerk George H. Gnoss. Chairman Robert A. Roumiguiere welcomed Price, saying the new supervisor was included on "a short list of people" Assemblyman Michael Wornum had recommended to Gov. Reagan for the seat. Wornum, who attended the ceremony, told the board he would have submitted a different list to a different governor "but we have to look at the political realities."

COMMISSION — Revised the membership of the county corrections commission to include a municipal court judge, police chief and representative of the council of mayors and councilmen. The appointees will assume seats vacated by the county sheriff, director of criminal-justice planning and district attorney. Supervisors then appointed Marin Municipal Court Judge Peter Allen Smith to the commission and asked the police chiefs' association and mayors and councilmen for recommendations.

PARKS PAY — Authorized paying members of the county parks, recreation and open space commission $150 for any six meetings attended during a six-month period. Previously they were paid $25 per month only if they attended a meeting during that month.

APPOINTMENT — Reappointed Asst. Agricultural Commissioner Philip Economon to the county mosquito abatement district board.

INSURANCE — Requested the Insurance Services Office of San Francisco to review the fire insurance rating for the Olema and Point Reyes Station area. The rating is currently 10, meaning property owners pay high premiums for insurance.

CLAIM — Rejected a $5 million claim for damages filed on behalf of Roxanne Johnson of 150 Van Winkle Drive, Sleepy Hollow, who was injured in a traffic accident last September. The claim maintains the accident was caused because Sir Francis Drake Boulevard is "dangerously and defectively designed" near Lagunitas, where the accident occurred.

CONTRACT — Approved a $52,000 contract with Fisher-Friedman Architects for preparation of construction drawing and plans for Phase Two development of McInnis Park, including the swim and tennis center.

CLOSED SESSION — Met in closed session to interview a candidate for the position of director of the health and human services department. No decision was reached.

TIBURON — Was told Neill Smith of Tiburon had withdrawn his application for a scenic easement agreement for his land atop the Tiburon Ridge. The withdrawl was prompted by county demands of a public trail across the property in return for the agreement, which offers tax benefits in return for limits on development.

REPORT — Ruled that no environmental impact report will be required for the already approved second unit of the Ignacio Industrial Park.

YACHT — Gave the Gallinas Yacht Club 90 days to come forward with plans and use permit applications to legalize the club's barge clubhouse on Gallinas Creek. Before the barge can be legalized the club must negotiate the lease of purchase of a neighboring landowner's waterfront property.

FLOOD CONTROL — Took no action on a request from the Rafael Meadows Flood Control Zone Advisory Board that it abandon plans for repair work to a flood control creek running through the tract unless half the cost is paid by adjacent property owners. The county counsel's office has ruled that the zone may be liable for erosion damage caused by the creek to private lands.

LITIGATION — Authorized the county counsel's office to lodge a civil suit against two welfare recipients, identified only as Elizabeth Aberle and Elizabeth Johnson, who allegedly received more than $5,000 each in welfare funds they were not entitled to.

NEXT MEETING — Will meet next Monday instead of Tuesday due to the Christmas holiday. There will be no meeting during New Year's week.

Black Point Two-Acre Bid Rejected

A recommendation from the Marin County Planning Commission that the county set a two-acre-minimum lot size for the Bahia-Black Point ridgelands was rejected yesterday by county supervisors.

Instead, the board unanimously enacted an emergency ordinance regulating lot size depending on slope.

The emergency ordinance, to be in force for four months, allows construction on lots of three quarters of an acre if the slope is less than 15 per cent, one acre for slopes of 15 per cent to 30 per cent and two acres if more than 30 per cent.

The planning commission recommended two-acre lot sizes after the department of environmental services said that was the minimum acceptable for septic tanks.

The Black Point Planning Group opposed that action and urged one-acre minimum lot sizes.

It went along with yesterday's "compromise" suggested by Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste.

The department of environmental services did not protest the matter, although the slope percentages approved allow smaller lots than permitted in the county's septic tank ordinance.

County Protests Hamilton AFB Pull-Out Plans

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday urged the department of defense to scrap plans to transfer Air Force Reserve units from Hamilton Air Force Base in Novato.

In a resolution introduced by Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste, supervisors said the air reservists move to McClellan Air Force Base in Sacramento by the spring of 1976 would have a "severe economic impact."

The shift would move about 300 families — representing a $4.5 million annual payroll — from Marin and Sonoma counties with an accompanying loss in retail sales to local businesses, they said.

"Several hundred civilian employees who provide base support would be displaced by the move and would be thrust into a sagging job market," the resolution reads.

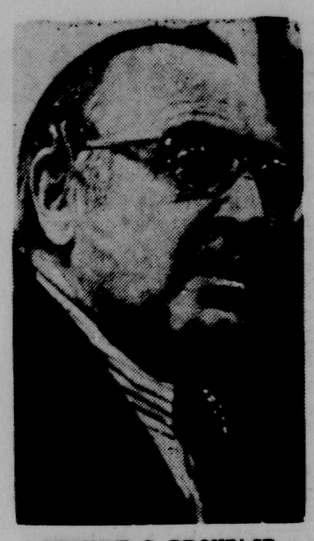

Additionally, it continues, the planned action would make it difficult for Bay Area reservists to train because of the 90-mile commute to Sacramento.

Jets Collide; 4 Officers Die

LUKE AFB, Ariz. (UPI) — An F4 Phantom collided with a T38 trainer while the two jet fighters were practicing air combat maneuvers over the Gila Bend Gunnery Range yesterday killing four Air Force officers.

The cause of the crash was not known.

24-Hour Bike Traffic Plan Urged

The Golden Gate Bridge should be open 24 hours a day to pedestrian and bicycle traffic, the Marin County Board of Supervisors agreed yesterday.

The board's action came at the request of Elizabeth Terwilliger of Mill Valley, who said it makes no sense to prohibit bicyclists at night.

She told of one acquaintance who had to pay a $15 taxi fare to cross the bridge from San Francisco, adding the bridge district's buses should be equipped with bicycle racks like buses in Europe.

In a related action, the board endorsed plans by the State Toll Bridge Authority to open one lane of the San Rafael-Richmond Bridge for bicycle traffic on weekends and holidays.

Both matters were recommended to the board by the county parks, recreation and open space commission.

KUWAIT (UPI) — Oil Minister Abdel Rahman Salem Atiqi today signed two agreements organizing the sale of Kuwaiti crude oil to Britain and the United States, government sources reported.

Pat Brown Will Try To Avoid Conflicts

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Former Gov. Edmund G. "Pat" Brown says he will keep his business affairs away from his son but acknowledges his relationship with the governor-elect may cause problems.

Brown yesterday promised he "won't discuss anything" involving the law office clients with Gov.-elect Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown Jr. while his son is governor. However, he said the relationship "may pose some problems."

"I may have to do some radical things in the (law) office itself to not embarrass Jerry," the elder Brown said in an interview. "For example, I may have to put a ceiling on my income so that no matter what comes into the office that involves governmental agencies I won't personally benefit from it."

The former governor's firm has represented lobbyists and clients appearing before governmental agencies, including the legislature.

The law firm has been retained by lobbyists to study and perhaps fight Prop. 9, the political reform initiative sponsored by Jerry Brown. But the elder Brown said it is being handled by other attorneys in the office and added he does "not know anything about the retainer."

The former governor said he suggested his son contact some of his old associates for advice on the governorship. Among those that Jerry has contacted is Hale Champion, finance director in the former Brown administration and now executive vice president of Harvard College.

Cascades Area Land Purchased

Marin County supervisors yesterday authorized purchase of another portion of the Floyd W. Elliott property in the "Cascade Canyon" area above Fairfax.

The purchase adds 175 acres of the picturesque ridge to the 260 acres purchased a year ago. The county paid $85,000 from open space district funds for the latest acquistion.

A third parcel, totaling about 38 acres, is under option by the county. It may be purchased by the City of Fairfax as a park.

Wornum Reports Campaign Costs Totaling $82,839

Assemblyman Michael Wornum, D-Corte Madera, spent $82,839 to win his seat, more than double the spending by his Republican opponent, A. Alan Hill, according to new campaign finance reports.

Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, was the second biggest spender in local races, with a total of $80,062. His defeated Democratic challenger, Mendocino County Supervisor Ernest E. Banker, did not file a report with the Marin County elections office since the law requires a report only in his home county.

The final reports, due last Friday, detail campaign finances for the Nov. 5 general election from Oct. 27 to Dec. 6, and give cumulative totals for expenditures and receipts since the July 12 reports on campaign finances in the June primary election.

Congressional candidates have until Jan. 31 to file their final campaign finance reports.

Only two of the 29 candidates on the November ballot failed to file the final reports: Thomas K. Procter, incumbent reelected a director of Marin Hospital District, and Dennis H. Klein, elected a director of Strawberry Recreation District.

The county can fine late filers $10 a day for each day they fail to submit their final reports, for a maximum of $50. In the past, however, the county has not pressed collection of the fines, and there is no other penalty for not filing.

All other candidates in the hospital and recreation districts reported spending not more than $500.

Wornum's report for the final finance period showed contributions totaling $6,750 from eight Democratic legislators and $2,275 from the Democratic State Central Committee. Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, gave $1,500. Wornum subsequently voted against him for Assembly speaker.

Other assemblymen turning campaign funds over to Wornum were: Daniel E. Boatwright of Concord, $1,250; John T. Knox of Richmond, $1,000; John F. Foran of San Francisco, $1,000, and Bill Lockyer of Oakland, Jack R. Fenton of Montebello, and Richard Alatorre of Los Angeles, each $500. Sen. Alan Cranston's campaign also gave $500.

Wornum also reported $1,000 contributions apiece from the Committee to Save the Seashore and Committee for the Public Interest. Neither committee filed reports with the county to show their sources of money, as required by state law. A spokesman for Wornum said the two committees were conservation organizations.

The report by Wornum said he ended the campaign year with a $24,628 deficit, including "loans" of $14,000 of his own money and $5,000 from his mother.

Hill reported spending $40,684 in the primary and general contests, including contributions in the final week of the campaign of $4,000 by the Assembly Republican Caucus and $1,000 from United for California. The caucus also gave him $500 earlier in the campaign. United for California, a group of California's major industrial and financial institutions, previously gave Hill $3,500.

Behr's final report showed contributions of $2,650 by the California State Employees Association's Employees Political Information Committee, $2,000 by the Senate Republic Caucus, funds from both conservation groups and oil companies, and $1,000 of his own money.

Shell Oil Company's Good Government Fund gave $400, Standard Oil Company of California $450, and Union Oil Company of California $500. The California League of Conservation Voters and California Committee of Two Million gave $200.

Banker's Marin campaign committee reported only its local spending of $4,321 during the general election. It listed contributions of $1,000 from the State Building and Trades Council of California, $700 from the California Teamsters Legislative Council and $500 from Pacific Lumber Co. of Scotia.

The two Peace and Freedom Party candidates in the legislative races, Toni Novak-Sutley for Senate and Nancy V. Gunn for Assembly, did not file reports in Marin.

In the state Board of Equalization's Third District race, incumbent Democrat William M. Bennett reported spending less than $500 to win reelection.

Bennett's Republican challenger, Tally P. Mastrangelo, spent $9,130. The American Independent Party candidate, Joyce W. Stancliffe, reported spending less than $500.

In the race for Marin County clerk, winner Peter C. Meyer spent $10,781, ending up with a $4,076 deficit. His opponent, John F. Musser Jr., spent $4,882, with a $120 deficit.

In Marin Municipal Water District's Division 1, winner Richard J. Boylan spent a total of $3,599. He reported a $100 contribution from the National Women's Political Caucus of Marin. His opponent, Betty M. Forry, reported spending $3,180 in the November contest and less than $500 in the June race.

Successful Sausalito City Council candidate Wayne Bonnett reported spending $350, all his own money. His opponent on the ballot, Earl F. Dunphy, spent $1,960. Write-in candidate Serge Trubach reported spending less than $500.

Young Robber Gets Modified Prison Term

A Novato man who pleaded guilty to robbing a woman outside a Sausalito nightspot in August has been given a prison term of six months to 15 years.

But the case of Douglas Lamar Woodard, 21, will be reviewed in four months to consider modifying the sentence, Judge Charles Read Best of Marin Superior Court ruled Monday.

Armed robbery, the charge to which Woodard pleaded guilty, ordinarily carries a sentence of one to 15 years, but Best sentenced Woodard under a special youth provision which sets the minimum sentence at six months.

Another Novato man, Richard Thomas Berry, 22, was found guilty of the robbery by Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson sitting without a jury, and sentenced to complete a drug rehabilitation program at Delancey Street Foundation.

All Reed Schools To Stay Open

Both Del Mar and Reedland Woods middle schools will remain open next year, Reed School District trustees decided last night.

The board said the district will "maintain our presently used sites next year on a temporary basis" and that all facilities will remain open.

In making their decision, board members backed away from proposals to close one of the middle schools and offer it for rent to reduce financial strain on the district. The primary candidate for closure was Reedland Woods School. Trustees also decided against selling Tiburon School and other district property, primarily undeveloped sites such as one parcel at Ring Point.

The board agreed, however, to put both middle schools under a single administration, eliminating one principal's post. Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello said the principal will be offered a teacher's job. No decision was made on which administrator would go.

Trustees told the superintendent to explore sale of 13 undeveloped acres on the central Tiburon Ridge owned by the district. A prime buyer may be the City of Tiburon, which is interested in the land for open space.

Giovanniello presented a list of possible budget cuts that could save as much as $247,000 in the district's 1975-76 budget. The proposed cutbacks include elimination of six jobs, among teachers and classified employees, and a 50 per cent reduction in bus service. Also proposed are slashes in capital improvement and maintenance items. These will be considered at later sessions, the board said.

Without the reductions, Giovanniello predicted the district would be in the black $31,153 at the end of the next fiscal year. "It's a strain, but not a big strain," he said of the district financial picutre.

His estimate, however, assumes that teaching staff would be reduced by two positions due to attrition and that there be no raises other than regular increases on the present salary scale.

TV Committee Is Appointed

A seven-member committee has been appointed by the Mill Valley City Council to make recommendations on city-sponsored television programs proposed for broadcast throughout the community via cable.

Named to the group after a closed session of the city council Monday were Dusan Mills, Ellen Caulfield, George Kellar, William Maleck, Nancy Barker, Marjorie Kurzman and Lawerence Sturhahn.

The city council has agreed to provide $6,000 for programs dealing with municipal and community affairs. In addition to making recommendations on the kinds of programs that might be undertaken by the city, the group also will be charged with overseeing the actual production of shows, according to City Mgr. Ronald L. Usher.

Trustees Authorize Sale Of Isabel Cook School

San Anselmo School District trustees last night authorized Supt. Frank R. Elliott to proceed with the sale of Isabel Cook School which will be closed next June.

Elliott said trustees were anxious to get moving as soon as possible on the sale of the 47-year-old school. Funds from sale of the property will go for capital improvements at other district schools.

The superintendent said it will take about 15 days to get a fair market appraisal and to confer with the Marin County Counsel's Office on listing the property for sale.

In November 1973 the county appraised the school's buildings at $810,000 and the 2.7-acre property at $90,000.

Elliott said it will be "hard to tell" who might be interested in the property until it is on the market.

Trustees also agreed to meet with the San Anselmo City Council on Jan. 16 to discuss the Isabel Cook sale since the city's parks and recreation commission uses the school's multiuse building for certain activities.

Elliott said that the city might want to purchase part of the school package, but that everything still hinges on appraisal and fair market value.

At last night's meeting, trustees delayed until its regular meeting on Jan. 9 a review of Elliott's contract.

New Planner Says He's Non-Political

Mill Valley's newly appointed planning commissioner, Howard Johnson, a 40-year-old architect, describing himself as a nonpolitical person said that stance gives him an advantage in carrying out his commission duties.

Johnson said he purposely has steered clear of Mill Valley political issues primarily because of his desire to serve on the planning commission. "That I haven't involved myself in political activities is an advantage," he said. "I am not a political person and this is not a political post."

After a closed session Monday, city councilmen announced the appointment of Johnson and the reappointment of commissioners William D. Devlin and Kalvin Platt to three-year terms.

Meanwhile, the city council's policy of not disclosing the names of applicants for planning commission vacancies has become a political issue raised by the Civics and Conservation Section of the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club.

In a letter to the council, the club urged that 1. There be made available to the public a written list of qualifications and criteria for selection of appointed city officials 2. All names of applicants to appointed offices be made public 3. The time period for applications, interviewing dates and appointments be made available to the public and the news media be encouraged to inverview applicants 4. The council encourage recommendations and criticisms concerning the applicants by citizens.

Although the club's recommendations were not discussed by the council Monday, Mayor Robert E. Burton told the Independent-Journal yesterday that confidentiality of applicants' names allows councilmen to make appointments in an atmosphere relatively free of public opinion.

"The process wer are using allows us to make our own decisions without pressure from a lot of people," Burton said. "It has worked quite well."

He acknowledged, however, that the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce regularly endorses candidates for planning commission vacancies and that he and his colleagues have been aware of those endorsements.

Burton also noted that present application forms do not say that the applicant's name may be made public. "The forms will be revised if we decide to release the names," he said.

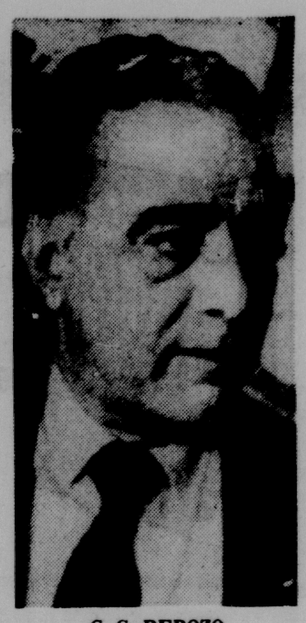

Johnson replaces John Debecker, who was not reappointed to the commission. A native of England, he immigrated to the U.S. in 1961, working for major architectural firms in San Francisco until founding his own company in 1968.

He is a graduate of Northern Polytechnic Institite in London and a member of the Engineers Club of San Francisco, the Royal Institute of British Architects, the American Institute of Architects and the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

A resident of Mill Valley since 1965, Johnson and his wife, Jean, live at 10 Bradford Way with their three children.

Shocks Halted

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Langley Porter Neuropsychiatric Institute disclosed yesterday it has temporarily suspended the use of electric shock treatments, a practice long criticized by a group of former mental patients.

C. G. REBOZO
'This isn't a good day'

Rebozo Loses Twice In Same Day

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — C. G. (Bebe) Rebozo looked back over developments of the day and decided "this isn't a good day to have my name."

Rebozo, known for his friendship with former President Richard Nixon, was dealt two blows simultaneously yesterday: his petition to have the street in front of the Nixon compound here declared private was rejected and, for the first time since it was founded 10 years ago, his bank was robbed.

The robbery at the Key Biscayne Bank and Trust Co. occurred while Rebozo sat in on a Dade County Metro Commission meeting considering his proposal to close Bay Lane to the public for the sake of Nixon's privacy.

The commission voted 5-3 against the petition, which had been signed by Rebozo, millionaire industrialist Robert Abllnalp, Nixon and several other Bay Lane residents.

"I heard about it (the robbery) on the radio on my way back from the commission meeting and I immediately thought my vice president (David L. Woods) had put on a wig and absconded with the money," Rebozo joked afterward.

The bandit got away with $1,000 to $10,000 in marked $20, $50 and $100 bills. Woods said part of the loot was "bait" money which had recorded serial numbers.

The man approached a newly-installed drive-in window and placed a hand-lettered note in the pneumatic tube instructing the teller to turn over the money or an accomplice inside the bank building would detonate a bomb.

THE PERFECT HOST
Paul Masson Emerald Dry Reisling, 5th
Almaden Pinot Chardonay, 5th

Hams and turkeys are favorite meats at this time of year, and two fine wines that will enhance either of these meats are Paul Masson Emerald Dry Reisling and Almaden Pinot Chardonay.

Emerald Dry Reisling is a sprightly and delicately dry white wine. Pinot Chardonay (pronouced Pea-no Char-doe-nay) is a more mellow white wine with a rich bouquet. Either wine would be an excellent choice.

Both wines should be chilled three hours before serving.

Paul Masson Emerald Dry Reisling is $2.25 a fifth and Almaden Pinot Chardonay is $2.89 a fifth.

Union Boss Sees Million Jobless

HOUSTON (UPI) — One million workers in the automobile and related industries will lose their jobs next year because of the virtual collapse of the auto industry, according to United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock.

Woodcock told a UAW meeting yesterday the auto industry's profits dropped dramatically for the first nine months of 1974 with General Motors' earnings plummeting 76.5 per cent, Ford's 60.1 per cent and Chrysler's 88.2 per cent.

"The automobile industry from September to November literally collapsed," Woodcock said. "We've been critical of pricing and high profit targets, but we'd be kidding the nation if we said that was the problem."

Ford Motor Co. recently said 32,500 workers at 11 of 20 assembly plants would be temporarily idled for periods of one to five weeks early next year. An additional 18,950 workers were on indefinite layoffs at Ford.

"Based on projected statistcs there will be a million or more out of work by the end of the first quarter of next year," he said.

Woodcock accused the Ford administration of doing nothing to fight recession and urged congressional approval of a 10 per cent tax cut for lower and middle income families and extended unemployment benefits.

"The whole economy is in at least a severe recession and if nothing is done it will sink into a depression," he said. "We are learning again by bitter experience that things just don't work themselves out. Congress must act if Ford doesn't.

Considering the thousands of auto workers already out of jobs, Woodcock said unemployment benefits should be extended to cover at least 52 weeks at two-thirds of normal salary.

"American blue collar workers are the highest paid but the most insecure," he said. "Unemployment benefits should be extended to cover all workers who are involuntarily unemployed."

Woodcock also called for passage of a national health insurance act, increased social security benefits, an end to the oil depletion allowance and a rollback of oil prices.

He said the UAW would support the auto industry's proposal for a five-year pause in implementation of stringent emission controls and safety standards in return for a binding agreement.

Bid To Britain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has invited British Prime Minister Harold Wilson to visit the United States beginning Jan. 30, the White House announced today.

Moshe Dayan To Be Speaker

Moshe Dayan, former defense minister of Israel, will speak at College of Marin April 10.

Dayan will discuss the Middle East situation in a lecture scheduled for 8 p.m. in the school's gym as part of the school's concert-lecture series. He is on a speaking tour of the U.S.

Congress Rushes Aid To Jobless

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With 6 million Americans unemployed now, and the total likely to go higher, Congress is within a few formalities of creating 330,000 public service jobs and extending jobless benefits to millions of others.

Those jobs, and perhaps more, will be needed, according to the economic prognosticators. Treasury Secretary William Simon predicted the current 6.5 per cent unemployment rate could rise to 7.5 per cent next year, the highest of any administration prediction so far.

Some of the least optimistic say the jobless rate could go as high as 10 per cent, but Simon told the Senate Budget Committee yesterday the administration would take steps such as the public jobs plan to prevent such a high rate.

The $5.5 billion bill is a compromise worked out yesterday by House and Senate negotiators. About $2.5 billion would create 330,000 jobs in hospitals, fire departments and other public agencies. Average pay: $7,800 per year.

Another $2.5 billion would give special unemployment benefits for 26 weeks to the unemployed among 12 million workers not now covered by unemployment insurance — mainly domestic workers, farm workers and state and local government employees. Also, $500,000 would go for public and private works projects to create employment.

A companion bill, also certain of passage, would grant 13 more weeks of benefits to those covered by unemployment insurance. This would mean that most workers could get a full year of unemployment checks.

The House Appropriations Committee, moving swiftly so the program could start Jan. 1, voted to spend $4 billion for both the jobs bill and the unemployment bill.

Another appropriation will be needed next year to keep the program going.

The problem with 6.5 per cent unemployment is that it hits the unskilled first — blacks and other minorities. Many economists say the actual unemployment rate is higher because millions have given up even looking for jobs and therefore are not even in the statistics.

Simon predicted yesterday that employment should begin rising by this spring and the recession would bottom out at midyear.

General Motors Set To Lay Off 41,000

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. said today itwill lay off 41,000 workers temporarily during the first three months of 1975 because of auto and truck production changes.

The layoffs, which GM said would start Jan. 13, will raise the company's total of indefinite layoffs to 91,000 by the end of January.

GM, the giant of the ailing auto industry, said it would close 10 assembly plants for one to four weeks during the first quarter of next year.

The plants involved are located in Framingham, Mass.; Lordstown, Ohio; Leeds, Mo.; Tarrytown, N.Y.; Van Nuys, Calif.; Lakewood, Ga.; and Pontiac, Flint, Lansing and Willow Run, Mich.

General Motors said it would build about 819,000 passenger cars during the January-to-March period, the same as it assembled a year ago, but that it would reduce truck production.

GM said its truck production, about 222,000, would fall 27 per cent below output a year ago.

Audit Shows Oil Company Overcharges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government says its auditors have discovered $145.5 million in apparent overcharges by oil refineries that will, for the most part, be returned to customers by price rollbacks.

The Federal Energy Administration also said yesterday that the auditors disallowed some $330 million in costs the refineries were carrying on their books and which likely would have gone into computation of future prices.

FEA officials said the findings of the audit, the second refinery audit cycle to be conducted, included $17.5 million in overcharges by three of the nation's biggest petroleum firms —Exxon, Mobil Oil Corp. and Standard Oil of Ohio (SOHIO).

The agency said SOHIO had been ordered to roll back prices worth $10 million, Exxon $6.9 million and Mobil, $600,000.

The FEA said 12 other companies had signed consent agreements to voluntarily roll back or adjust prices to cover $104 million in overcharges. In addition, two as yet unnamed firms were cited for $24 million in "probable violations."

An FEA spokesman classified most of the overcharges as "accounting errors, so on and so forth" that brought no complaint from the companies when they were spotted by federal examiners.

Companies involved in the voluntary rollback order were: Kerr-McGee, Skelly Oil, Murphy Oil, Phillips Petroleum, Amerada-Hess, Texaco, Delta Refining, Sun Oil, Getty Oil, Shell Oil, Charter Oil and Atlantic-Richfield.

2 Draw Life For Robbery

SACRAMENTO, (UPI) — Two young men convicted of kidnaping and attempting to rob a bank were sentenced to life in prison yesterday by a judge who said they were influenced by a television show.

Superior Court Judge Mark Brandler said the "seven hour nightmare" in which 25 persons were held hostage in the bank for a $1 million ransom was patterned after a cops and robbers program aired two weeks before.

Michael D. Madigan, 20, and Brian J. Young, 19, were found guilty recently in Santa Barbara of three counts of kidnaping, one of robbery and two of armed robbery in the May 31 incident in suburban Sacramento.

They each received consecutive prison sentences of 10 years to life and life imprisonment.

Substation Roof Ordered Cropped

The Sausalito City Council last night told William L. Hynes that he would have to lower by 19 feet the roofline of the old Pacific Gas and Electric Co. substation he is remodeling into a home.

Hynes appealed to the council after the planning commission last month granted him a conditional use permit to convert the 1915 structure only if he would lower the peaked roof from 51 to 32 feet from ground level.

Hynes plans to put a second floor into the old substation which supplied power to the 1915 Pan-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco via an underwater cable.

"The walls are 14 inches thick and the building is very expensive to work on," Hynes said. Built of stucco and steel, the old substation at 1 Marion Avenue near the South Ridgelands is both loved and hated by Sausalito residents, depending on their architectural taste, Hynes admitted.

"But it is one of the oldest existing buildings in Sausalito and is in keeping with architectural concepts of that era," he said. Hynes said he felt he had been singled out to bring his peak roofed building into conformity with the city's 32-foot-height limit because Councilman Violeta Autumn could see it from her home on Sausalito Boulevard.

"That would apply to me also and Mr. Bonnett," Mayor Evert H. Heynneman said, referring to Councilman Wayne Bonnett.

"It would be a shame to cut it," Councilman Sally Stanford said of the roof. It would cost a fortune, she and Hynes agreed.

Bonnett called the structure "offensive," and supported the planning commission condition.

"Lowering the walls that number of feet is an unreasonable condition," Councilman Robin Sweeny stated.

"This would be confiscation of his property without due process," Miss Stanford said.

Councilmen Autumn, Bonnett and Heynneman voted to deny the appeal, with Miss Stanford and Mrs. Sweeny opposed.

"If he doesn't have the money to go to court, I'll give him the money," Miss Stanford said.

Hynes said he planned to consult a lawyer.

NEW ASSEMBLYMAN FLUBS SAUSALITO COUNCIL DATE

Assemblyman Michael Wornum earlier had agreed to meet with the council at 7 p.m. to discuss the city's interests and problems.

When Mayor Evert H. Heynneman gaveled the council meeting to order at 8 p.m., he suggested a letter be sent to Wornum expressing "the council's displeasure."

"The Councilmen were here by 7:15 but he did not show up," Heynneman stated flatly.

"He owes me the dinner I missed," added Councilman Robin Sweeny.

New Delay Set On Schoonmaker

A smaller version of the proposed Schoonmaker waterfront development hit a 30-day snag last night when the Sausalito City Council ordered the planning commission to hold a public hearing on whether a new environmental impact report would be needed.

Acting on an appeal from Sausalito resident Lawrence Shaw, the council in a 4-1 vote, ordered that the hearing be set for 8 p.m. Jan. 15 at city hall. Councilman Sally Stanford opposed the delay.

Last month the planning commission scuttled the larger proposed Schoonmaker project, saying it would draw too much traffic, and last week it agreed to use the same environmental impact report to consider a smaller version of the project.

The larger $38 million proposal would have included 72 condominiums, a hotel, three restaurants, two yacht clubs, 25 houseboats, a 283-berth marina, health and tennis clubs, a public beach, chandlery and boat works, shops and offices on 36.7 acres east of Bridgeway between Napa Street and the foot of Spring Street.

The smaller version locates the marina, health and tennis clubs, beach and boat works and chandlery on 27.8 acres and eliminates the rent.

Shaw told the council that because the core business and hotel units had been cut from the proposed project, elements of the environmental impact report were totally changed, and the report would not apply to the smaller project.

"Eliminated facilities alter conditions and require gathering of new information," Shaw said. He protested that the planning commission had not placed consideration of the impact report's adequacy on the agenda and that it had come up too late for good decisions or expression of public opinion.

"It was after 2 a.m.," said Shaw, who had not attended the meeting.

Planning director Herb Cam said that the decision was made sometime about midnight and the matter had come up earlier during a discussion of use permite.

"How did you get into the act?" Councilman Stanford asked Shaw.

"I'm a concerned citizen. This is my home," he said.

City Atty. Leland H. Jordan told the council that no public hearing was required on an environmental impact report.

"Alternatives for the property are substantitively reviewed," in the report, Steve Siskind of Environmental Systems International of Los Angeles representing the proposed project, told the council. "The city has certified the EIR," he said.

Miss Stanford moved to uphold the planning commission's decision to use the single report with no further hearing. But her motion, supported only by Councilman Robin Sweeny, was defeated 3-2.

Mayor Evert H. Heynneman moved to order a public hearing on the need for a new environmental impact report and Mrs. Sweeny, Violeta Autumn and Wayne Bonnett agreed.

"You're pushing the project off another 30 to 40 days," commented Siskind after the vote.

The Sausalito City Council also:

BOND — Called for a special municipal bond election March 4 to approve purchase of Cypress Ridge, South Ridgelands, the Glen, Toyon Terrace and Glen Grove as open space at a cost of $1,250,000 and acquire land bounded by Bee, Bridgeway, Litho and Caledonia streets for a public plaza at a cost of $250,000.

PROCEDURE — Instructed the planning commission to amend the general plan on the waterfront, then to consider zoning and implementing ordinances.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Jan. 7 at city hall.

Long-Awaited Novato Sign Rules Introduced

The Novato City Council last night introduced a sign ordinance it has been working on for two years.

Final vote on it will come at its Jan. 7 meeting in Grace Lutheran Church.

The council had gone over the ordinance thoroughly last week and last night made only minor changes.

It agreed that a building on a corner or standing alone in a lot with three or four sides visible, should have more signing than the 1.25 square foot per front foot as proposed in the ordinance.

Councilmen defeated a proposal that the maximum height of free standing signs could not be higher than the building, using a trailer sales lot as an example of how low a free standing sign would be under the proposal. It also defeated a motion to cut the size of shopping center identification signs from 200 square feet to 150 square feet.

A subdivision may have more than one 40 square foot entrance sign it if has more than one entrance, the council agreed.

The Novato City Council Also:

DESIGN — Authorized the staff to work out an agreement with the California Department of Transportation for a $60,000 design of Redwood Boulevard (Old Highway 101) when the state turns it over to the city. The city had allocated $5,000 for the study of a design and must take another $30,000 from other road projects, not yet selected, to make the first annual $35,000 payment.

APPRAISALS — Authorized the staff to work out another agreement with the Department of Transportation for a study of appraisals on acquiring right-of-way to widen Novato Boulevard from Grant to Wilson avenues.

OPEN SPACE — Received an offer from Soiland Co. Inc. to give the city approximately three acres for open space. The area is a drainage ditch along Arroyo San Jose beside Ignacio Boulevard and is useless. The council asked the staff to see if the flood control district would not be more interested in it and to report back to the council.

BUS SHELTERS — Received a report from Robert B. Pedroncelli, public works director, that the city and the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District had agreed on 22 possible locations for bus shelters in Novato, but that the city had only enough money to prepare five or six of the sites this year.

DE LONG — Accepted the $271,880 widening of De Long Avenue as completed for the freeway bypass entrance into the city.

COLLEGE — Approved trying to set up a noontime college program with Indian Valley Colleges so that city employees and others could take college courses.

CLOSED — Went into closed meeting and later named Mario Van Der Zwiep of 130 Montura Way to the parks and recreation commission and Karen Altizio of 505 Sunset Parkway to the environmental quality control committee.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Jan. 7 at Grace Lutheran Church.

Terra Linda Open Space Discussion Set Tonight

Means of financing open space purchases in the Terra Linda area will be discussed tonight at a citizens' meeting called by Marin County Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere.

The session, slated for 8 o'clock in the Board of Supervisors' meeting room at Civic Center, is aimed at exploring joint city-county purchase of more than 400 acres of the Nunes property above Santa Margarita.

Attempts by the San Rafael City council and the Santa Margarita Homeowners' Association to form a special assessment district for the purchase have met with stiff opposition from some area residents.

Roumiguiere said the session also is aimed at easing tensions within the community, strained since the city's attempt to create the assessment district.

The supervisor said other possible purchases in the Terra Linda area, such as Pinto Ridge above Los Ranchitos, will be discussed as well.

Both areas lie within the county open space plan and are therefore eligible for some funds from the open space district, according to Pierre W. Josha, general manager of the district.

If the city and county can't come up with enough funds for the purchase then he might propose a bond-based assessment district to make up the difference, Roumiguiere said.

Ford Won't Recall 1,400 Employees

MILPITAS (UPI) — The Ford Motor Co. will not recall to work the 1,400 employes on its second shift building autos after its Christmas vacation.

A spokesman said yesterday a second shift of truck building employees will be retained.

O 'TANNENBAUM

Perhaps nothing brings back memories of "Christmas Past" so much as the scent of fresh evergreens. The Douglas Fir has the most delightful fragrance, although many prefer the shape and fullness of other firs and pines.

In order to have the longest lasting — and safest — Christmas tree, here are a few hints:

1. Choose a fresh green tree with tightly attached needles.
2. Remove the wooden stand and saw off ½" from the bottom of the trunk.
3. Place the tree in a bucket of water immediately. This will start the flow of "new life" into the tree. (To prolong the tree's life, you may want to add to the water a commercial preparation available in Garden Supplies. Some also use a couple of aspirin and a teaspoon of sugar.)
4. While in the house, the tree should be kept in a water stand or a bucket of sand and water.
5. Use only U.L.-approved lights and inspect the cords before they are placed on the tree to be sure there are no breaks. Never leave a tree lighted while away or asleep.
6. After the holidays, don't try to burn large branches from the tree in the fireplace. They may "explode," causing damage to your home.

Have a safe and happy holiday.

AT CANDIDATES' NIGHT

Redevelopment, Open Sapce Aired

By MARY LEYDECKER

Redevelopment, open space purchase, low-cost housing and to some extent, inflation, appear to be shaping up as the major issues in the San Rafael City Council and mayoral elections to be held next March.

At least, these were the favorite topics of two candidates for mayor and six for the council as well as the audience at a "precampaign candidates' night" attended by some 75 persons last night at the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. auditorium.

The session had been arranged by an ad hoc committee of persons with various views, who said they intended to disband after the one meeting.

Filings for the election have not yet closed, and other candidates may surface before Dec. 26, the last filing dates. Some of those appearing last night have not yet actually filed.

Those stating their views were Mayor C. Paul Bettini and councilmen John A. Miskimen and Fred Jensen, all running for reelection. The challengers present were Joan Fox, seeking the mayor's job, and her husband, Richard C. Fox, as well as Anise Turina, John Starkweather and Peter K. Kehrlein, all council candidates.

None of the candidates seemed to favor one proposal by consultants hired to prepared redevelopment plans for San Rafael — they all decried the suggestion a large regional shopping center be built in the city.

Mayor Bettini said "I don't really like any of the (four) redevelopment proposals," and that he favors improving the present downtown stores as well as improving access between east and protions protions of the city.

Mrs. Fox, who commented that the "downtown merchants need help," said she, too, opposes a large shopping center but favors beautification of the downtown area.

"Massive things seldom work," Fox said, adding he was against a regional shopping center but that he might change his mind if evidence convinced him it would be a good thing for the city.

"Too many cooks spoil the broth," Jensen said succinctly, saying that the consultants preparing the plans had compared San Rafael to such dissimilar cities as San Jose, Oakland and Washington, D. C. He said he believes in "upgrading Fourth Street" with malls or other improvements but that the consultants had become carried away with grander plans.

Kehrlein said he agreed with Fox, who spoke of preserving the individuality of San Rafael, and that "some people seem to have moved here by mistake . . . they try to change San Rafael into a Mill Valley or Sausalito."

Miskimen said he is "backing away from the idea of getting major new stores" into San Rafael, but that he also was "opposed to whitewashing Fourth Street and putting out some plants," calling that ineffective. Instead, he said, he favors attracting new "sub-major" enterprises.

Starkweather agreed that "it is not enough to fix up" the current stores in downtown San Rafael, but that he is "turned off by the idea of a self-enclosed shopping center" that would prevent merging of the old with a new business area.

Mrs. Turina, who said she wanted the tax revenue from new businesses for the city, said she thought local businessmen want a small regional shopping center. She added she thinks the "experts know what they're talking about."

Other views of the candidates on various subjects included:

BETTINI — A native son who has served 10 years as mayor, Bettini cites "extensive experience," and listed accomplishments during his tenure, including a new city hall, corporation building, sewers and development of several parks.

On providing more low-cost housing in San Rafael, Bettini said that water and sewer moratoriums, planning restrictions and "worst of all, inflation," preclude development of such housing in the city. However, he said, he thinks redevelopment may be able to provide some moderate-cost housing.

As for acquisition of open space through bond money voted by the taxpayers, Bettini said he "doesn't see a quick solution" for which parcels should be purchased. He also said he does not think the city council needs to apologize for alleged "foot-dragging" in the matter.

JOAN FOX — A homemaker who has been active in local volunteer work, Mrs. Fox said she plans a "low key campaign" with emphasis on finding ways to help the lonely and poor in the community. She agreed with Bettini that city officials "shouldn't rush" on "major problems like open space."

She said she hopes the city will not lose the low-cost housing already present, in areas like Bret Harte and lower C and D streets during any redevelopment. She also said that in neighborhood fusses, she would listen to residents "but would make my decision according to my own conscience."

RICHARD FOX — Fox, a research chemist for Chevron Co., said he favors "constructive compromise" in environmental vs. development matters and providing housing for young families and the elderly.

On the other hand, he suggested that developers be required to dedicate some land for parks. He suggested that money set aside for open space might be divided in half, with part used for large projects and part for acquiring smaller neighborhood properties. He suggested the "mother-in-law unit approach" to providing more low-cost housing as well as bonuses to developers who include it.

JENSEN — The "senior member of the city council," now in his 20th year in office, noted improvements in the city during his tenure and said "I've always tried to represent you people . . . not sell my own philosophy."

He suggested dividing the city into sections with each section allotted a portion of the open space money for acquiring land. He said "if people want more land, they can form assessment districts," since "we have $2 million to buy $20 million worth of property."

As for low-cost housing, "there ain't no such animal (in San Rafael) and never will be" because "land values are too high" along with pressure for preserving open space and labor costs. He suggested that some older houses can be preserved, however.

KEHRLEIN — Kehrlein, who said he has "been preparing for a depression since World War II," said he thought his experience as a state Human Resources Department employee could be used to make a depression "a less dramatic thing." "I don't mind being in a soup line if everyone else is," he said, suggesting in such an event, work should be spread around among city employees. He said he opposed using local tax money for subsidized housing and that federal and state funds should be sought.

MISKIMEN — A former member of the city planning commission, Miskimen said "we've come a long way, Baby," in the last 10 years and that the city council "now cares" about businesses, parking, open space and other matters of citizen concern.

He said, however, that the city council "has completely botched the job" of acquiring open space and that he opposes the concept of allocating blocs of money for various geographical areas.

He said he opposes use of general tax funds for subsidized housing and that "we are going to have to have new programs" from Sacramento and Washington. He said that his policy is to vote his conscience rather than rely on assessing voter consensus.

STARKWEATHER — Now a member of the city planning commission, said he had acquired governmental skills there and as a longtime member of the Dixie School District board. "No sizeable open space would be available," he said, if the bond money is divided up among neighborhoods for purchasing parcels.

He called low-cost housing "even more controversial than open space," and said he knows of "no good solution" but that the city has to be ready for any opportunity that might arise. He said in voting on issues, he thinks the "good of the whole city" should be considered.

TURINA — Mrs. Turina, called herself a "great social reformer," said she is "late getting started" on a longtime ambition to enter politics. She said "redevelopment is the greatest problem today" facing the city and that a balance must be found between economic and social needs.

Social reforms "can't wait for the neighbors" to approve, she said, and low-cost housing is badly needed in San Rafael, where she said, "we do have much poverty." She said she would vote her conscience if elected.

Hammond Gets New Contract, Pay Raise

H. Reginald Hammond, superintendent of the Fairfax School District, received a two-year contract and a salary boost last night from district trustees.

Praising Hammond for "diligent and excellent leadership during the past year," the board renewed his contract and granted him a 6.3 per cent salary increase. The hike will raise his salary from $25,750 to $27,500.

Hammond has been with the district nine years.

In other business, trustees tentatively selected the San Francisco firm of Stone and Youngberg to serve as financial consultant if the district decides to place a lease-purchase bond issue of about $800,000 on the ballot to build a multipurpose facility at White Hill School.

The firm, which would do the job for $10,000, was selected over two other applicants, the Bank of America and Wainwright and Ramsey Inc. of San Francisco.

The district's multipurpose room committee has recommended that trustees place the lease-purchase bond on the ballot. The board will consider the matter further at 7:45 p.m. Jan. 14.

A $750,000 bond issue for a community gymnasium structure at White Hill School was rejected by voters last June.

Two Corte Madera Meetings Canceled

The next meetings of the Corte Madera board of adjustments and board of design have been canceled due to lack of quorums, according to Elizabeth Long, secretaary of both boards.

The board of adjustments, scheduled to meet tonight, will next meet Jan. 15. The board of design, scheduled Monday, will meet instead Jan. 2.

State To Scrap Milk Supports

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State officials say they will suspend price controls on wholesale milk throwing a portion of California's gigantic dairy industry on an unrestricted market for the first time in 40 years.

"The wholesale price minimums will be officially suspended in about a week," Jed A. Adams, administrator of the Department of Food and Agriculture's milk marketing program, said yesterday.

Agriculture Director C. Brunel Christensen made the department's plans public as producers, wholesalers and retailers testified at a state hearing that they needed an increase in controlled minimum milk prices.

But consumer advocates warned that the suspension of wholesale price controls will not affect the price of milk in supermarkets or stores. Some consumer activists have been pressuring the department to lift retail minimum prices.

The state, through the Agriculture Department, sets minimum milk prices at the producer, wholesale and retail levels. The controls hold the statewide average cost of a half gallon of milk at 71 cents retail.

Christensen and Adams indicate that the suspension of wholesale price controls may eventually force the state into lifting retail controls.

Roy Alper, lobbyist for the California Citizen Action Group, said the suspension was a move in the right direction. Alper, who has been a critic of the state's milk pricing system, said the department should lift retail minimum prices so stores could lower the price of milk to consumers.

Christensen said if retail controls were lifted it could result in a temporary reduction in price but in the long run milk may cost more.

The department, at the request of dairymen, began hearing testimony Monday to determine if producers deserved an increase for their milk.

Dairymen said a 4 cent per half gallon hike was necessary to stave off rising feed and labor costs. If they did not get it, farmers said, as many as 25 per cent of the state's 3,000 producers could be financially ruined.

Wholesalers and retailers said they also needed an increase and asked agriculture officials to "pass it through" to the consumers.

Insurance Saving Plan Proposed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State Auditor General Harvey Rose has recommended that the state adopt a "self insurance" program for its vehicles which he said could save up to $1 million during the next three years.

Rose yesterday criticized the Reagan administration for not establishing such a program. The Department of General Services decided against a self insurance program and instead signed a $7.7 million contract for three years' liability coverage for the state's 28,000 vehicles.

Under a self insurance plan, the state would set aside money it would have spent on premiums and use it to pay for its auto accident claims. In effect, the state would become its own insurance company.

The risk is that the claims could go much higher than estimated. Because of this risk, the Reagan administration decided the potential savings were not large enough to justify taking the risk.

The Department of Insurance has estimated the savings would be $518,000 over three years while Rose said it could go as high as $1 million.

TO SING — Chris Raisbeck of Sausalito will sing with the Grace Cathedral choir in a public concert of Christmas music at the cathedral in San Francisco Sunday at 4 p.m.

School Bands, Choir To Give A Concert

The Santa Venetia Middle School concert and symphonic bands will perform a concert under the direction of Jean Stevens at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the school gymnasium.

The school choir, directed by Byron Jones, also will sing. Musical selections will be a variety of works, including Dixieland and seasonal selections.

Senate Votes Bonus For Working Poor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has voted to pay cash bonuses of up to $400 a year to families who work at such low incomes they might be better off on welfare.

Another tax provision passed by the Senate yesterday would help politicians and middle-income taxpayers by doubling the existing tax deduction or tax credit available to persons who make political contributions.

The proposal, by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., would raise from $25 to $50 the tax deduction an individual may take for a political contribution and from $50 to $100 for a couple. Tax credits currently permitted — $12.50 for an individual and $25 for a couple — would also double.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., championed the "work bonus" to reward families who do not qualify for welfare because the head of the household is employed. He wants to encourage low-income fathers to work rather than desert their families to qualify them for welfare.

The provision passed the Senate before. It goes now to a House-Senate conference, which has rejected it in the past. The administration's opposed, saying it would prefer a comprehensive overhaul of the welfare system.

Under Long's plan, a family earning $4,000 or less would receive payments equal to 10 per cent of its earnings which would taper off over $4,000 and stop above $5,600.

The work bonus would cost the Treasury an estimated $600 million a year. Kennedy's expanded deductions for political gifts would lower tax revenues by $26 million a year.

Big Bend National Park in southwest Texas borders Mexico on the Rio Grande River and is 708,000 acres in size.

Women In Ranks Of AA Growing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Nearly one out of three new members of Alcoholics Anonymous is a woman, the chairman of the board of trustees of the organization said yesterday.

Dr. John L. Norris made public at a news conference at the North American Congress on Alcohol and Drug Problems the results of the latest anonymous study of the group's membership.

He said similar studies had been made on a smaller scale in 1968 and 1971.

The figures showed that women now account for 28 per cent of the membership in AA, but that 31 per cent of the new members since the last survey are women. This compares to about one out of four in preceding periods.

"I think there are to reasons for this," Norris said. "First is the increasing number of articles in women's literature on the subject and second is the change in social customs. Available of alcohol at women's meetings is now almost universal. Only 15 years ago the accepted drink at such meetings was tea."

Norris said survey questionnaires were turned in by 13,647 AA members at meetings in every state and province in the United States and Canada. There were 11,355 responses in 1968 and 7,194 in 1971 to somewhat shorter questionnaires, he said.

Statistician on the survey, Jack Meager, professor of computer sciences and math at the University of Western Michigan, said the survey included answers from six 16-year-olds, one of whom said he had had four years of continued sobriety since attending his first AA meeting.

The questionnaires went to about 3 per cent of the AA groups in North America, he said.

Norris said he felt that the fact that the questionnaires were not to be signed helped in getting truthful answers "since the stigma against alcoholism still exists."

Mrs. Hope Named

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dolores Hope, wife of comedian Bob Hope, was named yesterday to the board of directors of the Mutual of Omaha Insurance Co.

PG&E Seeking Pipeline Permit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Pacific Gas & Electric Co. said yesterday it has applied for federal permission to build a new natural gas pipeline through government lands in California and other states.

The proposed 42-inch pipeline would parallel a 36-inch company line now bringing gas from Canada. It would bring gas from Prudhoe Bay on the north slope of Alaska to California.

The request for a permit was filed with the Department of Interior, PG&E said.

Her Fish Fly Around The World

BANGKOK (UPI) — Suwanee Visetsiri is a middle-aged housewife who makes a living shipping fish thousands of miles from Thailand's territorial waters to fish collectors all over the world.

In fact, her fish breeding business is so successful that she has made three round-the-world trips, and her husband gave up his government job to help out.

Suwanee, now 48, first started to take an interest in fish breeding at 19 when she purchased two tiger barb fish from Indonesia. She noticed the pair hatched thousands of eggs and, seeing a potential profit, she began to sell the fish.

"Most of my customers are in America and Japan," she said in an interview at her "factory" just outside Bangkok which employs 20 men to raise fish in an acre-sized pond.

"The best time to sell or export fish is during the cold months. It is when most persons are confined at home."

Part of Suwanee's success may be that she tries to keep her prices down. The most expensive fish she ever sold is the sauvage, about eight inches in length, which goes for $20. Is inflation a factor nowadays?

"Oh, yes," said Suwanee, who spends $250 a month for fish food alone. "Naturally, my prices reflect rising costs." She fattens fish on mosquito larvae or red garden worms.

The most popular kinds of fish Suwanee sells overseas are the altea eater and silver sharks. The latter cost about $2 apiece, plus delivery costs.

Her best customer, she said, is a rare fish distributor in California (Long Beach Fisheries). It orders 1,000 to 2,000 pounds of fish at a time.

The fish are packed in plastic bags half filled with water and flown to their destination on commercial jetliners.

But the profitability of her business isn't the only interest Suwanee has in the fish. She has a genuine fondness for them and goes to considerable pains to breed them.

In 1972, she won first prize at a 40-nation fish exhibition for her two entries, the probarbus jullien and the catlocarpio, which are only found in Thailand.

Senate Shakes Up Chairmanships

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Senate leaders yesterday announced important shakeups in more than half of the senate committee chairmanships, including the appointment of liberal Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson as chairman of the Finance Committee.

Sen. John Holmdahl, D-Oakland, was elevated from vice chairman to chairman of the important Revenue and Taxation Committee.

Beilenson, D-Los Angeles, replaced the dean of the legislature, Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, as head of the committee which reviews the state's $10-billion plus budget and all spending measures before they are heard by the full Senate.

Of the 16 standing committees in the Senate, excluding the rules committee, Democrats increased their number of chairmen from 10 to 11, while Republicans fell from 6 to 5.

Holmdahl replaced Sen. Walter Stiern, D-Bakersfield, as head of the revenue and taxation committee, where tax bills and land use planning measures normally are heard. Stiern did not want to continue as chairman so he could give more time to his district.

After two stints spanning five controversial years as chairman of the finance committee, Collier, 72, was returned as expected to head the transportation committee. It was there he served for many of his 36 years in the Senate, earning the title "the father of the freeways."

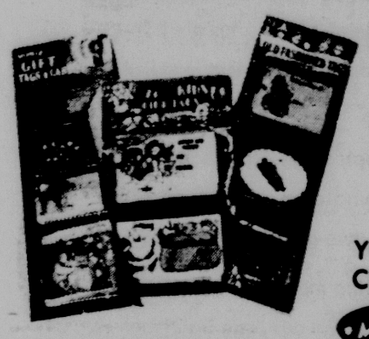

Committee chairmen were assigned by the five-member rules committee, which was elected at-large by the Senate. There are three Democratic and two Republican members, reflecting the 25-15 Democratic majority of the upper house.

Other new committee chairmen: Health, Sen. Arlen Gregorio, D-San Mateo, who replaced Beilsenson. Elections and reapportionment, freshman Sen. Omer L. Rains, D-Ventura, replacing Lt. Gov.-elect Mervyn M. Dymally. Industrial relations, Sen. George Zenovich, D-Fresno, a former rules committee member who replaced retiring Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton.

Also, public employees and retirement, Sen. James Q. Wedworth, D-Hawthorne, replacing Sen. James E. Whetmore, R-Buena Park. Business and professions, Sen. Jack Schrade, R-San Diego, replacing Senate Republican Leader George Deukmejian of Long Beach. Insurance and financial institutions, Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, replacing defeated Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose.

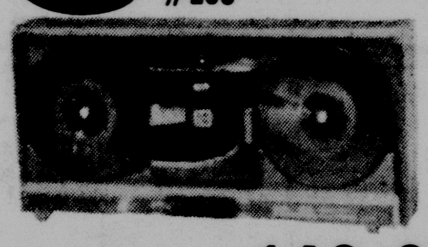

Retaining chairmanships from last session were: Public utilities and corporations, Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose. Governmental organization, Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena. Local government, Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco.

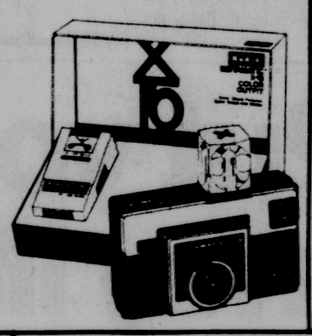

Also, natural resources and wildlife, Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek. Education, Sen. Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento. Judiciary, Sen. Alfred E. Song, D-Monterey Park. Agriculture and water resources, Sen. Howard Way, R-Exeter.

Doctor Conspiracy Hinted By San Francisco Surgeon

A San Francisco surgeon, Dr. Stanford W. Ascherman, who last year won a 10-year fight to gain staff privileges at Marin General Hospital, now is claiming he is being barred from using them because local doctors won't assist him.

(The hospital's medical staff by-laws require that a local physician assist out-of-county surgeons, according to Dr. Bradford Simmons, member of the Marin Hospital District board. The regulation was adopted several years ago because of a case in which a physician performed surgery at Marin General and then left town without making provision for follow-up care.)

In a letter to the hospital district board, Dr. Ascherman complained that "individual surgeons refuse to assist me." He claimed each doctor who refused to do so was "sitting on the threshhold of a conspiracy," in legal terms.

The surgeon asked that the hospital provide him with assistants, if necessary on a rotation basis.

The hospital's attorney, Richard Riede, however, recommended that the hospital "not practice medicine" and not become involved in the matter. His recommendation was accepted by the board.

Ascherman was granted courtesy staff privileges at the hospital in March 1973, after he agreed to withdraw a long-standing suit against the hospital.

The physician's legal fight with the hospital started in 1964 when a hospital credentials committee turned down his application with the support of the hospital board.

During the course of his fight, numerous court appearances and state hearings were held, one of which cited the doctor for professional incompetence and violations of medical ethics.

In 1971 Judge Joseph G. Wilson ruled in Marin Superior Court that the hospital's denial of Ascherman's application was valid. It was the appeal of this decision which Ascherman later decided to withdraw.

Since gaining staff privileges, Ascherman probably has performed surgeries at Marin General "not more than six times," administrator Ray K. Bolinger estimated today.

He said he had been aware that some local doctors had refused to assist Ascherman but that it was his impression it wasn't the doctor's competence that was involved but rather the type of operation contemplated.

He said Ascherman had planned to perform what is commonly known as "by-pass" surgery on obese persons and that some of the local physicians did not wish to participate in this type of operation.

A CALIFORNIA GOLD MINE IS FOR SALE

ROSAMOND, Calif. (UPI) — For sale: Gold Mine. Amount of gold remaining not certain. Price: $2 million.

Glenn Settle, general manager of the Tropico Gold Mine, put the mine, its gold ore mill and 700 acres of land up for sale yesterday.

The mine produced $8 million worth of gold in the days when it sold from $20 to $35 an ounce, but the digging was closed as a working mine in 1965 when operating costs went higher than the government-fixed gold price.

Settle said that now that gold prices are rising and other mines reopening, the Tropico would probably be profitable too, but he is planning on retiring so he put it up for sale.

There are large and possible ore-bearing areas still untouched, he said, and tailings from the mill — one of the few in the Southwest — could contain millions in gold at today's prices.

Cronin Is Appointed To Sanitary Board

Leo T. Cronin of 12 San Gabriel Court, Fairfax, has been named to the Ross Valley Sanitary District board.

Cronin was chosen Monday night by the board to fill the unexpired term of Peter A. Ribar, who resigned last month. Cronin will serve until June, 1976.

Hospital Board Applicants Sought

Marin Hospital District residents who wish to apply for a vacant post on the district board may do so before Jan. 15, the board decided last night.

Candidates will be interviewed individually in closed session by the four remaining members of the board at a meeting Jan. 28.

Applicants may be made with Ray K. Bolinger, administrator, at Marin General Hospital. The hospital district encompasses all of the county except the Novato area.

The vacancy occurred because of the resignation of Dr. Bradford Simmons, who is moving to New Mexico to serve as a physician at a Navajo reservation hospital. Simmons, the only physician currently on the hospital board, had served since 1972 in that capacity. Hs resignation is effective Jan. 1.

No discussion took place last night by the board members as to when an appointment will be made.

In other action, the board learned from Bolinger six positions have been authorized at the hospital for unemployed persons under a federal grant. The jobs, all to pay under $10,000 a year, will be for two clerks, a switchboard operator, porter, transport aide and a unit clerk.

The board also approved admitting podiatrists to hospital staff privileges as of Jan. 1 as required under a new state law.

Other changes in the by-laws of the medical staff aimed at making the group "more democratic, more responsive and with closer lines to the board" were referred to the chief of staff position in favor of having a president of the staff and two vice presidents.

The board also was told of two recent gifts to the hospital.

One was three pieces of equipment for the intensive care nursery, with a total value of $7,150, from the Bothin Helping Fund in the name of Elizabeth Maud Griffith Geisler, a San Anselmo infant whose life reportedly was saved in the specialized nursery.

The other was an artificial kidney unit valued at $3,157 from the Northern California Kidney Association.

Phone Bill Windfall

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The state public Utilities Commission ordered General Telephone today to refund $1,000,256 to its approximately 1.74 million active accounts.

Brinegar Resigns From Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Claude S. Brinegar today announced his resignation as secretary of transporation, the second Nixon cabinet holdover to resign under President Ford.

White House sources said Brinegar will be replaced by John Robson of Chicago, a transportation specialist and former aide to Donald Rumsfeld in the early 1960's. Rumsfeld, a former congressmen, is Ford's staff coordinator.

Brinegar, 48, served in the post for two years and during his tenure the 55 mile per hour federal speed limit was adopted in an effort to combat fuel shortages last winter.

Brinegar's resignation, which will be effective Feb. 1, follows the announced resignation last week of Attorney General William B. Saxbe. Budget Director Roy Ash, another high Nixon administration holdover, also resigned yesterday.

Senate sources also said they expected Robson to be the nominee to replace Brinegar and predicted he would have no trouble being confirmed, especially in view of his extensive background in transportation.

In his letter of resignation to Ford, Brinegar said his two years in office was "exiting, educational and, at times, hectic."

"Now is the time for me to return to the private sector," he said.

Brinegar was nominated for the Transportation post by former President Richard M. Nixon after serving for 20 years with the Union Oil Co. of California. At one point in his business career, he was president of the Union 76 division of Union Oil.

He was born in Rockport. After graduating from high school in San Francisco and serving two years in th Army Air Corps, he entered Stanford University and graduated in 1950 with a B.A. in economics. He received his M.A. in mathematical statistics in 1951 and a Ph.D. in economic research in 1954.

Contract Award For Parking Set

The Larkspur City Council, sitting as the parking authority, will award the bid on its planned downtown parking building when it meets tonight at 7:30 in city hall.

Town Mgr. Harlan Barry said he will recommend the contract be given to the low bidder, W. K. McLellan Co., of San Rafael, $46,972.

In the regular council meeting to follow at 8 p.m., the council will go over a report submitted by a committee studying space requirements for the proposed new library.

The committee says it needs 20,000 square feet for the building, and endorses the site now being considered, the Vinceleone-Tiscornia property on Magnolia Avenue adjacent to Safeway market.

HOWARD G. SHAW
Seeks Ross post

Shaw Seeks Ross School Board Seat

Howard G. Shaw, a Ross resident, has fild papers for a seat on the Ross School Board.

The four-year seats of Dr. John Bettinger and Dr. Justin Williams will be up for election March 4.

Shaw, 50, is owner of a plastics molding business, Shaw Clayton Plastics in San Rafael. He was Marin County chairman of the 1972 campaign for the Republican presidential nomination launched by conservative Rep. John M. Ashbrook of Ohio, a personal friend.

Shaw describes himself as a "concerned parent with an increasing interest in education who desires to be of service to the school and community."

He never has held a school board position or other public post, but said, "during the campaign they'll come to find I'm a capable individual who can make a contribution."

Financial problems troubling all districts will hit Ross, he said, but he insisted the district "can maintain quality education without dipping into reserves, firing teachers or cutting back programs if it approaches the situation with dedication and ingenuity."

He declined further comment on his qualifications or the issues, saying it would be "premature." He said he would bring forward specific programs in six weeks.

A native of St. Paul, Minn., Shaw earned a bachelor's degree in business administration from Denison University in Granville, Ohio. He has lived in California since 1951 and Ross since 1966.

He and his wife Mary live at 24 Walnut Avenue. They have two children, Jennifer, 11, and John, 9.

Malpractice Suit Immunity Urged

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Caspar Weinberger suggested yesterday that doctors and hospitals be made immune from malpractice suits if they meet federal standards for health care.

Weinberger said the guidelines he favors would define the best standards of medical care, as determined by committees of physicians, and would be recognized as a "complete defense" against malpractice suits.

The American Medical Association complained recently that with malpractice judgments running into the millions of dollars — one recent award was for $4 million — physicians must pay from $1,000 to $25,000 a year in insurance premiums.

Love Triumphs 30 Years Later

MARGATE, England (UPI) — Bill and Edna Grimmitt were married again yesterday, 30 years after getting divorced — thanks to their daughter Jean.

Jean asked her father to trace her mother. He found her in Bristol and brought her back to his home in Margate. "We are determined to make the most of our second chance," Edna said.

Vienna Cemetery Holds The Famed

VIENNA (AP) — Since the opening of Vienna's Central Cemetery 100 years ago, about 1.5 million people have found their last resting place there, only some 100,000 less than are at present living in Vienna.

The cemetery, in southeast Vienna, measures some 5.5 acres and is probably one of the world's biggest.

Vienna still has several other small cemeteries, in the districts of Hietzing, Meidling and elsewhere. But the Central Cemetery is the main burial ground of the city and the famous buried there include Ludwig van Beethoven, Franz Schubert, Johann Strauss and all postwar Austrian presidents.

During summer time an average of 29 funerals take place daily. In winter this increases to 34.

A former, low-yield farmland, the area was bought by the city when other cemeteries became overfilled because of a constant population increase in the capital of the former Austro-Hungarian monarchy.

Thousands and thousands had flocked to Vienna from the many crownlands. Many of them never returned to their place of birth.

Old documents show that city fathers at the time were worried about buying the property. One conern was that it was too close to a brewery, threatening to poison underground fountains used in the beer production. Another was that it tended to flood the moment it rained a little.

A number of measures were taken to dispel the concern, and the purchase by the city was made.

Two German architects were brought in and they came up with the idea of subdividing the cemetery into square blocks, making sure of easy access to the graves by creating a number of straight, tree-lined avenues stretching from one end of the cemetery to the other.

The first burial took place in the Central Cemetery on Nov. 1, 1874. Now on All Saints Day the cemetery is as busy as downtown Kaerntnerstrasse on a main shopping day.

A streetcar line was constructed, and after World War I the Socialist-run city built a cremation hall.

RARE LITTLE FELLER

This Fiji Island iguana, born recently at the Sacramento Zoo, is believed by zoo officials to be the first ever born in captivity. The birth led to creation of a complex simulated tropical environment, complete with waterfall, to house the little fellow.

Courses Slated At Dominican

Several new courses will be offered by the Dominican College education extension division for the term which begins in late January.

"China — a sampler for elementary teachers," and "world order issues and the valuing process" are two of the offerings. Other classes will deal with transactional analysis, music, weaving, sexism and Marin Indians.

Further information about the courses, which cost $25 per unit and range from one to three units, is available by contacting the college.

Handicap Is Only a Word This Birth Defect Victim Can't Spell

ABERNATHY, Tex. (UPI) — Even though Christmas is still a few days off, it's already been a joyful year for 6-year-old Patrick Lewis.

The pixie-sized second-grader, a victim of multiple birth defects, can now get around wherever he wants to go. For Pat, even that is an accomplishment.

The youngster refuses to let the fact he has no natural arms or legs overshadow his ambition or his enthusiasm.

"To Pat, handicap is only a word he cannot spell," said Alma Ruth Patterson, his schoolteacher.

"He didn't get his artificial arms and legs until a year ago, and he got his wheelchair only recently. But he makes the best of his situation."

At school, he and another youngster who also has a wheelchair sometimes like to race in the hallways.

"We are glad to see a little of this, and we encourage him at many things," said Miss Patterson.

"As this Christmas season approaches, sometimes we like to get all involved in our own problems. But seeing Pat, and the way he is working to overcome his handicaps, one gets a new meaning of the real Christmas season."

Mrs. Inous Bell Lewis, his grandmother and guardian, said the Scottish Rite Hospital in Dallas last year donated the artifical arms and legs he wears, and this year he was given the chair.

"We are so pleased that people still care — and are willing to help," she said.

His therapist said Pat would be able to walk, with a minimum of assistance, throughout his life.

"Pat is bright and creative, and will be employable as an adult at any task that excludes ponderous paper work," Miss Patterson said.

"He already has learned to use a pencil, and his artificial arms and legs are adaptable. The only variant is in Pat's decision and choice of vocation."

'Godfather' Replaced By New Dons

In his place at the top of an organized crime syndicate is someone who could probably pass as head of a legitimate corporation and who uses the same business management techniques and instant electronic communications to control his global empire of evil.

But, according to United Nations reports on the new criminals, instead of peddling soap or ships, today's version of the mobster deals in drugs, white slavery, prostitution, pornography, counterfeiting, stock fraud and other lucrative illicit business.

"While traditional forms of organized crime seemed to be receding, different kinds of organized crime were emerging," said one report of a U.S. committee looking into crime prevention and control.

"Crime as business has adapted to technological progress and adopted modern management techniques to expand and streamline their activities," it said.

A paper prepared in the name of Secretary General Kurt Waldheim said that in this age of instant communication, rapid change and increasing mobility, the opportunity for criminals who pay no heed tonational frontiers "is enormously expanded and its effectiveness greatly increased."

Modern techniques make the traveling criminal of old even harder to catch because he can operate rings by the latest communications, the report said.

"Countries are far behind in adopting the kind of measures which are required to ensure even minimal law enforcement action against the traveling offender," Waldheim's report said.

"Moreover, the widening scope of his operation encompasses different political and legal systems so that sometimes his actions are criminal in one area and not in another or, if criminal in both, then jurisdiction is limited so that the offender can move between the areas of legal liability."

The dealings of the international crook, or transnational criminal as the U.N. calls him, are also linked to corruption which the reports calls "a phenomenon invading the political and economic sectors in many parts of the world."

The criminal study committee said corruption in some countries "permeated the entire social structure, constituting a threat to democracy and public welfare.

"International and transnational criminality generated and reinforced the corruption of politicians and administrators, and this made the task of fighting corruption at the national level more formidable."

Both Waldheim and the committee urged more far-reaching measures to deal with corruption and the boundary-hopping criminal.

Criminal justice systems should be reviewed to extend jurisdiction and improve cooperation, they said. Rather than another international convention, they suggested more studies of the problems and exchanges of information.

Canadian Hunted In Mass Slaying

ST. JOSEPH DU LAC, QUE. (UPI) — A 19-year-old youth was arrested and another man was being sought today in connection with the murders of five members of a family in this small town 20 miles north of Montreal.

Quebec Provincial Police said the five were shot to death late yesterday. Their bodies were "scattered all over the house," a police spokesman said.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Valentine Dumoulin, 82, her son, Roger, 47, his wife Yvonne, 39, Mrs. Dumoulin's son-in-law, Guy Miron, 45, and his wife Lucille, 43.

No Pear Tree? Put A Fat Partridge On Your Table

By BONNIE BARD

Even if your backyard lacks a pear tree, your Christmas dinner table can be made festive by a succulently roasted partridge born and raised in Petaluma.

Krout's Pheasant Farm, 3234 Skillman Lane, is one of the few sources of fresh-killed partridges and pheasants in the area. The increasing number of holiday orders reflects a trend away from the routine turkey and ham Christmas dinners to slightly more exotic foods for entertaining.

Verna Krout, who manages the farm and does most of the labor, has seen an increasing demand for her birds.

"I find many people want traditional things like turkey for Thanksgiving and something different for Christmas and New Year," Mrs. Krout said.

"Most people will find partridges are moister than pheasants and have good flavor," she said. "Neither have a wild taste."

Pheasants tend to be plumper than partridges. "They have layers of fat, but aren't greasy like ducks," Mrs. Krout said. The fat layers bring tenderness and a form of natural self-basting during cooking.

"Both partridges and pheasants are mostly breast meat," she said. Drumstick enthusiasts may be disappointed in pheasants since they're very active birds and build strong tendons in their legs.

More than 5,000 birds are produced each year at the farm a few miles northwest of Petaluma, but 90 per cent are destined for sport clubs throughout the state.

Mrs. Krout and her husband, Jack, who recently retired as an Air Force colonel, started in 1954 with a handful of pheasants when they lived in Novato. After moving to the 10 acre ranch in Petaluma in 1960, the sports hobby turned into a business. Partridges were added three years ago.

"The birds are a lot of work since they require a great deal of personal handling," Mrs. Krout said. "They always have that wild instinct. They're never completely domesticated."

"They require a lot of space since they tend to be cannibalistic," she said. "They're very hearty birds, but still need good management to keep them healthy."

All of the birds are grain fed and require more protein than chickens.

"They're much cleaner and easier to maintain than chickens," Mrs. Krout said. "They're harder to handle though. The cocks have large spurs on their legs."

The farm currently has 1,000 birds, but has a capacity for 5,000. Springtime is especially busy when eggs are laid and Mrs. Krout must be surrogate mother and monitor incubators.

The farm also boasts some exotic breeds of pheasants which rival parrots for vibrant colors. "We have silvers, goldens, Lady Amhersts and ghi-ghi goldens," she said. "They're mostly for window dressing and for hobbyists. We had one man who bought a pretty bird to put beside his new swimming pool."

The farm is part of the Sonoma County Farm Trails system and gets many drop-in visitors who are wandering through the countryside looking for fresh foods.

"We have some birds on hand, but really need four or five days notice so they'll be fresh," she said. Persons should telephone in advance to place orders.

Partridges average 14 to 16 ounces dressed and sell for $3.25 each. Pheasant cocks average three pounds and cost $6.50 and the smaller hens are $5.50. Brave buyers can save 50 cents by cleaning their own birds on Mrs. Krout's defeathering machine.

The farm is open daily except Sundays and Mondays. "If people call ahead we can make arrangements to be here just about anytime," she said.

The birds really aren't hard to fix," she said. "I don't recommend wrapping the legs in bacon as many cookbooks say. You end up with the bacon flavor and not the bird flavor."

She said any favorite type of stuffing may be used, but suggested cooks experiment with fruit stuffings.

"I generally use dried apricots and a prune soaked in wine for my stuffing," Mrs. Krout said. "Green grapes are good too. Fruit filling gives a fruity flavor to the gravy."

Birds may be braised in wine on top of the stove, but Mrs. Krout's favorite method is baking in the oven.

MRS. KROUT'S RECIPE FOR PARTRIDGES OR PHEASANT

Brown mushrooms in remaining butter and white wine.

Pour butter, wine and mushrooms over bird in casserole.

Bake covered at 350 or 375 degrees. (One hour for partridges and one and a half to two hours for pheasants.) Baste occasionally and test for doneness.

Remove casserole cover last 30 minutes so bird will brown nicely.

How Marin Food Bills Are Rising

Retail food prices in Marin increased at an average rate of 5 per cent during the month of November, according to the December issue of the Marin Food Inflation Watch.

A market basket containing 36 items costing $36.87 on Oct. 31 increased to $38.85 on Nov. 30. Sugar, up an average of 80 cents per five-pound bag, headed the list of 17 items registered in the price increase.

The five supermarket survey was conducted by Tamalpais Associates of Tiburon. Robert

CUTOUT COOKIES

Delicious Engines Simple To Bake

Although they don't have to be decorated, the engines are even more appealing when trimmed with red and white icing and shiny silver dragees.

CHOCOLASSES CHOOCHOOS

½ cup butter or margarine
¾ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup light molasses
1 egg
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 package (4 oz.) sweet cooking chocolate, finely chopped
1 teaspoon vanilla
Cookie Glaze (below)
Food color
Silver dragees

In large mixing bowl, cream butter and sugar. Add molasses. Add egg and beat well. Onto waxed paper sift together flour, baking soda and salt; blend into egg-molasses mixture. Stir in choclate and vanilla. Cover and chill several hours.

On a lightly floured board, roll out dough one half at a time to ¼-inch thickness. Trace engine pattern onto stiff paper, and cut out to form pattern. Flour pattern and place on cookie dough. Cut around with a sharp knife. Place cookies on lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375°F.) for 10 to 12 minutes or until edges are just lightly browned. Cool on wire racks. Makes 18 to 20.

Cookie Glaze

Blend two cups sifted confectioners' sugar, two tablespoons water and one-half teaspoon orange extract. Remove about one-third glaze. Tint bright red using red and yellow food color in four-to-one proportion. Spoon or brush on white glaze where pattern suggests first, and apply dragees to headlight. Let dry. Use a decorating tube to pipe on red lines, applying dragees as indicated. Let dry.

Classic French Yule Log May Add Delight To Holiday Menus

Joyeux Noel.

BUCHE DE NOEL

1 cup sifted cake flour
½ cup cocoa
1½ tspns. baking powder
¾ tspns. salt
4 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
3 tblspns. water
1¾ cup heavy cream
4½ cups confectioners' sugar (about)
½ cup finely chopped peanuts
2 tbspns. instant coffee
½ cup (one stick) margarine

Sift together cake flour, cocoa, baking powder and salt. Set aside. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry.

In small bowl of electric mixer, beat egg yolks until thick and light. Gradually beat in sugar and water. Fold egg yolk mixture into beaten egg whites alternately with dry ingredients.

Pour into a greased 15½ x 10½ x one-inch jelly roll pan lined with wax paper. Bake at 350 degrees 15 to 20 minutes or until done. Immediately turn out onto a towel sprinkled with confectioners' sugar.

Remove waxed paper. While cake is hot roll up in towel starting from the narrow end. Allow to cool thoroughly on wire rack.

Shrimp-Decorated Tree Takes Advantage Of Buy

The National Marine Fisheries Service announced that shrimp was a bargain for the holidays (actually less expensive this year than last) so home economists there decided to celebrate the occasion.

What they came up with was a Shrimp Christmas Tree, made with a styrofoam cone of any height, curly endive for the "holly" and shrimp for the ornaments.

To make a two and a half foot tree: three pounds of shrimp, fresh or frozen; two quarts of water; one half cup salt; four large bunches of curly endive; one styrofoam cone, two and a half feet high, and a box of rounded toothpicks.

Thaw frozen shrimp. Place shrimp in boiling salted water. Cover and simmer about 5 minutes or until pink and tender. Drain. Peel shrimp. Remove dark sand veins and wash. Chill.

Separate and wash endive. Chill.

Fasten endive to styrofoam cone with toothpick halves. Start at the outside edge of the base and work up. Cover fully with the greens to resemble tree. Attach shrimp to tree in spiral.

Place on large plate or tray and add leftover shrimp around the base. Top tree with ribbon, tinsel or your favorite ornament. Serve with cocktail sauce. Serves 12.

How Marin Food Bills Are Rising

Lee Grant, economist supervising the project, predicts that monthly food price increases in excess of 2 per cent are in store for Marin shoppers through mid-1975.

Of the foods checked by the Inflation Watch, 17 increased in price, six decreased and 13 remained unchanged. Red Delicious apples registered the highest percentage price increase (42.3 per cent). Sugar had the greatest monetary price increase. Gross price increases totaled 176 per cent for an average of 10.4 per cent per increased item.

Flour, down 11 cents per five-pound bag, registered the greatest monetary price decrease.

The corresponding increase for October was 2.67 per cent.

This month's report includes holiday food commentaries and tips by Diane MacMillan, author of "Coffee Cuisine" and "Portable Feast," and Peggy Hopkins, home economist at Pacific Gas and Electric.

Warm Cups For Yule Visitors

EGGNOG WASSAIL BOWL

3 quarts dairy eggnog
1½ quarts apple cider
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
4 whole cloves
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
Whipped cream
Nutmeg

Combine eggnog, cider, nutmeg, cinnamon, cloves and lemon peel in a saucepan. Heat over low heat, stirring occasionally. Serve hot or chilled and serve with dollops of whipped cream, sprinkled with nutmeg. Yield: 4½ quarts.

HOT MOCHA

6 cups milk
⅓ cup unsweetened cocoa
⅓ cup sugar
3 tablespoons instant coffee powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

In medium saucepan heat 2 cups of the milk until bubbling. In small bowl blend thoroughly cocoa, sugar, instant coffee, cinnamon and salt. Stir into hot milk; beat with wire whisk or rotary beater until smooth. Place over low heat and bring to a boil, stirring. Gradually stir in remaining 4 cups milk and heat just to boiling. Stir in vanilla. Before serving, beat with rotary beater until frothy. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

1-2-3 HOLIDAY EGGNOG PUNCH

2 quarts eggnog ice cream
2 quarts milk
2 cups bourbon, brandy or light rum
Nutmeg, optional

Spoon slightly softened ice cream into punch bowl; stir in milk and liquor. Refrigerate for 20 to 30 minutes before serving. Stir, and ladle into punch cups. If desired, sprinkle with nutmeg. Makes about 25 four-ounce servings.

YULE LOG

To prepare frosting: Heat ½ cup heavy cream with instant coffee until granules dissolve. Cool. Cream margarine until fluffy. Gradually add cooled cream and enough confectioners' sugar to make a spreadable frosting, about 3½ cups.

Cut a diagonal slice about two inches at its widest side from one end of rolled cake. Set it in place, with a little frosting, on the side of the rolled cake to resemble a cut branch.

Cover entire cake with remaining frosting. Mark with spatula for a bark effect. Keep chilled until serving time. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

MILL VALLEY TRADITION

Mrs. Santa Banishes Any Trace Of Scrooge Feeling

By BETTY FROST

If anyone can exorcise the ghost of Scrooge, it must be Mrs. Santa Claus.

For the 10th holiday season, Elizabeth Peterson, 79, is taking her place behind the leaded glass windows of the Tamalpais Hardware Store on Miller Avenue in Mill Valley, waving at passersby until her bell bracelets jingle, and welcoming the Christmas confidences of children.

"Sometimes people pass by looking like there is no Christmas on earth, but Ijust rattle my bells until I get a smile out of them," she said.

Her appearances this year call for a special gallantry. Mrs. Santa has been ill, and needs to be helped to her rocker. The feet shod in black pumps with holly buckles don't work as well as she would like. She tires easily and has been forced to limit her sessions in the window to three, the Saturday, Monday and Tuesday before Christmas from 3 to 5 p.m.

THE CHILDREN, mesmerized by a kindly smile, easy chatter and gifts of small toys and cookies, find it easy to accept her. In her red velvet dress, white starched cap and heirloom apron, Mrs. Santa seems to be every youngster's ideal grandmother. She finds there are few children she can't reach.

This also is the 10th Christmas season for the Santa Claus who wanders the downtown area of Mill Valley from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day during the holiday season. Bruce Hildreth started donning the red suit and white whiskers when he was 16 years old.

Hildreth, a strapping 6 feet 4 inches tall, is impressive in his role. He stopped recently to chat with the frail and elderly Mrs. Santa. An odd kind of shop talk developed between the pair, who have become the best of friends.

CLAUS EXPLAINED that he often suggests the younger children visit Mrs. Santa, and Mrs. Santa frequently sends the bolder kids to him.

While other women are eager to fill the big boots of the traditionally male saint, Mrs. Peterson firmly expressed her preference for the Mrs. Santa part.

"It is unusual, and I have no competition," she said.

How did it all start? Ten years ago Mrs. Peterson lost her husband. She had returned to Edina, Minn., her previous home, to visit relatives. Her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Kerrigan, were worried about her. They had just opened the hardware store in Mill Valley. They thought it might cheer up Mrs. Peterson to assume the Mrs. Santa character, and that it would also make their first holiday season in the new business memorable.

MRS. PETERSON liked the idea. She had worked with children as a Sunday School teacher and in 4-H Clubs, and had trained to become a teacher. The pleasure of being with children helped her over a rough spot in her own life.

And that is how it happens that no one ever says "Bah, humbug" near a certain leaded glass window on Miller Avenue during the Christmas season in Mill Valley.

Improper Toys Still Take Unhappy Toll Of Injuries

(Second of two articles)
By JOAN LISETOR

Most close observers of children agree that a toy should be safe, fun to play with and allow the child to use his imagination.

Despite strong campaigns for toy safety and consumer awareness the National Electronic Injury Surveillance System reportsthat the number of toy-related injuries treated each year in hospital emergency rooms throughout the country, has not decreased. It remains in excess of 150,000.

The California Department of Consumer Affairs has issued a list of things to look for when purchasing toys.

It suggests that you:

Choose toys appropriate for the child's age and development;

Remember that younger brothers and sisters might be hurt by toys older children play with;

Make sure that the instructions which accompany the toy are easy to read and to understand, and teach the child to use the toy properly;

For small children, select toys too large to be swallowed and with no removable parts that can lodge in the child's ears, nose or throat;

Do not buy toys that can pinch fingers or toes or entangle in a child's hair;

Make sure the toy does not have a cord or string more than 12 inches long.

"IT IS terribly important that a toy be suitable for the age and interest of a child. A lot of parents rush to give their children toys beyond their maturity," said pediatrician Dr. Catherine Pike of Ross.

Dr. Pike, who also is an assistant clinical professor of psychiatry at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco, believes that the merchandising of toys, such as the Barbie doll, is particularly sad.

"Barbie becomes competitive. Whose Barbie has more clothes? This type of play imposes materialistic values on young children," she said.

Let a child know his interests are valued by giving him toys that relate to areas in which he has shown an interest, Dr. Pike said. This shows thae child you respect the fact that he has shown an interest in a subject.

BUILDING — Eric Charles, 8, of Kentfield, places a block on top of a tower he has built, while his 3-year-old sister Leslie plays nearby. Children appreciate toys such as blocks, according to the experts, because they encourage thinking, creating and imagination.

Children enjoy interacting with others and acting out their own feelings, according to Hoyt Howlett, principal of Coleman School in San Rafael. He suggests toys that allow this type of expression and also toys which children can use creatively.

THERE ARE two types of play activities children can engage in with toys, according to Norman S. Mitroff, Ph.D., of the Novato Center for Psychiatry. The first is an activity that requires skill — a child can win or lose based on his ability to engage in the skill activity — and the second is the type of play activity where winning or losing is a matter of chance, luck or fate, he said.

"In order to establish and develop a child's self esteem, it is crucial that a child be allowed to play with toys that combine both the skill factor

Survey Shows Women's Alcoholism Increasing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Women comprise 31 per cent of the new members of Alcoholics Anonymous in North America during the last three years, and now make up 28 per cent of the group's total membership, according to a survey.

Dr. John L. Norris, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the AA, disclosed the results of the study yesterday at the North American Congress on Alcohol and Drug Programs.

DR. NORRIS SAID the study was the latest of three made at three-year intervals, and each survey covered only the United States and Canadian branches of the organization, which numbers its worldwide membership of recovered alcoholics at 800,000.

He added that the survey sample involved 11,355 of the North American groups' estimated 285,000 members.

Among the other findings:

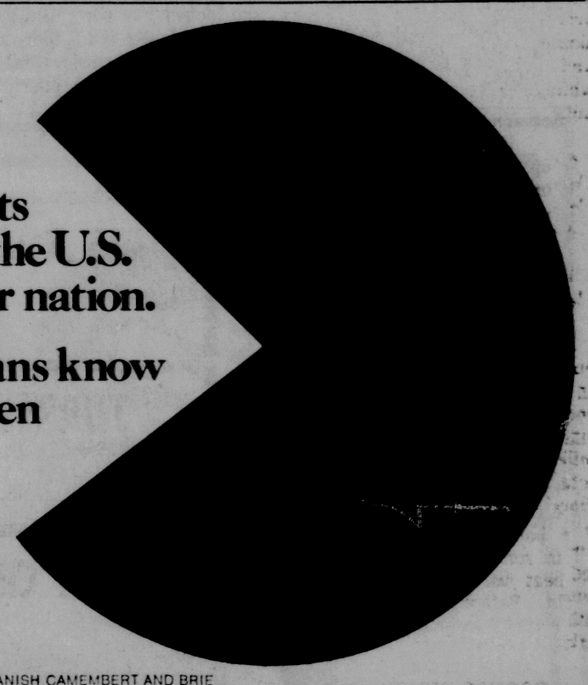

In a breakdown by occupation, 38 per cent of the sample's members are in the executive-professional-technical category. Blue collar and office clerical workers account for 32 per cent and 11 per cent said they were housewives.

Over the three surveys the age breakdown puts the 30-and-under segment of the sample between 6 and 7½ per cent of the North American membership while the 51-plus age group increases from 34 to 36½ per cent. But the 31-to-50 group decreases from 57 to 55 per cent.

More Defenders, Detractors Of Breast Feeding In Public

DEAR HELEN:

Thank you for sticking up for all us nursing mothers against "For Modesty," the woman who thinks breast-feeding is disgusting and immodest.

My daughter is 10 months old and I still find it one of the most beautiful, satisfying and loving things I can do for her.

When necessary, I've nursed her in restaurants, ladies' rooms, or department stores, and at the park on picnics. Only one person has ever left because she was "embarrassed."

I've found that men are more willing to accept public breast feeding than women . . . strange, isn't it? My husband is proud of me and supports me to do what I think best. — SUE T.

DEAR HELEN:

I couldn't agree more with your answer to that falsely modest woman who was offended by breast-feeding. You were just great, and I give you a hearty "Amen!"

My mother is one of those women, like "For Modesty," who can't mention sex, pregnancy, etc. without retreating to the back room and pulling the shades. I wish she had read your answer, though I'm afraid it wouldn't have changed her.

Anyway, you've gained fans by it, one of whom is a guy who just discovered you hidden away in the women's pages — me! — GARY

DEAR HELEN:

I disagree with you. "For Modesty" is right. I think its' disgusting to see someone breast-feeding in public (even with a shawl). I even see them doing it in church! And a chill runs down my spine.

I can't stand to see pictures of unclothed women, and think they shouldn't show people examining themselves for cancer on TV. Those naked breasts are sickening.

Bet you won't print this — S.M.

DEAR S.:

Bet you're wrong! — H.

P.S. In more ways that one!

DEAR HELEN:

What do you think about a couple who sent out divorce announcements? They were all printed up on flowered paper, and looked like news of a wedding until we read the word "divorce." The card explained they cared for each other but found it impossible to live together, and asked friends to remain on good terms with both. Then gave seaparate addresses.

Ye gods — next they'll be giving showers for the newly divorced . . . And "divorce presents!" — WHAT NEXT?

DEAR W.N.:

I see nothing wrong in sending out divorce announcements. Saves much embarrassment when people know the facts.

But the announcements should be in good taste. I've heard of some that reach for black humor and fall a mile short. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Would you please tell people that it doesn't help a depressed person to say "You don't have to look far to find someone far worse off than you are." It's true, but certainly no consolation when YOUR world has turned upside down. Far better to say, "I understand," and let the person talk it out. Often that's all he or she needs — a good listener. — BEEN THERE

DEAR B:

Right!!! — H.

LAURIE UDALOFF
Engaged

January Wedding Plans Are Revealed In Novato

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Udaloff of Novato have announced the engagement of their daughter, Laurie, to Ralph Boatman of San Anselmo.

The two plan to marry in January.

Laurie is the sister of Rick Udaloff of Petaluma and Rusty Udaloff of Novato. She is the granddaughter of Frances Ewing of Novato and Vena Udaloff of San Francisco.

She was graduated from Novato High School and attended the College of Marin and Santa Rosa Junior College. Laurie works at Terra Linda Veterinary Hospital.

Ralph is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Boatman of Athens, Tex., and the brother of Dan Boatman of Italy and Tracy Boatman of Monterey. He is employed with the City of San Rafael.

TOYS

and the chance factor," Dr. Mitroff said.

"It is best to start a child on a toy that involves only chance or luck so that the child's winning or losing does not adversely affect his concept of his ability to adequately compete with others," he said.

Dr. Pike suggests toys that grow, such as vegetables and flowers. Children can watch them, learn the concepts of plant life and the origin of food, she said.

Like plants, pets offer lessons in responsibility, according to Dr. Pike, who cautions against such pets as snakes, ocelots and monkeys.

"Exotic pets are difficult to care for and (it is) disappointing when they have to be given away or destroyed," she said. "Pets should be carefully selected. Very young children and very young puppies are not always a good combination.

"Mixed breed dogs are often hardier than highly bred ones with pedigrees, which are often chosen because they meet the needs of the parents."

What the experts seem to be saying is this:

If a toy encourages a child to think, use his imagination and create his own play, it will be loved and appreciated. It should be reasonably easy to use while at the same time providing a mental or physical challenge that falls short of frustration. A toy should be sturdy and pleasant to touch.

But, most of all, toys should be fun, according to the real experts — children.

Diplomat Makes Use Of Marinite's Skill

A United States ambassador to the United Nations will be sending Christmas cards this year which were drawn for him by a Marin woman.

Rey Collins, zoning enforcement officer for the County of Marin Planning Department, visited her longtime friend, Ambassador Francis L. Dale and his wife, Kay, at the American Embassy in Geneva this fall. At Mrs. Dale's request, Mrs. Collins made a sketch of the embassy. The Dales liked it so much they asked her to revise it for use on their Christmas card.

Mrs. Collins, who says art is an avocation, drew the card, had it printed in Marin, and shipped it to Geneva early this month.

Mrs. Collins' European trip also included stops in London, Shannon and Paris.

THREE-YEAR-old Kelly Reilly of Novato won the sportswear division of the Universal Pageant Systems "Our Little Miss" contest for 3 to 6-year-olds, held recently at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco.

Kelly, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Reilly III of Novato, also competed in the party dress division and was interviewed by a panel of seven judges. She also took part in the opening number of the pageant with the Ballet Celeste International directed by Merriem Lanova of San Francisco.

MR. AND MRS. Charles Robert Beebe, who eloped to Reno on Aug. 31, were honored Nov. 23 at a reception hosted by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Dunn of Novato.

The bride is the former Claudia Walters.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Charles Beebe of Novato are the bridegroom's parents.

Claudia is employed by Transamerica Insurance in San Francisco, and Charles works for St. Vincent's School for Boys.

Middle Age Ties To Who's Talking

Middle age is ordinarily defined as the years between 40 and 60 or 65, although perception of middle age varies between men and women and among social classes, according to a report in "Geriatrics" magazine.

White-collar groups perceive middle age starting at 50 and old age at 70, the magazine reports, whereas blue-collar workers see middle age beginning at 40 and old age at 60, indicating they feel "worn out" earlier than their white-collar counterparts.

The author of the report, Lawrence Greenleigh, M.D., recommends that individuals entering middle age take a "midlife inventory" to see where they have been and where they are going. This sets the stage for continuing personality development and lightens the burdens of traveling into old age, he concludes.

Letter To Share With Third Grade Student

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

(If you know a third grader, won't you please share this column with him or her).

Hi! I'm trying to write this column so that you can read it yourself. But if you have any trouble, I'm sure you can get an older friend or relative to read it with you. It is about getting along this year in school.

Now that you're in third grade, people expect you to behave in a grown-up way, to get on with schoolwork without being babyish about it.

There is nothing really hard about third grade work if you learned to read and write fairly well last year. But if you are weak in reading, and if you are still not catching up with the others, you should let someone know that you need tutoring right away.

I mean that. Don't wait until next spring, or the school will tell your parents it is too late and that you have to do the whole third grade over again. If you are having any trouble at all reading this column, then you need some special reading help.

I SUPPOSE you can tell time now. Do you know why it is one time in San Francisco and another time in London; or why the sun rises in Tokyo long before it does in Los Angeles?

And I'm sure you know that an island is a body of land surrounded by water. But what do you call a body of water surrounded by land?

What about following directions? Are you pretty good at that? If not then you ought to get your parents to make up some treasure hunts that will help you practice. I'm sure you have been on a treasure hunt.

Another skill you should be mastering is that of memorizing things. If your teacher is not helping you with this, then perhaps you need to ask your parents to give you items to memorize. Can you learn a different Bible verse every week? Or maybe a new poem? Or what about one of the songs you sing at school?

Do you know this one already?

"Twinkle, twinkle, little star;
How I wonder what you are!
Up above the world so high,
Like a diamond in the sky."

If you know that, then surprise your family and teachers by learning the second verse, too. It goes like this:

"When the blazing sun is gone,
When he nothing shines upon,
Then you show your little light,
Twinkle, twinkle, all the night."

BESIDES BEING good memorizers, third graders have to be good workers. They have to do a lot of things all by themselves, without the prodding of parents or teachers.

I suppose you already set the table without being asked to do so. But what about taking out the trash? And what about cleaning up scraps of paper from the schoolroom floor without being told to do so by the teacher?

Oh, yes, it's important to be helpful now that you are grown up and in the third grade.

Day Care Unit's Opening Delayed By Attitudes

The Larkspur-Corte Madera Extended Day Care Center did not open as scheduled last month, despite several months of planning.

A survey was taken in the spring which indicated that many families in the school district were interested in the service, according to Mary Dale Scheller, a member of the extended day care committee.

"I have a feeling that the people who need child care most couldn't let go of their private babysitters for a pilot program," Mrs. Scheller said.

Other parents with children in private schools indicated they would be willing to switch their children to public schools in the district once the program got going, she said.

When registration was too low to start the program the Parent-Teacher Association withdrew its sponsorship.

"There was an attitudinal thing," Mrs. Scheller said. "Some of the P-TA members felt mothers should stay at home."

Bidding War For Hunter Is Under Way

NEW YORK (UPI) — The bidding war for Jim Hunter officially starts today, but his old boss, Charlie Finley, isn't giving up without a fight.

Hunter, who became a free agent Monday when an arbitration panel ruled that his contract with the A's had been broken by Finley, yesterday was given the go-ahead by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn to begin listening to offers from the 24 teams, including Oakland, at 9 a.m. EST today. If he hears one he can't possibly refuse, Kuhn has ruled the 1974 American League Cy Young Award winner is free to sign any time after Sunday.

"The purpose of this procedure," the commissioner said, "is to assure Jim Hunter access to all clubs and to assure also that all clubs will have a fair opportunity to prepare themselves and to discuss the situation with him."

Finley, however, is seeking a restraining order in Alameda County Court in Oakland to prevent the other clubs from negotiating with Hunter. He also is asking the court to overturn the arbitrator's decision that made Hunter a free agent.

A hearing has been set for this afternoon and Richard Moss, counsel for the Major League Players Association who successfully argued Hunter's case before the arbitration panel, will oppose Finley's move. Finley will be represented by Neil Papiano, a prominent Los Angeles attorney.

Hunter has already said from his home in Hertford, N.C., that he is interested in "getting the most money" and it is generally believed that the bidding will start in the neighborhood of $1 million. A number of clubs have already expressed interest in signing the 28-year-old right-hander.

Hunter has been one of baseball's premier pitchers over the last four years. He won 25 games this past year and has had four straight seasons in which he has won 20 or more games.

The arbitration panel ruled Hunter was a free agent because it found the A's in violation of a two-year contract he signed with them last winter.

Hunter's contract for last season called for him to receive $100,000 a year, with the pitcher taking only $50,000 and Finley turning the other $50,000 to an investment insurance company. When Finley failed to comply, Hunter complained and Finley offered to pay him the remaining $50,000 in a lump sum. Hunter, however, protested that his contract was being violated and he sought to become a free agent.

The arbitration panel concurred with Hunter, saying "Mr. Hunter's contract for services to be performed during the 1975 season no longer binds him and he is a free agent.

"The club shall compensate Mr. Hunter in the amount deducted from his salary during the 1974 season, as deferred compensation, with interest from Aug. 1, 1974, at six per cent annum."

In seeking the court to overturn the ruling, Finley is expected to argue that the arbitrator exceeded his authority in granting Hunter his freedom. The arbitration decision was made in New York while the A's operate out of Oakland and Hunter is a resident of North Carolina.

Marin In Road Victory

ROCKLIN — The College of Marin Tars needed half a basketball game to get untracked from a two-hour bus ride last night to this town in Placer County. When they finally warmed up, they buried Sierra College, 87-59 in a non-league game.

Center Mike Dinehart, who led all scorers with 24 points, and forward John Channell keyed a second half explosion in which the Tars outscored the Wolverines, 51-30 and nailed down their sixth victory in eight games.

TRAFFIC

"We just didn't seem to get untracked in the first half," said Marin coach Jim Webster. "We got there late, there was heavy traffic, and we only had 15 minutes to warm up.

"In the second half we didn't press or anything, but our offense started to work."

Channell scored 12 of his game total 13 points after the intermission, and Dinehart added nine. They also anchored the boards for the Tars, who won the rebounding battle, 44-35.

'SCRAPPY'

"They were a very scrappy team," said Webster. "They really gave us a go in the first half, but I think it was just a matter of getting warmed up."

Webster praised the play of guard Hoza Wright, who started his second game in a row and finished behind Dinehart with 17 points.

Seals' Johnston Returns Tonight

The Seals returned home from a customary disastrous road swing that saw them lose three and tie one.

Terra Linda Rips Sonoma; Drake Turns Back Vallejo

Terra Linda High School, growing more powerful with each game, erupted for 32 points in the third quarter last night and went on to a 93-50 victory over Sonoma in a non-league basketball game at Sonoma.

In other games involving Marin County Athletic League teams, Drake swarmed over visiting Vallejo, 87-68, San Rafael beat Armijo in Fairfield, 46-43, Novato lost to Petaluma, 48-47 in Petaluma and Tamalpais lost to Balboa of San Francisco, 71-70 in Mill Valley.

Terra Linda, now 7-0, led by just six points at the end of the first half, "but in the third quarter we started to play our fast-break game, and Sonoma just wasn't in our league," said coach Fred Arnold. Forward Jim Cronin led the Trojan juggernaut with 20 points on 10 of 15 field goal attempts, even though he played just three quarters.

Arnold used reserves liberally, and was particularly pleased with Kevin Cottrell, who scored 11, and Mike Bird, who came in and ran the offense in the second half.

Drake 87, Vallejo 68

Acrobatic forward Walt Gillespie produced 31 points to lead Drake to its seventh win against two losses. The Pirates, whose defensive style shows no regard for their own safety, stole the ball 22 times and fastbroke their way to a 20-point lead in the third quarter.

Gillespie had 15 points in that period as he scored on every kind of shot save a dunk (he's only 6-foot-1). As a team Drake shot 49 per cent from the floor.

San Rafael 46, Armijo 43

Guard Steve Colombo sank two free throws with seven seconds left in the game to insure San Rafael's victory. Forward Mike Ellingson led the Bulldogs with 18 points, and he and guard Brian Hom keyed a strong defensive effort that limited the Indians to six points in the second quarter and seven in the third.

Petaluma 48, Novato 47

The Hornets blew an early lead and were unable to stop Rick Schroeder's, game-winning layup with just two seconds left. Forward Mike Morosky led Novato with 15 points, guard Steve Moore did likewise for Petaluma with 19. The Trojans played without star guard Dan Aldridge.

Balboa 71, Tamalpais 70

The Indians almost pulled off a successful comeback after trailing between six and 10 points the entire second half. Guard Dan Lucia scored five points in the final minute, including a jumper at the buzzer, but two free throws by James Gibson and one by Herbert Ward in the final 15 seconds sewed up the win for Bal. Kevin Murphy led Tam with 19 points.

Cards' Hart NFC Player Of Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — Quarterback Jim Hart, a one-time free agent who directed the St. Louis Cardinals to their first playoff appearance in 26 years, today was named the 1974 National Football Conference Player of the Year by United Press International.

The 30-year-old Hart, whose professional career appeared in jeopardy only one year ago because of an arm injury, came back to connect on 200 of 388 pass attempts this season for 2,411 yards and 20 touchdowns — the most scoring passes hurled by an NFC quarterback this year.

Under Hart's direction, the Cardinals posted a 10-4 record while winning the Eastern Division title and gaining the playoffs for the first time since the club moved from Chicago to St. Louis in 1960 and earning its first playoff spot since 1948.

Hart, who received 17 of a possible 39 votes in UPI's balloting of sports writers, three from each NFC city, beat out teammate Terry Metcalf and Minnesota running back Chuck Foreman for the honor. Metcalf, whose rushing, pass receiving and kick returns accounted for 1,985 yards in total offense, received nine votes and Foreman had eight.

Hart, who was bypassed in the 1966 college player draft after his graduation from Southern Illinois and signed with the Cardinals as a free agent, injured his passing arm when he was hit by Detroit defense tackle Herb Orvis in the 12th game of the 1973 season. He sat out the remainder of the campaign while complete rest and therapy was recommended but the pain lingered for months.

"It didn't come around as quickly as I thought it would," Hart recalled. "There was serious doubt in my mind about my future."

However, rather than risk surgery, Hart decided to wait and fortunately for both him and the Cardinals the arm began responding to treatment prior to the 1974 season.

"The offensive line and receivers must share the credit for this award," said Hart who didn't need to be reminded that St. Louis passers were sacked only 16 times — the lowest total in the National Football League this year.

Morris Doubtful Against Raiders

OAKLAND (UPI) — Explosive Miami scatback Mercury Morris, who battled knee problems all season, now appears doubtful for Saturday's playoff battle with the Oakland Raiders.

Dolphin Coach Don Shula said yesterday that, "Merc went down again in practice. His knee still feels weak. He's still a question mark."

Miami has a good one to back up Morris in rookie Ben Malone.

"We wouldn't be here thinking about playoffs and Super Bowl again if it weren't for young people like Malone,' the jut-jawed Dolphin coach said. "The Raiders are a better club than the one we beat in last year's playoff. Our preparation must be more intense. We have to realize that from now on it's one-and-out; and we're three games from where we want to be."

The Raiders also worked out hard yesterday, especially against Miami's disconcerting habit of taking the opening kickoff and marching to a touchdown to get an opponent behind before it can group its forces.

Of major concern is the condition of offensive tackle John Vella and cornerback Willie Brown.

Brown has come back almost 100 per cent from a knee injury, only to come up with a virus. Vella is battling an elbow injury and will start Saturday. Coach John Madden just hopes he can go the full distance.

Bears Want 'A Leader'

CHICAGO (UPI) — Take-charge-guy Jim Finks searched today for the "best man available ... a leader" to replace fired Chicago Bear Coach Abe Gibron and restore the Bears to their former stature.

Gibron, who had a combined 11-30-1 record in three years as head coach, and the entire Bear coaching staff were dismissed yesterday by the National Football League club.

"We're looking for the best man available," Finks said after telling a news conference that Gibron would not be back next year.

He said he would talk to anybody in any ranks in an effort to get the right man. That, Finks said, included men from the college ranks, the World Football League, the NFL and the Canadian Football League.

"I have no preconceived notion about a new head coach," Finks said. "The head man must be a leader. The man I'd like to see coach must have exceptional leadership ability ... and would be around a long time."

Finks, hired in September after taking the expansion Minnesota Vikings from obscurity to the Super Bowl and given complete control by the Halas family to revive past Bear glories, left little doubt about who was calling the shots now.

When Finks came to the Bears, George (Papa Bear) Halas and his son got completely out of operations connected with the field and made Finks general manager, executive vice president and chief operating officer. Finks is the only person, except Halas and his son, to ever hold such posts of distinction with the club.

"We're going to have a winner," Finks promised when he took over in September. He repeated that vow Sunday after the Bears' 42-0 drubbing by Washington in their final game of the season. And he repeated it again yesterday.

He said he hoped to have a new coach selected by the college draft on Jan. 27, and said from now until then he and other Bear personnel would scout the college bowl games and handle other responsibilities.

He answered a terse "No" when he was asked if he would take over as head coach.

Finks, who called Gibron a "class guy," said he did not know what the rotund, 300-pound Chicago native would do in the future but he was out of the Bear organization.

Gibron, 50, had been in the organization for 15 years, seven as an offensive guard and five as assistant coach before taking over as head coach in 1972 when Halas fired Jim Dooley.

Gibron has said he hopes to remain in football if he were axed by the Bears.

Blue Hit With Paternity Suit

Miss Duncan's suit said she had a baby girl Oct. 17 and that Blue is the father but has refused to pay for the child's support.

Rick's Night In 'Garden'

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Rick Barry is 25 pounds stronger than he was when he first entered the National Basketball Association nine years ago and 10 pounds faster than when he returned two years ago after a court-directed year's layoff and a four-year sojourn in the American Basketball Association.

The Golden State Warriors' golden-haired 6-foot-7 forward with a Midas touch from anywhere within 25 feet of the basket has grown from a lean scoring machine into a compleat two-way player, one who knows when to gamble on defense, pass off instead of taking a poor shot and is capable of giving a team inspiration and direction.

"I feel stronger than ever and fast, too," said Barry, the NBA leader in scoring (33.2 points per game), steals and free throw percentage. "I've filled out since my rookie year, especially in the upper part of my body, but I'm trimmer than I was a couple of years ago. I think I'm playing better overall basketball now than I ever have."

"If he ever played any better than he's playing this year, I'd hate to have been the other coach," said Warrior Coach Al Attles after Barry's virtuoso 44-point performance left the Knicks and the sell-out crowd of 19,694 in New York's Madison Square Garden in awe last night.

Among the spectators were several of the ABA's New York Nets, some of whom played with Barry while he was on their team.

"We came here to watch Barry shoot 'em out," said Billy Schaeffer. "He was too much for them tonight," said Julius "Dr. J" Erving, Barry's only competition, many experts believe, as the best forward in basketball.

Barry, the Warriors' captain, shot the Knicks out pretty convincingly in the first quarter when he reeled off eight straight shots to give the Warriors a 35-28 advantage going

Ford Not Expected For Game

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The White House has told officials of the East-West Shrine game that President Ford will probably ski with his family over the holidays in Vail, Colo., and miss the East-West classic Dec. 28 at Stanford.

President Ford had indicated while he was vice president that he might attend the game to receive the first annual Hollingberry Award, given to former players who have distinguished themselves in American life.

Officials said they would still hold seats for the President and his friends.

While the Shrine crew waited final word from the White House, the players spent the afternoon on a cruise of San Francisco Bay and last night attended some of the area's noted restaurants.

Oklahoma end Wayne Hoffman surveyed the Golden Gate harbor on a bright, clear day and conceded "we haven't got anything like this in Norman."

Each Christmas
the grown-up Clantons created chaos.

They played with the electric trains, the toy trucks, the balls and the bats. You name it.

Huskies To Hire New Coach Soon

Combined AP & UPI

SEATTLE — Athletic director Joe Kearney of the University of Washington hopes to be able to announce by Friday or Saturday the hiring of the new football coach for the Huskies.

Although it was known that California coach Mike White and his wife visited the Washington campus Monday, Kearney maintained his "no comment" stance to all questions regarding the number and names of applicants or prospects.

Questioned at a luncheon here, Kearney wouldn't say whether or not Dan Devine, who quit as coach of the Green Bay Packers and was hired as head coach at Notre Dame Monday, had ever been under consideration.

Baseball

PHILADELPHIA — The Philadelphia Phillies' 28-game spring exhibition schedule will include two games with the Nagoya Dragons, champions of the Japanese Central League.

It was announced yesterday that the Phillies will play the Japanese team at Clearwater, Fla. on Saturday afternoon March 8, and Tuesday, March 11.

Bicycling

PARIS — The 62nd running of the classic Tour De France cycling race will take competitors 4,000 kilometers — about 2,480 miles — around the nation to a grandstand finish in the heart of Paris on the Champs Elysees, the organizers announced yesterday.

Organizer Felix Levitan announced that the 1975 event would begin in the Belgian town of Charleroi June 26 and end July 20.

Tennis

SYDNEY, Australia — Australian John Newcombe scored a 6-4, 6-4 victory over West Germany's Uli Pinner in the second round of the New South Wales Tennis Championships.

Basketball

SAN FRANCISCO — The eighth annual Cable Car Classic steals the college basketball spotlight in Northern California this weekend, all the other games being contested on the road.

San Francisco hosts the tournament, one which brings together four teams with a combined 15-4 record. Unbeaten Michigan State (4-0) tops the guest list and will play the 4-1 Dons in the opening Friday. Santa Clara (4-1) and Long Beach State (3-2) meet in the second game.

General

NEW YORK — Sports Illustrated Magazine today named Muhammad Ali as the 1974 Sportsman of the Year. Ali, who regained the heavyweight title by knocking out George Foreman in Zaire, Africa, in October, is only the second fighter to be chosen by SI since the award was established in 1954. Ingemar Johansson was the winner in 1959. Last year Jackie Stewart was honored.

into the second period. A 13-2 burst in the next four minutes (capped by Barry's 25-foot jumper) gave Golden State an 18-point lead and the game was never closer than 10 the rest of the way.

"It's been a super year, just great," Barry said. "We've got some young players and man-for-man we may not be as good on paper as some other teams but collectively we've jelled together almost perfectly. It's a whole new team with a positive attitude. They don't care if I score more points than they do, they just care about winning."

Kings 111, Braves 110

Bob McAdoo scored 44 points for Buffalo and Jim McMillian, returning after missing nearly two months following an appendectomy, gave the Braves a 110-109 lead with 42 seconds left. But Ron Behagen tipped in a missed shot to give the Kings the victory. Scott Wedman's steal with 10 seconds left iced the victory for KCity-Omaha, which got 28 points from Nate Archibald, 23 from Behagen and 22 from Sam Lacey.

Hawks 96, Bullets 85

Atlanta answered a second-half Washington comeback attempt with a 16-6 scoring spree late in the third quarter and went on to whip Washington. Rookie John Drew paced Atlanta with 24 points on 10-of-15 shooting.

Bulls 87, Supersonics 84

Chicago scored eight points in the final 96 seconds to come from behind and beat Seattle.

76ers 113, Celtics 109

Philadelphia scored five points in the last 25 seconds to beat Boston. The Celtics led 109-108 when Clyde Lee tapped in a rebound with 25 seconds to go.

Rockets 109, Bullets 83

Calvin Murphy came off the bench to lead Houston with 25 points in a game marred by 63 personal fouls and three technicals. Pete Maravich was held to just 14 points for New Orleans.

Cavs 119, Lakers 106

Blazers 119, Bucks 103

Sidney Wicks scored 25 points to lead Portland to its first victory over Milwaukee in two years. Wicks also pulled in 19 rebounds and handed out eight assists to give the Blazers their second straight victory and move them into second place in the Pacific Division.

Prep Tourneys On Road

Marin Catholic, crippled on offense by the loss of star forward Mike Mahoney, travels to Santa Rosa tonight for the start of the Rose City basketball tournament at Cardinal Newman High School.

Two other Marin County Athletic League teams are also entered in tournaments outside the county this week. Redwood will be seeking its second championship in two weeks starting tomorrow night in the Amador Valley Classic at Pleasanton, and San Marin plays Friday night in the opening round of the Petaluma Classic.

Mahoney, the only returning player from last year's all-MCAL team, suffered a torn tendon when he turned his right foot last Friday night during the Redwood Empire Invitational at Healdsburg. That finished him for the tournament, (the Wildcats lost the championship game the next night), and now it appears he may be lost for the year.

"He's got a splint on the foot now," says Marin Catholic coach Joe Burke, "and tomorrow the doctor will determine if he'll have to wear a cast." If he does, he'll probably be lost for the season."

Dave Donati, a 6-foot-4 junior who has been the Wildcats' sixth man, will start in place of Mahoney.

Marin Catholic faces host team Cardinal Newman in tonight's feature game at 8:30. The Cardinals, one of the tourney favorites, are led by center Jerry Robinson, who has averaged nearly 18 points per game so far, and forward Pat Fitzgerald, son of coach John Fitzgerald.

Other teams in the tourney are St. Patrick of Vallejo, Napa, Casa Grande of Petaluma, Riordan of San Francisco, Crestmoor of San Bruno and Montgomery of Santa Rosa. Montgomery beat Marin Catholic in the Redwood Empire championship game.

Redwood was impressive in winning the first Wine Valley Classic last week at Napa, but coach Dick Hart says that in the Amador Valley Classic, "we may be in over our head." Fremont and Bishop O'Dowd of Oakland, the third and sixth ranked teams in the East Bay, lead a field that Hart says will be "much more difficult" than Wine Valley.

The Giants meet Dublin tomorrow night in the final game of the first round at 8:30.

Top players in the tournament include Keith McDonald, a guard who led Fremont to the tourney title last year and went on to be named all-Oakland Athletic League, and O'Dowd's Grantland Bailey, a guard who set the tourney scoring record two years ago as a sophomore with 36 points.

The rest of the field is composed of Washington of San Francisco, Richmond, Mission San Jose and Amador Valley.

San Marin will be looking for its first victory of the year Friday night against Piner of Santa Rosa as they four-team Petaluma Classic gets underway.

Piner is led by 6-4 center Tom Mertle, one of the top players in the Sonoma County League. Without a big man to balance him, the Mustangs will have to depend on the outside shooting of forward Brian Duncan and guard Steve Ghirardo.

Host team Petaluma, led by guard Dan Aldridge and forward Kriss Mungle, should be the favorite. Orland of Glenn County is the other team entered.

A Short Rest For Casals

SAN FRANCISCO — Tennis star Rosie Casals of Sausalito is calling it a short retirement. Miss Casals said yesterday at a press conference that she was tired and will leave the tour for four months after playing in the Virginia Slims opener in San Francisco Jan. 6-11 at Civic Auditorium.

"It's hard to retire with the kind of money they're putting up for women's tennis these days," she said, "but I've been playing tournament tennis six or seven days a week for seven or eight years now and I simply need a rest."

She will continue to play in matches around the Bay Area to keep in shape for the start of World Team Tennis early in May.

"It's going to be a short retirement," she said, "but I felt I had to play in San Francisco."

Rosie, ranked No. 3 in the U.S., learned the game on courts in San Francisco and would like nothing better than to win the Virginia Slims event in her hometown. She lived most of her life in San Francisco before buying a home in Sausalito a couple of years ago.

"But after seven or eight years you reach a point when you are stale, tired, fatigued."

She said there were no plans for a match between herself and Bobby Riggs and that such talk has died down. "The timing was wrong for us to have a match," she said. But, Rosie laughed, "He's probably done more for women's tennis than Billie Jean King."

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Licensing Question Comes Up Again

It's now about two years since the Coast Guard went on record as being in favor of pleasure boat operator licensing.

The Coast Guard has had its hands full implementing the major features of the Federal Boat Safety Act which became law about the same time. Therefore nothing has been done about licensing. This delay is something that is heartily cheered by opponents of licensing.

Licensing has many opponents — largely boat owners who have learned the necessary boating skills, and manufacturers of marine products.

It used to be that practically every boat owner was opposed to licensing, but since the number of boats has proliferated over the past two years, I find many owners now accepting the inevitability of licensing. There are so many poorly trained skippers on the waterways.

One of the major arguments in favor of licensing is that it will expose boat operators at least to some boating education and safety instruction. The opposition believe that licensing will drain away and waste the available money that is now going into proven educational programs of the Coast Guard Auxiliary and the U.S. Power Squadrons, and would make boatmen complacent as to their responsibilities once they have a license.

The industry's opposition was best summed up by Armand Hauser, of Mercury Marine, the then president of the National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers. He said: "Nobody will be a better boatman by taking a written test and getting a certificate to hang on his wall — which has been the basis of all licensing proposals to date."

It would be a shame if some of the excellent educational programs now in existence were lost by a dilution of the available funds. Knowledge and know-how are of consuming interest to many boatmen as the questions we get indicate:

Q. At a series of lectures I was taking, the instructor told us always to cut across big waves at an angle. How big an angle?

A. About 45 degrees. This is good advice if you are in a small boat and you are crossing the wake of a big one.

Q. I was in an argument. If a boat is overtaking me, I have right of way but do I have any responsibility to the overtaking boat?

A. Definitely. Maintain a reasonably constant speed and course until the overtaking boat is past. Don't do anything which isn't a reasonable act for the other guy to expect.

Q. When I overtake a boat in a channel can I overtake him on either side?

A. Generally speaking, yes. Some states, however, (Iowa, for instance) have state laws which require overtaking on the left, as on the highway, except in an emergency. Also, remember you can't force another boat over to let you pass. He's the privileged boat and has the right of way. You must keep clear until well past him.

Q. What's a diaphone signal?

A. It's the technical word to describe the two-tone foghorn on lighthouses or lightships. It's a mournful sound. The second note is always lower than the first.

Q. In even a mild wind a lot of spray comes over our boat. Anything we can do?

A. Try putting spray rails on. They are just strips extending back from the bow just above the water line. Another thing, when it's blowing, move weight to the back of the boat, keeping the bow light. It will rise better and shed spray.

Q. My charts show "flashing" and "occulting" lights. They both flash, what's the difference?

A. Flashing lights blink on at intervals (they're off more than they're on), and occulting lights blink off at intervals (they are on more than they are off).

Q. What's broaching?

A. It's the action of getting out of control and being caught broadside to the waves . . . an extremely dangerous situation in rough water. The original expression was "broaching to."

LAIDLAW'S BIG NIGHT

North Rallies For Victory

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — When the rosters were made up for the 37th Blue-Gray football classic, North coach Jack Christiansen of Stanford made sure running back Scott Laidlaw was included.

It was Laidlaw of Stanford who scored a third quarter touchdown to keep the Blues in the running and then set up a fourth quarter score last night to give them a 29-24 come from behind victory over the Grays.

The Grays, based on an eight-yard touchdown run by quarterback Steve Fowler of Memphis State and a 25-yard scoring pass to Brad Boyd of Louisiana State, led the Blues 17-14 at the half.

In the third quarter it seemed that the Grays would put it out of reach as Jay Lynn Hodgin of South Carolina, the game's most valuable player and the workhorse of the South's running game, scored on a 10 yard jaunt.

But Laidlaw, who along with Chuck Heater of Michigan were the main forces in the North offense, scored on a five-yard run in the final minutes of the third quarter.

Then with just over two minutes left in the game, Laidlaw broke through the tough South defensive line for a 20-yard run down to the Gray nine. Two plays later, Steve Joachim went over from the one to put the Blues ahead for good.

But the Blues immediately drove down the field and Mike Grogan of Kansas State threw a two-yard scoring pass to Mark Miller of Missouri.

After Fowler's first score, Scott Pickens of Missouri picked off a Fowler pass at the South 16 and returned it for a touchdown.

In practice, it appeared that the South offense would be the big question mark in the game. Both Christiansen and South coach Dave Smith of SMU agreed that the North seemed to have the better offense and the South the better defense.

But the South proved to be a potent force as Fowler passed for 163 yards and Hodgin racked up 117 yards on 22 carries to set a new Blue-Gray rushing record.

The series is now Gray 20, Blues 15 and one tie.

Redwood Scores Wrestling Win

MORAGA — Redwood High School scored six pins yesterday enroute to a 39-33, nonleague wrestling victory over Campolindo.

The victory was the third for the Giants against two losses. Dave Goepp of Redwood remained unbeaten with a pin in his match at 120 pounds. He has won seven times and drawn once.

Raiders, Dolphins Dominate AFC Team

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Miami Dolphins and Oakland Raiders, who meet Saturday in a first round NFL playoff game, placed 19 players between them among the 40-man American Football Conference squad named today for the Pro Bowl game Jan. 20 at Miami.

The Dolphins, seeking a third successive Super Bowl title, are represented by 10 players and the Raiders by nine. The other two AFC playoff teams, Pittsburgh and Buffalo, landed six and two spots, respectively.

Among the Miami representatives will be quarterback Bob Griese, running back Larry Csonka, and wide receiver Paul Warfield, although none of the three were designated as starters in the voting by the 13 AFC head coaches.

The starting backfield named was quarterback Ken Stabler of Oakland, running backs O. J. Simpson of Buffalo and Otis Armstrong of Denver and wide receivers Cliff Branch of Oakland and Isaac Curtis of Cincinnati.

Kansas City is represented by three players, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Denver two each, and the New York Jets, Houston, Buffalo and Baltimore one each. New England is not represented.

This year's Pro Bowl will be played for the first time on a Monday night, in the Orange Bowl. The AFC won the last three games.

The AFC squad:

A Near-Upset For U.S. Skier

MADONNA DI CAMPIGLIO, Italy (UPI) — Defending World Cup champion Piero Gros of Italy beat back a surprise challenge from America's Greg Jones today to win his second giant slalom of the season and move into second place in the overall cup standings.

Gros, 20, set the pace on the first run in one minute 32.66 seconds. His second run was a slow 1:32.72, but it was good enough to win the event by seventh-tenths of a second over Jones.

Gros' combined time was 3:05.38 to 3:06.08 for Jones, 21, of Tahoe City, Calif. Italy's Tino Pietrogiovanna was third in 3:06.68.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Real Estate Look Not Totally Bleak

By DAVID R. SARGENT

Q. Real estate investment trust stocks now are so depressed that I wonder if it wouldn't be a good time to buy for their high yields? G.R.

A. For this beleaguered industry, already wounded by overbuilding and spiraling materials costs, the high interest rates of the past year have come close to administering the final blow. Consumer confidence is very low, which for REITs means that non-earning problem loans continue to grow as retailers, businesses and condominium buyers back away from making long-term commitments. However, the outlook is not entirely black. Banks are providing funds, though the price is steep, typically involving interest charges well in excess of prime, restrictions on dividend payments and future loan commitments. These restrictions foster the orderly reduction of a REIT's outstanding loan portfolio, with the proceeds of maturing investments paying off bank loans.

More and more REITs are shucking the role of passive investor and this non-trust status could prove the salvation of many. However, because such a move would limit the potential for dividends, I would suggest looking elsewhere for more dependable income producing vehicles.

Q. At present, I have $20,000 that I want to invest but am undecided as to what investment might be most beneficial. What I would like is an investment which would yield the highest return, provide safety of principal, ready negotiability and be highly liquid. Should I choose one of the money market funds or government bonds? V.M.

A. As far as safety and negotiability are concerned, Government Bonds are top scorers. These same high marks are not shared by their yield or liquidity characteristics. Money market funds offer an excellent compromise between yield, safety, liquidity, and negotiability. The five largest funds in this field — assets of $100 to $600 million — are yielding 9 per cent to 10 per cent currently, despite the swift decline in short-term interest rates since June. In order to further reduce any possible risk factor, you might consider dividing your investment dollars between two of these short-term money market funds.

Wall Street Bucks News Of Troubles

NEW YORK (UPI) — Investors ignored some disturbing economic news and pushed prices higher today on the New York Stock Exchange in an extension of yesterday's late session rally.

Darkening the economic picture, General Motors Corp. announced it will lay off 41,000 more workers during the first quarter of next year, raising the company's total number of indefinite furloughs to 91,000 by the end of January.

Home Furnishings Showcase To Be Opened In Mill Valley

A home furnishings showcase, with 60 rooms completely furnished and accessorized with American traditional furniture, will open in Mill Valley on Dec. 27, two days after Christmas.

Called Ethan Allen Yeager's Carriage House, the million-dollar building is a white Georgian structure at 1060 Redwood Highway, on the east side of Highway 101 just north of Tiburon interchange. President of the new store is Herbert C. Yeager of Santa Rosa, who has been in the business for 20 years and has operated Yeager's Carriage House in Santa Rosa since 1969.

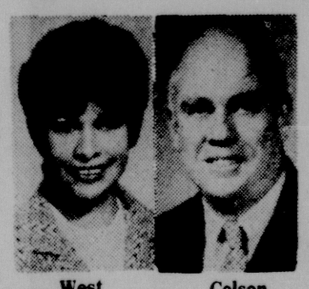

The 15,000-square-foot display area is divided into a series of furnished rooms to appeal to all tastes — from the hunting-lodge type of room for the outdoorsman to richly decorated parlors for the fashion-conscious.

In addition to living rooms, bedrooms and dining rooms of various colors and decor, the showcase has an entertainment room with bar and refrigerator; a country kitchen; a fashion center with sample rugs, drapes and accessories; a gourmet section; a metal shop with copper, brass and pewter; a clock shop; and a gift area with a complete line of crystals. While mothers browse, they may leave their children in the Kiddie room filled with toys.

Wally Donaldson of Santa Rosa, the store manager, plans to move to Marin. John W. (Jack) Parker Jr. of Mill Valley is merchandiser for both the Mill Valley and Santa Rosa stores. The new Yeager's Carriage House will be open seven days a week (Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m.) and until 9 p.m. on Monday, Thursday and Friday.

MARY F. WEST of Novato was named operations officer and department head, business account analysis, in Wells Fargo Bank's data processing division, San Francisco.

Mrs. West has served with the data processing division since she joined the bank in 1973 with 11 years of previous banking experience.

West Colson

GEORGE P. COLSON, manager and president of Engineering Field Services in San Rafael, announced that the company is now completely employee-owned.

Colson said his company is being reorganized, with some of its older records and maps, surplus to the corporation's needs, disposed of to make operations more efficient. He also intends to expand the company's activities to Middle Eastern countries where he was engaged in survey work in the 1950's. "This operation will not diminish any services now offered by Engineering Field Services in San Rafael or St. Helena," said Colson.

Engineering Field Services, doing land surveying in Marin since 1960, is a successor to Oglesby, Jacobs and Wickham.

ALKOV GOURMET DELI will be the new name of Gai's Gourmet Deli & Restaurant in Forest Knolls when a new owner takes over the operation in January.

Lawrence Gai of Pinole, who has owned the place for three years, will sell the business to Alexander Kovaleff of Novato, who manages Jack's Drugs in San Anselmo. Kovaleff will continue at Jack's Drugs, where he has been for five years.

Kovaleff said his Alkov Gourmet Deli will add hot food, home-made salads, and various soft good items to serve the community. He plans to refurbish the patio area to provide about 30 seats for both indoor and outdoor dining.

After selling his Forest Knolls business, Gai will devote his attention to Gai's Roost, a grocery store and delicatessen in Lagunitas, which he opened in October of 1973.

LESON SECURITY Systems, which installs silent or audible alarms for homes and businsses, has been established in Sausalito by Don S. Leson of 62 Marin Street. The firm installs alarms for burglary, fire and smoke and also does private investigative work. The alarms can be installed to go directly to the police station or to a central station.

Leson, formerly executive vice president for American Sentry Systems in San Rafael, has been in the business for two and one-half years. Leson Security is open seven days a week.

LOTTE'S RINGS & Things at 7 Main Street (inside The Ragged Sailor Gallery) in Tiburon announced it has redecorated and expanded its display area to create a new look.

Owner Lotte Murphy said the increased space allows her to add a wide selection of American Indian jewelry and turquoise, and selected works of Bay Area craftsmen and women.

RONALD E. OPFER of Novato was promoted to assistant manager of Factory Insurance Association's Pacific regional office in San Francisco.

Opfer joined Factory Insurance Association in 1954 in Toledo, came to the San Francisco office in 1967 and has been executive assistant to the division manager since 1971. Factory Insurance Association is an organization of leading insurance companies providing fire and allied peril insurance for major industrial installations in the nation.

GATEWAY TO ANOTHER AGE

The Boyd House on B Street — framed by hedges and a black grill gate — glistens in all of its gingerbread wonder. Remodeling is nearing completion on the building built in 1880 when arched roofs and windows, open lace work and bracketed cornices were architecturally corret and very fashionable. For another picture, see page 1. (Photos by Bob Hax)

ANGLES AND CURVES — The pitched and pointed Boyd House roof, the fancy lacework tucked beneath it and curving teeth-like decoration are all prime examples of Victorian architecture in its glory.

THE FILLING — Part of the charm of the Boyd House is the intricate woodwork. The porch offers an excellent example — squares divided into triangles and filled with fancy cutwork.

GINGERBREAD TRIM — Resembling toys which could be right out of a Victorian trunk, these gingerbread cutouts are part of the charm of the mansion which is undergoing a $50,000 facelifting — both inside and out.

LION IN THE WINTER — A cast iron lion, which has guarded the Boyd Huse main gate for 94 years, looms out in the wintry fog.

'Jumpers' Has Elusive Wisdom

By BLAKE A. SAMSON

SAN FRANCISCO — Tom Stoppard's crazy yet tantalizing play, "Jumpers" opened last night at the Geary Theater to baffle the mind and tickle the funnybone.

Stoppard is the obtuse but very funny genius of the modern stage and his clever, laugh-provoking high comedy has a mercurial, elusive wisdom that stimulates the intellect and hits deeply.

As directed by ACT's William Ball, the plot would seem simple enough. A star singer, Dorothy Moore (Hope Alexander-Willis) suddenly retires and marries a professor of moral philosophy. Many years later, at a loud party in their living room, a gymnast is shot and a Scotland Yard type comes to investigate. it seems a mystery play but is instead a play that is mysterious.

Set in an ultramodern penthouse designed by Robert Blackman, its humor comes from the most traditional of means, the monologue, the pun, malapropisms, displaced logic, the epigram cleverly twisted. It is eccentric, absurdist, dadaist theater with a traditional core.

Stoppard repeatedly uses an old trick of Oscar Wilde's. His professor's rhythms and syntax suggest that what he says is a maxim or universal law of great import until its absurdity becomes apparent.

He declaims, for example, that an arrow half way, a quarter of the way, an eighth of the way to its target, never gets there. St. Sebastian, therefore, died of fright.

The professor's greatest joy is to jump to a conclusion. His long monologues are dictated to a silent secretary (Barbara Dirickson). "New paragraph," actor William Paterson shouts with glee and an overbite. "Insert!...Cogito ergo Deus est." It is a triumph.

Only for one moment does the philosophic charade falter, permitting a glimpse of the frightened inner man: "How does one know what to believe?" he shouts. No, the question is too much for his superficial perceptions. The outcry only triggers another philosophic debate.

To his wife's pleas for guidance, he can only say, "You are the wife of an academic, therefore twice removed from the center of things." He cannot even realize that, in fact, she is right there in the center, frail, wrought, nerves exposed and raw.

Gripping her sides as if she would otherwise come apart, Miss Alexander-Willis tells us in a riveting scene how her life suddenly became meaningless. The men had landed on the moon. "It was," she says, "as if a unicorn had been shown on TV." The moon, her life, like the unicorn, was no longer mysterious.

Matching their superb performances, Earl Boen, the cockney inspector, looks like Salvador Dali and is as cocky as Tom Spade, while Ray Reinhardt (Archie, the wife's psychiatrist) is the most eccentric in a play of eccentrics. The four are ACT's strongest cast in memory, as the play enters ACT's repertory.

This play hits home. The first night audience loved it; I suspect most will.

'Winegate' Justice

BORDEAUX, France (UPI) — A Bordeaux judge today sentenced seven wine merchants to prison terms of up to one year and fines on charges they sought to sell cheap wine in France and abroad under the label of expensive brands.

Senators Pursue Watergate Lesson

With our attention concentrated on the twin problems of inflation and recession, there is danger that we may forget some of the lessons of Watergate, or fail to follow up on them.

One of those lessons is — or should be — that we cannot permit the uncontrolled growth of secret intelligence agencies within the government if we wish to remain a free people. The roles of the Central Intelligence Agency, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Secret Service and "White House plumbers' in the assortment of illegal and unconscionable activities lumped together was "Watergate" proved the danger.

AT LEAST TWO senators — both Republicans who were members of the Ervin Committee — have not forgotten that lesson.

Senators Howard F. Baker of Tennessee and Lowell Weicker of Connecticut have introduced a bill to make all intelligence gathering agencies subject to control by a new 14-member Senate-House Joint Committee on Intelligence Oversight.

As it stands, there is presumed oversight of the various agencies by an assortment of committees. In practice, the agencies operate virtually without congressional control. Moreover, except for the FBI, all or part of their budgets are hidden in the budgets of various government departments or in that of the president himself.

THE BILL introduced by Baker and Weicker provides:

"No funds may be appropriated for the purpose of carrying out any intelligence or surveillance act or operation by any office, or any department or agency of the federal government unless such funds for such activity or operation have been specifically authorized by legislation enacted after the date of enactment of this act."

This would cut CIA, National Security Agency and the rest of them off at the pockets. They would have to disclose to the congressional committee what they planned to do with the money.

It is doubtful whether any committee of 14 senators and representatives, of both parties, would approve some of the activities that have come to light both in this country and abroad.

IN INTRODUCING the bill, Senator Weicker said:

"It is the duty of Congress, not the option in a democracy, to police the vast American intelligence setup . . . We can no longer tolerate 'briefing systems' in which agency spokesmen tell a select few in Congress what they feel like telling them."

Weicker recognized the need for secret intelligence gathering in the conduct of foreign affairs. But, he insisted, it is not the province of the agencies under the Constitution to gather what they please, withhold what they please, disclose what they please.

"It is up to the agency to justify withholding information, not up to representatives of the people to justify obtaining it," he declared.

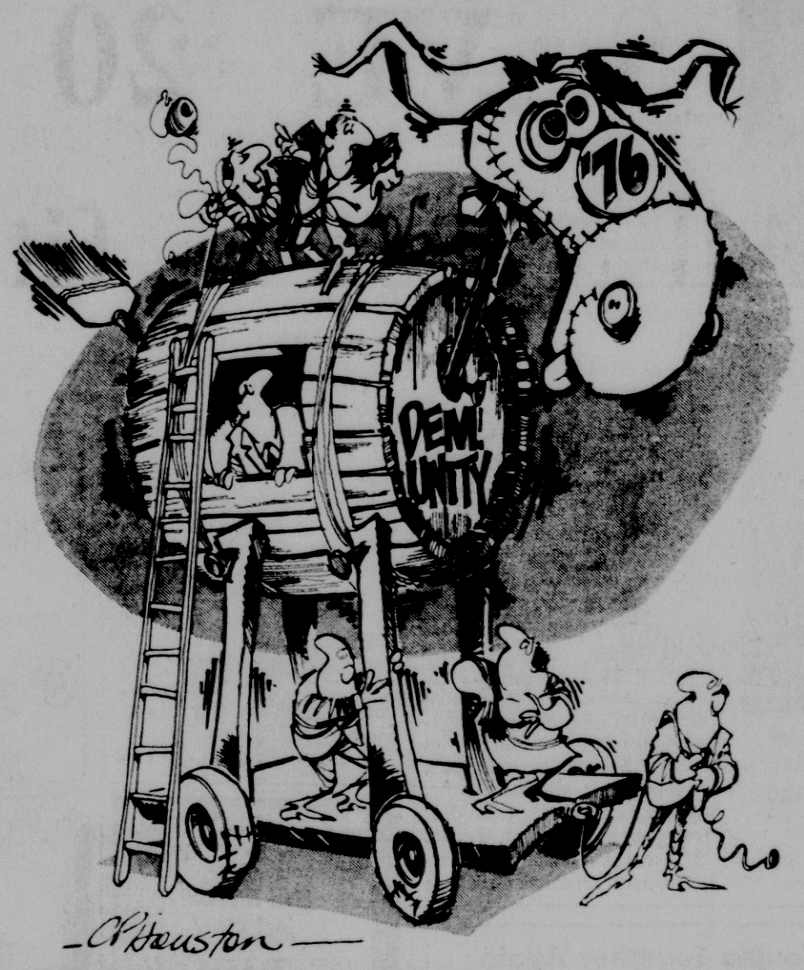

Anticipating an outcry that any disclosure to Congress would lead to security risks, he asserted:

"It is the non-accountable security risk who resides in the agency that I fear most. It is the 'no people's judgment' government that we seek to eliminate here."

Senators Weicker and Baker are on the right track with this proposed reform. There has been and is too much government secrecy. It has been and is used too often, not for any real purpose of security, but to hide activities that trample on the rights of Americans. True security seldom requires secrecy.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND:

Ample Reasons Why Democrats Anxious To Avoid Repetition Of Miami Convention

WASHINGTON — To understand why the Democratic moderates, conservatives and party regulars shed such blood, sweat and tears in shaping the new charter, one must see why they view with absolute horror any prospect of repeating a Miami-type convention in 1976.

Buy why?

IT WAS AN ORDERLY convention, wasn't it?

The McGovern nomination responded to the views of the great majority of those who were chosen to do the nominating, didn't it?

It was all of these things, and I'll tell you why most Democrats are determined it will never happen again.

They see Miami-'72 as a convention produced by political tactics and party rules which enthroned almost exclusively the power of the zealots.

They see Miami-'72 as a convention which was organized to ignore the will, the wishes and the interests of rank-and-file Democrats who didn't have the fire to take over the selection of delegates at the grass roots.

These are some of the reasons most Democrats do not want any return to quotas — mandatory or implied — for delegates, and why they believe that any attempt to match up a number of youth, elderly, blacks and women in keeping with their percentage of the population will lead only to another minority nominee.

THERE IS EVERY desire and disposition among the Democrats to open the party's decision making and its delegate selection to full and ready participation by every interested Democratic and independent voter. They see this as the best chance to a 1976 presidential ticket which will reflect party rank and file and therefore have the best chance of winning.

In a scholarly treatise on party conventions, Dr. Jeane Kirkpatrick, a political science professor at Georgetown University, points out that Miami-'72 was a convention which wanted to "reform" voter opinion rather than respond to it and was wholly insulated or wishful in weighing the prospects of winning. She discovered that only 15 per cent of the McGovern delegates thought their candidate would lose, while more than 50 per cent of the delegates who did not want McGovern expected Richard Nixon to win.

Today's party professionals want wider, not narrower, rank-and-file participation. They do not want to go back to closed doors and smoke-filled rooms. But they point out that they did pretty well with such pre-Miami nominees as Woodrow Wilson, Franklin Roosevelt, Harry Truman, John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson.

They want to be sure that electability doesn't become a dirty word.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON:

Senate Losing Three Giant Individualists

WASHINGTON — There always have been camps in Washington of men and women who have served in or covered the House or the Senate for many years, and who have the loftiest contempt for "the other body," whichever that may mean to them.

Having been plumped down into the Senate gallery the day I came to work here, when Lyndon Johnson, Jack Kennedy, Harry Byrd Sr., Dick Russell, Lister Hill, Paul Douglas, Everett Dirksen, Bob Kerr and Estes Kefauver all were riding high, I could hardly help becoming a partisan of the north end of the Capitol.

Not that there was or is anything inferior about the House. That was the time of Sam Rayburn, too. Then and since, I have learned disproportionately more about the substance of legislation from House members than ever from senators. But until you have lived in it every day for half a lifetime, the House remains confusing. It deals in battalions rather than individuals.

You cannot quantify the Senate. If you could, you could assign some numerical weight to the 11 men who are leaving it this week.

Together they represent 199 years of experience on the Hill, 179 of that in the Senate itself. If you had your own battalion of researchers, you could look up how many bills they had introduced and how many of those passed into law.

But you do not measure senators in numbers. Some are towering men whose statues already should stand in the Rotunda, and others have been there through five or six presidents and remain anonymities.

Right.

Of course, Peter Dominick of Colorado, Ed Gurney of Florida and Norris Cotton of New Hampshire will be remembered at least briefly, for something. They had in common a particularly aggressive affection for regression, and Cotton was famous as far as the Grant Monument for his bow ties and two-tone wing tips. Wallace Bennett of Utah was once president of the National Association of Manufacturers, and every time he stood you heard the NAM speaking.

Harold Hughes of Iowa had hardly arrived before people were mentioning him for president, but then he got religion. Alan Bible of Nevada was here for two decades, and he would not have been recognized on the street more than a block away from the Senate Office Building.

WHICH LEAVES the three you picked — George Aiken of Vermont, Bill Fulbright of Arkansas and Sam Ervin of North Carolina. Two atypical Southern Democrats and a flinty Vermonter, they have in common abundance the things the word "Senate" evoked in our great-grandparents' chapbooks.

Integrity. Brains. Courage. Style. Conscience. Dedication. Eloquence. Yet with just enough contradictions, especially in the civil rights records of Ervin and Fulbright, to return to my original point. They have been quintessential senators because they are individuals, mixtures — but above all, men who stood up.

So when the Senate is gaveled shut this time, we here in this town of transients will wave to all 11 of these — after all, only one has been indicted for anything.

But in these special three, we realize now as we have for years past, we see monuments to the Senate and to our system. They will be back later, in bronze.

'Silver Fox' Loses Fur, But Still Has His Teeth

By EARL G. WATERS

Well, the "young Turks" finally got a bit of the old "Silver Fox's" fur. The "new breed" state senators brought to heel Sen. Randolph Collier, after whom they have been yipping ever since their advance guards moved over from the Assembly following the 1966 court-ordered legislative reapportionment. At least they think they have nipped him since, faced with dethronement as finance chairman, Collier opted to step down in a move to regain his old Transportation Committee.

To what degree the liberals have reduced Collier's power in Senate affairs remains to be seen. He has more political lives than a cat. When it comes to boxing him in, he is as slippery as an eel. He has forgotten more about politics than most of his young colleagues will ever learn.

FIRST ELECTED in 1938, Collier is the undisputed dean of the Legislature, with only Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, elected in 1940, close behind. Collier has held office as a senator longer than any one in this history, of the state. He is approaching the overall record for legislative service established by Herbert W. Slater, who served four years in the Assembly and 33 years in the Senate.

He started out as a Republican, but the people of his district didn't much care what party he belonged to. They gave him both party nominations six times in a row. The last time was in 1962 when, following the abolition of cross-filing, Collier switched over and registered as a Democrat. The Republicans wrote him in as their candidate anyway. After the court-ordered reapportionment in 1966, Collier found himself running in a district enlarged from two counties to seven. It didn't matter. He has run three times in the new district, gaining strength each time. His last opponent woke up so badly defeated he is still groggy. Collier got three votes to every one of his.

Collier came into his own as a lawmaker at the close of World War II when he undertook the Senate studies which led to development of the state's modern freeway system. He became known variously as "Senator Gas Tax" and "the Statesman." He ruled the Senate Transportation Committee with a mighty hand, dominating all highway legislation. Upon the death of Sen. George Miller Jr., he succeeded as chairman of the most powerful of committees, Finance. It's power stems from the house rule which ordains that any measure suspected of having a cost must be processed through it.

IN THE OLD SYSTEM, operating without roll calls, the chairman often appeared to rule with a heavyhand. What the uninitiated didn't know was that any time the committee didn't agree, the chairman could have been overruled. The senators, being politicians, liked it that way. It gave them a chance to say they favored a different result without any roll call to belie them. But the young senators clamored for recorded votes. Having gained that, they still seemed to think Collier had too much power.

They may soon come to miss not having a strong hand to guide them. For Collier's years in the Legislature have instilled in him a sense of fiscal responsibility not shared by some with less experience. The Senate, once the bulwark of protection against ill-conceived proposals shipped over from the unwieldy Assembly, now no longer promises to be such a buffer.

While Collier has stepped down as finance chairman, he hasn't abdicated as a senator. Like the fox he is called, he will be watching the hen house. It may cause the new leaders some embarassing times but it should be beneficial for the people.

"Dear Santa: Forget the sugar plums. Just bring the bicycle."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY: Letters To The I-J

Concert Review Called Yellow Journalism

I can only assume the vitriolic attack on John Myers, the conductor of the College of Marin band concert Saturday evening, was a ploy to call attention to the music critic. It was successful in that, if nothing else.

Mr. Samson must be a frustrated music major with a minor in journalism. He is obviously inept at the latter and does not have a comprehension of relative performance values of the former.

John Myers is a successful and diligent music educator and conductor in our public school system. To say that Mr. Myers did not know his score is poppycock. Nine years ago I had the pleasure of performing and recording a Holst suite under Mr. Myers' baton. Would you like to hear the record, Mr. Samson? We need more people like John Myers — those who are not afraid to provide the necessary atmosphere and challenging literature for the music students of our public school system.

The levels of performance vary widely in a student group whose ranks change from semester to semester. Myers gets all there is to get from his students performance-wise . . .

Why Don't Rich Princes Help Arab Refugees?

The other day I read in your paper that Arab princes, escorted by bodyguards, etc., were gambling away large sums of money in Las Vegas. It poses a question with me. If these Arabs are so rich that they can afford to gamble away millions, why can'tthey spend this money on making the economic plight of the Arab refugees in Lebanon and elsewhere easier, so as to bring our sorely tried world a step nearer to peace? What would the three kings have done, who came to adore the infant, who became one of the world's great spiritual leaders, whose birth the whole Christian world celebrates at this time?

Retreat For Alcoholics Just A Place To Live

I read the front page Monday about the alcoholics' retreat. I think that all the people that believe it would lower the property value should ask themselves, what is it? A place for people to live, and what do I do down the street? The same thing. The world will never get any better until we accept the fact that we are equal. I'm sure most of you could be more dangerous than someone trying to improve their own life.

Arrest Of Shoplifter Shows Scrooge Lives

I was appalled to read the story in today's (Dec. 13) I.J. regarding a 74-year-old woman cited for a $1.19 theft at the Petaluma Purity Market. So — Scrooge lives. Worse luck for all of us!

I can sympathize with store manager Hansen's possible problems with shoplifting and certainly do not condone it. However, in this last year I have been in many a supermarket line where elderly persons were buying cat tuna for their own consumption, or painfully counting out coins for the most meager assortment of necessary foodstuffs.

At present my family is fortunate enough not to have been hit so severely by the current inflation-recession. Unlike Mr. Hansen I can relate to these problems. I am not in the habit of writing letters to newspapers but this total lack of charity shown by Mr. Hansen in the face of the circumstances angers and disgusts me . . .

Humane Society Offers Night-And-Day Service

I would like to take this opportunity to respond to the two letters to the editor printed in the Independent Journal on Dec. 11 by Sheila and Noreen O'Brien and on Dec. 13 by C. Kelly of San Rafael. There are several important facts regarding the operations of the Marin County Humane Society which your readers should be aware of.

First, the Humane Society provides night emergency services and a night attendent at the Humane Society shelter in Novato, on a seven day per week 24 hour per day basis. Lost animals may be taken to the Humane Society shelter in Novato at any time and can be placed in a Humane Society "night kennel" when the shelter is not open. The night kennels are well constructed and provide excellent cover for all animals. The night attendent will then take the animal into the shelter. Second, licensing records are available from the Humane Society answering service during the evening hours. Those finding a licensed stray can simply call the Humane Society number and the name of the animal owner, telephone number and address will be given to the finder.

The services and programs provided by the Marin County Humane Society, a private non-profit corporation, are only limited by the funds and resources available to the society. Unfortunately, our pleas for assistance and financial support are answered by just a small percentage of Marin County residents. One must realize that the Humane Society has a relatively small but dedicated staff and is currently operating under severe budgetary restraints . . .

JOHN N. GILL
Executive Director-Secretary
Marin County Humane Society
Novato

(The pound services of the Humane Society — pickup and impoundment of strays — are financed from dog licenses, through the county and cities. According to Marin County Auditor Michael Mitchell, books on these operations are kept separate from those of the other programs of the society, which are financed by contributions. — Editor)

CAPITOL QUIPS

By PHIL DESSAUER

In these times, try to stretch out your credit. Keep looking and you'll find a car with a lifetime guarantee and payments to match.

The spirit of '76 is struggling today. Will historians say America gave a Bicentennial and nobody came?

Even when prosperity returns, things won't be the same for the company that used to sell tapes at the White House.

WILL ROGERS SAYS . . .

"The President was right in the midst of a speech predicting 'prosperity' and telling that we had lived down the Wall Street panic and that the Federal Reserve had lowered their rates, which meant more buying, when just as he sat down, the stock market fell right in his lap.

"The whole thing shows that there is none of them knows anything about it. If we could just persuade our prominent men to stop 'predicting.' If they must predict, let 'em predict on the weather, but please quit guessing at what this country is going to do." — May 5, 1930.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

The effect of the people's agreeing that there must be central planning, without agreeing on the ends, will be rather as if a group of people were to commit themselves to take a journey together without agreeing where they want to go: with the result that they may all have to make a journey which most of them do not want at all. — Friedrich A. Hayek.

It is the price of democracy that the possibilities of conscious control are restricted to the field where true agreement exists and that in some fields things must be left to chance. — Friedrich A. Hayek.

Three may keep a secret, if two of them are dead. — Benjamin Franklin.

Trash Brings Conflict (Tomorrow, The World)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There used to be a callous little joke to the effect that people in under-developed nations subsisted by taking in each other's laundry.

Now we are rapidly nearing the point where people in over-developed nations will subsist by taking in each other's trash.

A FEW DAYS AGO it was revealed that Montgomery County, Md., was negotating to have its trash shipped by rail to a dumping ground near Smith Township, Ohio.

Information is hard to come by but a good guess is that all the Maryland dumping grounds are being filled up with trash from Ohio.

The reason information is hard to come by is because many areas are growing sensitive, not to say paranoid, about becoming receptacles for out of state trash.

Smith Township, for instance, has vowed to resist the importation of Maryland trash. Therefore, negotiations between the dumper and the dumpee are kept confidential when possible.

IF CROSSING state lines to dump trash can cause this much tension, one wonders what will happen when international borders become involved — as surely they must.

Earlier this year, in a speech deploring Arab oil prices, President Ford took note of the fact that nations historically have gone to war over natural resources.

It is more likely, however, that the next great world conflict will be a trash war.

Once a nation's own disposal areas overflow, it will be forced to send forth expeditions in search of new dumping grounds across the sea.

FUTURE HISTORIANS may record that the first such venture was the Rogers and Clark Expedition of 1979.

Under a grant from the Environmental Protection Agency, Marty Rogers and Sid Clark, intrepid owners of the Rogers-Clark Trash Co. of Sump City, N.J., set out on a round-the-world voyage and discovered a new dumping ground in the Lesser Sunda Islands.

The United States promptly dispatches an expeditionary force of Marines to show the flag and protect American interests in the area. Will the Soviet Union, with all of Siberia entirely under trash, sit by and see this prize fall to the hated capitalists? Not bloody likely.

Eyeball to eyeball, and knee deep in garbage, the two great powers are headed for a confrontation. Only the most adroit diplomacy can prevent it.

Rapid Transit Fiasco Is Warning To Cities

TORONTO (UPI) — It's a story with a warning for all big cities searching for radical eye-popping solutions to urban transportation problems.

It is the story of how the Ontario government was going to thrust Toronto, Canada's second largest city after Montreal, into the 21st century with the world's most advanced rapid transit system — trains whooshing along on a ribbon of air, without noise, without drivers.

Davis hailed the system as "one of the most exciting advances" in the history of transportation and indicated it would form the cornerstone of a blueprint to beat a growing commuter crisis.

The cost: about $1.3 billion, including smaller systems for Ottawa, Canada's national capital, and another Ontario city.

Davis, an avowed opponent of auto expressways, triumphantly was named transit man of the year by the American Transit Association. Everything looked rosy.

Suddenly, shatteringly, the entire project derailed.

As political opponents jeered, Transportation Minister John Rhodes announced cancellation of a $25 million test program in Toronto after the West German government and a Munich engineering firm, Krauss Maffei, abruptly abandoned development plans.

The plan centered on manufacture of "magnetic levitation" trains carrying 20,000 commuters an hour on a cushion of air above a network of elevated guideways. Trains and stations would be fully automated, the trains controlled by a central computer and the stations monitored by closed-circuit television cameras.

The idea was not new. Sixty years ago Winston Churchill saw a demonstration of a model system and reportedly marveled: "It's the most wonderful thing I have ever seen."

In 1924, a vehicle powered with a levitation device built in Jersey City, N.J., reached a speed of nine miles an hour. But interest waned until experiments began again during World War II.

Then, in 1972, the Ontario government leaped into the act, announcing the visionary plans for the system at a jazzy public relations-style presentation at the Ontario Science Center. But from the beginning, observers were skeptical and objections grew steadily.

Even before the West Germans dropped the project, Ontario authorities were reportedly losing patience with their Munich partners because an experimental vehicle could not climb a hill or go around a corner on a test track without malfunctioning.

Professor Stuart Robinson of the University of Toronto, a specialist on magnetic levitation and a former memeber of a government advisory committee, said: "I always felt it was a highly suspect system in terms of operating costs.

"It would be very expensive in terms of electrical energy, using anywhere from four to 10 times the amount of energy used by a subway, streetcar or other rail vehicle."

Robertson cited two questions as paramount: At what cost can a workable system be developed, if at all? And would it be economical enough to operate anywhere?

"If you took long enough and spent enough money, it would go around a track somehow," Robertson said. "But what would that alone prove?"

Meanwhile, Transportation Minister Rhodes says many North American cities need something like it to meet their transit problems. For the moment, however, they can look to no lead from Ontario.

Government officials are critically examining all aspects of the system to see whether there is anything to be salvaged. Most observers believe there isn't.

Already the government has been forced to scrap a 2.5-mile pilot system planned to dazzle and delight visitors to the Canadian National Exhibition, the nation's largest fair, in 1975.

Balky Truck Engine Foils Hijack

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Three men who allegedly were trying to hijack a cigarette distribution truck were foiled yesterday by a balky engine.

The same balky engine also thwarted another hijack attempt last month, police said.

Officers said the three men approached driver Martin Sickman, 35, as he finished making a delivery at a liquor store and forced him into the back seat of a car where two of them held him.

The third man tried unsuccessfully to start the truck, which was loaded with $20,000 in cigarettes, candy and other items.

Taken into custody at the scene were Ronald Lee Rose, 20, and Emmett Elijah Turner, also 20. The third suspect, Norl Edward Lydia, 30, was arrested three blocks away. Officers said he was carrying a 22-caliber revolver.

In the earlier incident, Sickman was approached by another group of men on Nov. 27 and kidnaped. He was later released unharmed.

French Give Nod To Channel Tunnel Plan

PARIS (UPI) — The French National Assembly has granted the government authority to ratify a treaty with Britain on building a railway tunnel under the English Channel.

The long-envisaged tunnel was set for completion by 1980 with the ratification deadline tentatively scheduled for Jan. 1, 1975.

Candidate Eyes School Conversion

The major task facing the Kentfield School District is the smooth conversion to a middle school, according to Dr. Royce J. Truex, incumbent trustee.

Truex, 45, has filed papers for a second four-year term on the board, and will appear on the March 4 ballot.

The district plans to convert Adaline E. Kent School into a middle school for grades six, seven and eight, meaning some younger students living near there will be bussed to Anthony C. Bacich and Greenbrae schools.

"The transfer of pupils is potentially disruptive to the district," Truex said, "so it must be handled smoothly, but I'm not expecting any huge problems."

Truex feels the district is well-run and has good administrators and teachers, and he is "happy with the board's general direction." The district should "continue the direction things are going now," he said.

School financing, a bad problem in some other districts, is not severe enough in Kentfield to crimp programs for 1975-76, Truex said. "There is no magic solution, though," he said. "Sooner or later, we'll need either a tax override or a change in program, and I absolutely prefer the override. The Kentfield community has shown real support for the district, and when the times comes, we'll be able to pass the override."

Asked to state a general philosophy of education, he said, "Everything in the school district is second to what occurs between the teacher and pupil. We need to continue to educate teachers, expose them ot new techniques, add to their skills, even though we have an outstanding staff now."

A native Indianan, Truex holds bachelor's and medical degrees from Indiana University. He works as a pediatrician at the Ross Valley Medical Clinic, and is active in many medical societies and school organizations.

He and his wife Sandra live at 10 Tamal Vista Lane, Kentfield. They have three children — Jill, 11, Jay, 9, and Libby, 4.

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 18, the 352nd day of 1974 with 13 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

American composer Edward MacDowell was born Dec. 18, 1861. This is American entertainer Dick Van Dyke's 49th birthday.

On this day in history:

In 1865, the 13th Amendment to the Constitution abolished slavery in the United States.

In 1915, President Woodrow Wilson, a widower for about one year, was married to Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt, a widow.

In 1965, a U.S. spaceship returned to earth after spending 14 days in orbit.

In 1972, the United States resumed heavy bombing and mining operations against North Vietnam after the Communists refused to agree to end the war.

A thought for the day: American novelist Gertrude Franklin Atherton said, "No matter how hard a man may labor, some woman is always in the background of his mind. She is the one reward of virtue."

Try To Make Allowances For Those Bad Breaks You'll Get

When you're planning the play of a hand, try to make allowance for reasonably bad breaks. Don't expect the worst, but don't rely on good breaks unless there is no other way to make the hand.

Opening lead — ♠ 10

WEST OPENS

West opens the ten of spades, and your problem is to make the slam against moderately bad breaks in all suits. Neither opponent has a singleton, but no suit breaks really well.

If you try to ruff two hearts in dummy, East will over-ruff. If you try to develop the clubs by ruffing once in your own hand, West will develop a trump trick.

Win the first trick in dummy with the queen of spades, and then throw a bone to the enemy. Lead a low club from dummy and play the low club from your hand!

Assume the opponents return a trump, as good a defense as any. You win in your hand, cash the ace of hearts, ruff a heart in dummy, and get back to your hand with the ace of clubs. Now you draw the last two trumps, and dummy has the rest with the top diamonds and the remaining clubs.

DAILY QUESTION

You hold:
♠ - 10 9 8 7
♥ - K Q 10 9 7
♦ - 9 5
♣ - J 9

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

Rights Gavel To Ruth Lederman

Ruth Lederman has been elected chairman of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, succeeding Ernest J. Gray who served two years in the post.

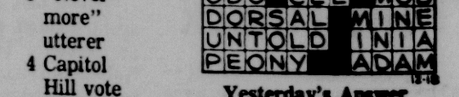

She was elected unanimously except for an abstention by Commissioner Robert Lee Grant.

INVITATION FOR PROPOSAL

Sealed bids will be received at the office of Marin Municipal Water District, 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, California 94925, until 10:00 A.M., Tuesday, January 7, 1975, at which time they will be opened and read in the Board of Directors room by the Secretary or her designated representative for the furnishing and erection of a 1.5 M.G. welded steel water tank at the District's Canon Village site, Fairfax, California.

The general prevailing rate of wages in the locality in which work is to be performed has been ascertained by the District and published under the provisions of Section 1773 of the California Labor Code.

Copies of the prevailing wage rates are on file in the office of the Secretary of the District at 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, and in the office of the Marin County Clerk, and are available upon request from the Secretary at the above address and also from the Marin County Department of Public Works, Civic Center, Room 304, San Rafael, California.

Sundays and holidays shall not be less than two (2) times the above rates. The holidays upon which such rates shall be paid shall be all holidays recognized in the collective bargaining agreement applicable to the particular craft, classification or type of workman employed on the project.

It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the contract is awarded and upon any subcontractor under him to pay not less than the said specified rates to all laborers, workmen and mechanics employed by them in the execution of the contract.

Proposals will be considered for the complete job only. The proposal must be submitted on the form provided and must be accompanied by a Certified Check, Cash, Post Office Money Order or Bid Bond as a guarantee that the bidder will, if successful, promptly execute a satisfactory contract and furnish bonds as required by these specifications. The Certified Check, Cash, Post Office Money Order or Bid Bond shall be not less than ten (10) percent of the total amount of the bid and shall be made payable to the Treasurer of the Marin Municipal Water District.

Proposals must be submitted in a sealed envelope addressed to the attention of Mrs. Norma L. Smith, Secretary, with the words "Proposal for Furnishing and Erecting the Canon Village Tank" clearly marked on the outside of the envelope.

Pickets Relaxing Coal Mines Grip

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Striking mine construction workers lifted picket lines in many parts of western Pennsylvania yesterday, permitting coal miners to go back to work. But the movement was apparently confined to western Pennsylvania.

A bargaining session between the United Mine Workers Union and the Association of Bituminous Contractors, was held in Washington last night and talks were called again today.

Picket lines went down in western Pennsylvania after the talks in Washington got under way.

U.S. Steel Corp. reported four of six mines back in production last night in Greene County, south of Pittsburgh. And Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. said three of its mines were producing again.

Still, however, most major mines remained closed yesterday by pickets in West Virginia and central Pennsylvania. Scores of mines also were closed in Virginia and Illinois, and virtually all the 7,000 coal miners in Alabama refused to cross the construction workers' picket lines.

Both UMW groups ignored new orders issued by federal and state courts this week, directing the construction workers to cease picketing and the miners to return to work.

$1 Million Plus Awarded In Suit Over The Pill

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Mrs. Michelle Ahearn, 35, and her husband, Dennis, have been awarded more than $1 million damages in a suit over birth control pills which she said made her permanently blind.

The defendants were Ortho Pharmaceutical Co., manufacturer of Ortho-Novum, the Johnson & Johnson drug company, and Lucky Stores, owner of the pharmacy where the drug was purchased on a prescription.

A spokesman for Johnson & Johnson said after the trial Monday that the decision would be appealed

Missile Crisis Reenacted Tonight

By BOB THOMAS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Most Americans remember those 13 days in 1962 when the United States and Russia stared eyeball to eyeball on the edge of nuclear war. Now television viewers will be able to see how it happened.

Tonight ABC is presenting one of the most ambitious dramas in TV history, a three-hour enactment of the Cuban crisis, "The Missiles of October." The show was taped at ABC's Hollywood studios last summer during another historical event.

"It was eerie," says executive producer Irv Wilson. "On the day that we taped President Kennedy's speeches at the end of the show, President Nixon resigned. The camera crew insisted on stopping work to watch the news telecasts. We asked ABC for a rebate for the time lost. Didn't get it."

Wilson believes that television is ideally suited for a project like "The Missiles of October," more so than the stage or even film. He calls the technique "theater of fact," dramatizing real-life events with actual figures.

"Television is the best medium for this, because you can shoot it fast, working with a one-on-one situation to really get inside the heads of these buys," said the producer.

"These guys" are the hierarchies of the United States and the USSR. Among them: John F. Kennedy, played by Broadway actor William Devane, Robert Kennedy (Martin Sheen), Nikita Khrushchev (Howard DaSilva), Adlai Stevenson (Ralph Bellamy), Dean Rusk (Larry Gates), Andrei Gromyko (Nehemiah Persoff), Dean Acheson (John Dehner). Fifty speaking roles in all, a cast of more than 100.

"The Missiles of October" originated with Wilson's admiration of "Pueblo," the TV dramatization of the American ship captured by the North Koreans. The producer asked Stanley R. Greenberg, who had written "Pueblo" as well as the film "Soylent Green," to write an original work based on the Cuban missile crisis. Greenberg sparked to the idea and spent three months combing books, articles and official documents for the actual happenings.

"Everything was based on historical fact," said Wilson. "Because of that, we didn't have to worry about getting clearances for living persons who would be depicted. The ABC legal department backed us up on that.

"Actually, most of the characters come out quite well. It was quite obvious that both countries did not want a confrontation, and both the Kennedys and Khrushchev acted responsibly. Sen. William J. Fulbright might not be too happy with how he is portrayed; in contrast to his dovish attitude toward the Vietnam War, he advocated invading and bombing Cuba immediately."

"Also Generals Curtis Lemay and Maxwell Taylor were very hawkish, but for their own reasons they were justified. America and Russia were very competitive in those Cold War days, and the spectre of having missile sites 90 miles from the Florida coast was frightening."

Wilson faced a major problem in the casting of John Kennedy. ABC wanted a star, and the producer tried to reach Jack Nicholson but couldn't get past his agent. Wilson was able to persuade the network to accept the relatively unknown Devane, who is starring on the stage here in "One Flew over the Cuckoo's Nest." The rest of the cast are solid character actors, not necessarily lookalikes for the real-life figures.

Wilson praised ABC's support of the project, even to the extent of rejecting a million-dollar sponsorship rather than alter the play. The producer said that a Japanese auto firm was willing to half-sponsor the show, provided references to Pearl Harbor were eliminated. No sale.

TONIGHT'S TELEVISION

Kennedy Base Gets New Boss

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Veteran Navy flier Lee Scherer will take over as director of the Jotn F. Kennedy Space Center in mid-January.

The 55-year-old retired Navy captain will succeed Dr. Kurt Debus, who retired last October after holding the post for 14 years, according to space agency officials in Washington.

Arab Pounds A Hard Line

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An Arab representative said yesterday if the United States wants to improve its economy it had better get tough with Israel because "we have the oil."

"The United States needs the Arab world more than (it needs) Israel for economic and commercial reasons — that is, oil," said Dr. Hussain Al-Bahrna.

Otherwise, the United State's "inflammatory economic situation and unemployment problems" will get worse, Al-Bahrna told a news conference.

Christmas Wears A Holiday Face At Town And Country

A trip around the world is not always possible, but a visit to Strawberry Town & Country Village is perhaps the next best thing because the holiday seasonal happenings there include everything from Hawaii to the North Pole, from Red-Carpet elegance to Currier and Ives nostalgia.

Since this is not the best season for visiting Santa at the North Pole, the Jolly Ole Elf has planned a daily visit to the Village Sweet Shoppe (from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m.), which has been transformed into a sparkling fairyland of miniature hand-crafted gifts, unusual candies, original decorations and delightful goodies for young and old.

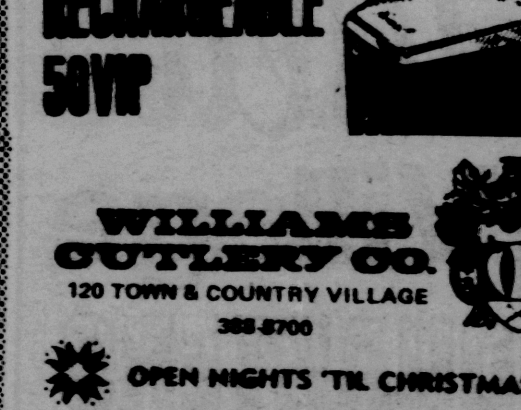

Should that special desire include visions of glimmering carats spectacularly adorning ones finger, then registering for the free Holiday Drawing at D'or Gemme in Strawberry Village should be a certain stop on ones itinerary. First prize in the drawing will be a $1,000 one carat diamond and sapphire ring; second prize is a $250 Mikimoto and Jade cultured pearl strand; third prize is a $150 Ladies Heirloom Wrist Watch.

A luxuriant Red-Carpet evening is on the agenda for some yet unknown family — complete with five orchestra seat tickets to the seasonal favorite, the 30th anniversary presentation of the San Francisco Ballet's Nutcracker, a gourmet dinner at the best table in the Veranda Room atop San Francisco's Westbury Hotel, and a personally chauffered limousine. To win this red-carpet evening of elegance, one should register at Town & Country Television and Stereo in the Strawberry Village, off U.S. 101 at the Tiburon-Belvedere Exit.

December 19 will be a gala day in the Strawberry Village, with a Hawaii Happening for those who crave the sunny shores of the Pacific, and a nostalgic evening of Christmas caroling for those who yearn for the good old days. KSFO celebrities and Hawaiian entertainers will preview the World's Greatest Party — a trip for 100 people to Hawaii accompanied by KSFO personalities. One can join in the dancing, singing, and festivities, and get a lucky KSFO bumper sticker which enables the person to be eligible to win the Hawaii trip.

A nostalgic evening of Christmas caroling will follow the day of Hawaii activities. The Strawberry Recreation Center and Strawberry Village will cosponsor the evening of singing; song-leader will be Eileen Bach-y-Rita from Mill Valley, a former teacher and professional entertainer, and music will be provided by the Terra Linda High School Caroling Band. Voices — in tune or out — should gather at the Hick'ry Pit by 6:30 p.m. on Dec. 19.

A Gift Of Sound Is Long Lasting

The gift of sound is one that lasts long after the final dried tree needles have been swept from the rug. However, many potential stereo system purchasers become frustrated by the technicality of terms such as "wattage," "dolby," "frequency," etc., and the reams of printed facts and figures about the intricacies of a quality system.

To simplify matters, Peter Straube, owner of Town & Country Village T.V. & Stereo in Strawberry Town & Country Village, suggests four major points to be considered when selecting the system suitable for one's individual music tastes.

First, consider the speakers — their size and the sound-type desired. Some people find large speakers difficult to blend into the interior design of the home, so this is an important consideration in the speaker selection. Also, there is a wide range of sound types available in speakers. "For example," says Peter, "the JBL is a colored sound, pleasing and enhancing to the mid-range.

The receiver-amplifier is next in priority and is usually chosen by the amount of its wattage. The wattage must be enough to adequately cover the speakers without distortion, but not so great as to "blow out" the speakers.

According to Straube, the JBL is a medium, 30-40 watt amplifier; in contrast to the AR takes more power — such as a 50 watt speaker unit.

The third importance is the turntable. One must select between manual or automatic — with some turntables providing both. Good quality is very important, with the tracking (the contact between needle and record) being as light as possible to preserve the life of the record. Straube says that a medium range price is $100 to $150.

The final consideration is the cassette deck, which is not always considered a part of the basic system, but an essential component to the majority of music lovers. The dolby feature on a cassette deck is essential if one wants to reduce high-frequency noise and distortion when taping and playing back.

Straube also emphasizes that a good system is in the "ears of the beholder" — if it sounds good to the listener then it doesn't matter if it is a $200 or $2,000 system.

Holiday Time Entertaining Brewing Up

Serving a new coffee is a good way to make holiday entertaining easy. It is the wise hostess who learns how to brew a perfect cup of coffee. The basics of keeping the coffeepot clean and using exact measurements and water temperatures are important whether a perk, drip or vacuum coffee maker is used.

Although coffee is consumed in greater quantity in the United States than any other country in the world, the amounts that each individual drinks should dictate the amount of coffee that is purchased at one time. The sooner the coffee i used after it is ground (or a vacuum-packed can of ground coffee is opened), the better the cup of coffee. Griding coffee beans shortly before use not only produces fresher tasting coffee, but allows the storage of the coffee beans for a longer time with little loss of strength and aroma.

During the holidays, it might be fun to serve some new types of coffees or a recipe using coffee as an ingredient. Viennese Kona is an interesting mild coffee and Aram's Blend produces a heartier brew. These are among the bins of coffee beans at the Caravansary in the Strawberry Town & Country Village,

Stereo music for the holidays . . . here are two great component system buys!

you save $84.85

This is a repeat of a sellout we had earlier this month. The Sansui model 210 AM/FM stereo receiver is one of the most rugged units ever built, incorporating all the latest solid-state advances. With its walnut case it's a great buy at $179.95. The BSR 260ax automatic turntable with Shure magnetic cartridge is a perfect match. With base and dust cover it's priced at $54.95. Two maximus full range speakers in handsome walnut veneer cabinets round out this system. Their rich sound is a steal at $44.95 each . . . Hear this holiday priced system today at Town & Country TV and Stereo.

SONY

you save $135.95

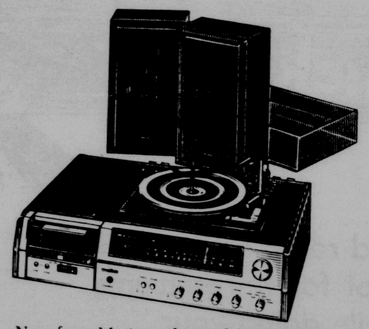

The Sony model STR-6046A is one of the star performers in the world of Sony sound. At the modest price of $279.95, this AM/FM stereo receiver delivers enough power to drive speakers to concert hall levels. The BSR automatic turntable model 510 is one of the most popular turntables made. It sells for $106.00 complete with base, dust cover, and cartridge. Completing this system are the hard-to-beat Maximus full-range speakers. At $44.95 each they have always been one of Town & Country TV and Stereo's best buys.

Compact stereo systems . . . you bet!

$199.95

New from Meriton, the model HF-1905 is not only a AM/FM stereo system with a built-in turntable . . . but it features a front loading cassette tape recorder. Make your own recordings "off-the-air", or live through stereo micorphones. You've got to hear this exciting new compact from Meriton . . .

$329.95

$7.95

$24.95

$109.95

$126.95

Stars Give Tips On Feeling Good

NEW YORK (AP) — Take it from comedian Bill Cosby and singer Helen Reddy: do more than just laugh when your wife comes up with sudden cravings for exotic foods.

Cosby and Miss Reddy are among the stars who appear on "Feeling Good," an experimental prime time show on the Public Broadcasting Service.

The 26 hour-long programs use entertainment to inform adults on 11 major health topics and encourage them to take better care of themselves and their families. "Feeling Good" is produced by nonprofit CTW, creators of "Sesame Street" and "The Electric Company."

A Variety Of Scissors, Shears Will Fit Most Christmas Needs

Scissors and shears are ideal stocking stuffers or small gifts for anyone. Package decorations could be cleverly designed using the scissors and shears — a handy item at package opening time.

The variety of scissors and shears will fit anyone's needs. For the seamstress in the family, there are dressmaker shears in long and short lengths, as well as specialty shears, such as quick clip, scalloping, pinking, buttonhole and polyester. There are embroidery scissors, including several kinds of small folding scissors for purse or pocket, which are ideal for the needlepoint enthusiast.

Children who are learning to use scissors will find the child's safety scissors easy to use.

Tools of the trade for professionals include electricians, dressmakers, paper, leather or belt, tailor's, bandage and flower shears and scissors.

The chef in the family will enjoy kitchen shears, egg shears, or lobster shears.

Norm Greenbrook of Williams Cutlery in Strawberry Town & Country Village says that most of the better scissors and shears are made in the United States and Germany. When buying these tools, Greenbrook advises forged, not cast, chrome plated carbon steel with screws, not rivets. Rivets cannot be removed for sharpening. It is best to separate the blades and sharpen the entire inside edge of the blade and reset them when replacing the screw. Simply resharpening the edges is insufficient.

Capturing The Excitement Of A Christmas Morning

By MARIA FAER

Baby's first Christmas — the family reunion 'neath the tree — the children's first glimpse of the tree Christmas morning and the sparkle in their eyes that glows in the early dawn light — Mom's wonderment when she opens the special gift from Dad and the look on her face that says "How did you know?" — all very special moments that become treasured memories when captured for posterity in a photo.

But — the flash fizzles; there is not enough flim; the batteries are corroded and dead beyond recognition — and the treasured smile or joyful sparkle is lost.

To prevent such a disappointment on Christmas morning, Sally Coye, owner of The Film Company in Strawberry Town & Country Village, says, "Don't wait until Christmas morning to take a seldom used camera down off the shelf! Christmas day is a terrible time to discover that you are out of film, the batteries are weak, or that some mechanical apparatus is not functioning properly."

In addition to their quality selection of camera supplies, The Film Company specializes in providing photographic services and assistance, with a trained photographer on hand to help with questions concerning camera techniques.

For example, Tom Borello, manager and photographer, suggests that if the built-in light meter is sluggish or non-responsive when aimed at a bright light, then the battery undoubtedly needs changing. He also mentions that since the life of a cadmium sulfide cell is about a year, some photographers put a stick labelled with the better installation date near the meter dial.

Swimmer Learns By Mail Order

EAST GRAND FORKS, Minn. (AP) — Diana Dunleavy, 14, may be this country's first mail order swimmer. Since there is no swim team or indoor pool in this community of 7,000, Diana receives a workout schedule weekly from Arnie Keck, a swimming coach in Eugene, Ore.

She practices at the University of North Dakota pool and was good enough to qualify last August for the National AAU Long Course Championships in Concord, Calif. She placed 16th in the 200 meter freestyle, competing against some 80 swimmers.

Acoustical Sound For Music Lovers

A new dimension in acoustical pleasure is now exciting music lovers at Town & Country Television & Stereo in Strawberry Town & Country Village.

A cursory glance at the large 10 foot x 4 foot Tech Creative Center console — equipped with two full tape decks and audio mixing panel which will combine up to six different signals — gives one only a hint of the infinite possibilities available to people who want to get involved in creative music.

Peter Straube, owner of Town & Country Television & Stereo says that the Creative Tech Center is for ". . . the type of person who wants to create his own sound — to get excited about the possibilities available.

Gift Certificate Might Be Right For Cameraperson

If so, then books on photography and darkroom techniques make excellent gifts. Tom Gorello, manager of The Film Company in Strawberry Town & Country Village says, "Chances are that you know the type of camera that they use, but are in the dark on their needs to complete their system. A photography library might be the unique gift to fill that requirement."

A new camera bag or tripod is something that would also enhance the photographer's system — or any other item that would enable him or her to refine their photographic techniques.

It is important to remember that to the photographic connoisseur, the final results are crucial not only to the photographer but also to the subject.

Sally Coye, owner of the Film Company, suggests a gift certificate as an easy way of pleasing any cameraperson on your list. And, for Santa's Helper, rolls of film make excellent stocking stuffers.

A Diamond Is Investment, Too

The most lasting gem in the world, the symbol of purity, the diamond has long been selected for beautiful jewelry and now has the added benefit of being a great investment. Gold is receiving the same popularity as an investment. Therefore, the two become a valuable combination "by the yard."

Fondue Offers Light, Easy Meal

The classic Swiss Gruyere or Danish Fontina melts into a smooth fondue. For a sharper taste, a Canadian Black Diamond Cheddar is delicious. The tossed salad can be livened up with sesame croutons, mushrooms and other delicacies from the cocktail section of Hickory Farms, where an assortment of fruitcakes, petits fours and other small cakes provide a good choice of desserts.

An ideal gift for them to wrap is a gift pack from Hickory Farms. The arrangements of cheeses and other snacks are beautifully arranged on cutting boards or warming trays or in sturdy boxes for mailing. For those who have enough packages to wrap and mail, these gift packs can be mailed by the store in handsome holiday packages.

Inflation Cutting Into Education

DENVER (UPI) — Inflation is cutting deeply into education programs across the country, a nationwide survey of state school officials has confirmed. This points to the likelihood of an extended period of curtailed services.
